Marin Votes Republican In Peak Turnout

Fluoridation Turned Down; Hospital Bond Issue Fails

Marin County gave the majority of its votes to Republican candidates yesterday as 92.425 per cent of its registered voters—nearly a new national record—went to the polls.

The record voter turnout rejected fluoridation of Marin Municipal Water District water supplies and failed to give the necessary two-thirds majority to the proposed county hospital bond issue.

Marin was one of 26 counties in California placed in the Nixon-for-President column in tabulations today. But Marin went all the way. Every Republican candidate carried the county.

Biggest winner—far ahead of Nixon and leading also William T. Bagley, landslide winner of the Marin-Sonoma seat in the State Assembly, was State Sen. John F. McCarthy. He polled 45,021 votes to 15,138 for Democrat Charles M. Geller—winning almost three-to-one.

COUNTY DISTRICT

Marin County comprises the state senatorial district—and will continue to do so, since California voters turned down a plan for reapportionment of the State Senate.

While rolling up Republican majorities, Marinites voted 31,459 to 25,058 in favor of the $2,250,000 county hospital bond issue. But this is not enough to authorize the issue.

The county board of supervisors served notice in August that if the bond issue again failed—as it did more narrowly in June—they would build the hospital anyway, upping taxes to construct it on a pay-as-you-go basis. However, a new lineup on the board of supervisors in January will have a voice on that.

ROUNDLY DUMPED

Fluoridation, which lost by only 84 votes in the June primary, was roundly dumped yesterday. The vote was 29,153 "no" to 21,879 "yes."

Here's the way the vote went for candidates in Marin, as tabulated by County Clerk George S. Jones's staff, with 4,132 absentee ballots still to be counted:

For Congress: Fred G. Dupuis 33,108, Clem Miller 27,596. (Republican Dupuis, however, failed to carry any of the other six counties in the First Congressional District.)

For Assembly, Seventh Dis-

Miller, Bagley, McCarthy Win In Their Races

It'll be a Democrat in Washington and two Republicans in Sacramento to represent Marin next year.

Democrat Clement W. Miller yesterday was re-elected to Congress from the First District. Nearly complete vote totals from the seven counties gave Miller 110,356 to 101,696 for Republican Fred G. Dupuis.

State Sen. John F. McCarthy, Republican, won re-election by 45,021 votes to 15,138 for Democrat Charles M. Geller.

Republican William T. Bagley was elected to the State Assembly, garnered 71,111 votes in Marin and Sonoma Counties to 48,492 for Democrat Everett A. Matzen.

Hawaii Tops Marin For Record Vote

Marin County set a new record in vote turnout yesterday; but the newest state, Hawaii, beat out Marin's bid for the highest vote percentage in the nation.

With total registration at 71,905 voters in the county, 62,326 went to the polls yesterday and 4,132 votes were cast by absentee ballot, reported County Clerk George S. Jones.

This represented balloting by 92.425 per cent of eligible voters.

In Hawaii, 93.1 of registered electors voted, reported United Press International reported. On the island of Maui, the percentage was 94.1.

The highest previous participation in Marin was in 1952, when President Eisenhower was running for his first term.

KENNEDY CINCHES PRESIDENCY IN ONE OF CLOSEST CONTESTS

Urges Americans To Close Ranks

WASHINGTON (UPI)—John F. Kennedy won one of the closest presidential elections in U. S. history today and promptly set in motion machinery for an orderly change of administration.

Shortly after Nixon fully conceded defeat in the cliff-hanging presidential election, the 43-year-old victor announced plans for "liaison" with the Eisenhower administration preparatory to taking over the reigns of government Jan. 20.

At Hyannis Port, Mass., where he waited out the election returns, Kennedy accepted congratulations from Nixon and President Eisenhower. He then called on all Americans to close ranks in a supreme effort to meet the "difficult and challenging years" ahead.

Kennedy's brief victory statement was a capsule summary of his "new frontier" campaign in which he appealed to the people to join him in a crusade for a better and stronger America with greater prestige throughout the world.

The reserved but forceful Massachusetts senator became the youngest man and first Catholic to win the White House. He took it in a suspense-packed finish which saw a record number of Americans line up at the polls.

Nixon, still smiling in defeat, wired Kennedy congratulations from Los Angeles and arranged to fly back to Washington to assist in the changeover in government.

Latest UPI returns gave Kennedy 23 states with 337 electoral votes — 68 more than he needed. In Mississippi, which has 8 electoral votes, a group of unpledged electors was declared the winner.

Nixon won 24 states with 185 electoral votes and was leading in two—Alaska and New Mexico—with a total of seven electoral votes. His indicated final tally was 192.

At that point, Kennedy had 31,988,100 popular votes and Nixon 31,694,077. The Democrat's share was only 50.28 per cent of the two-party total for a percentage margin of 0.46—the smallest since Democrat Grover Cleveland beat James G. Blaine by less than 0.3 per cent in 1884.

Vice President Nixon, conceding defeat, assured Kennedy that "you have the united support of all Americans as you lead this nation in the cause of peace and freedom during the next four years."

Eisenhower also sent Kennedy a brief telegram extending "my congratulations to you for the victory you just won at the polls." He included a pledge to submit soon his proposals for a smooth transition of the government from Republicans to Democrats.

However, a White House visitor said earlier that the chief executive was "not happy about the results . . . but you could not expect him to be." The appraisal was given by C. Burke Elbrick, U. S. envoy to Portugal.

Kennedy's victory was a partial rebuff for the president. Eisenhower embarked on a hectic last-minute campaign on behalf of Nixon, drawing huge crowds in New York, Pennsylvania and Ohio. But of the three, Nixon took only Ohio.

Kennedy Puts U.S. Interests, Freedom First

HYANNIS PORT, Mass. (AP)—President-elect Kennedy, alternately smiling and serious, formally acknowledged his election victory today and promised to devote himself to "the long range interests of the United States and the cause of freedom around the world."

His wife, Jacqueline, stood beside him on the platform as he spoke.

FAMILY THERE

His mother and father, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph P. Kennedy, and his three brothers and three sisters, also were on the platform, standing behind the president-elect.

Kennedy entered the Massachusetts National Guard Armory, press headquarters at Hyannis Port, at 1:45 p.m.

SMILES SLIGHTLY

But then a solemn, serious expression came over his face as he stepped up to the microphone and began to speak. He first read Nixon's telegram, and another from President Eisenhower, and then his own reply to Eisenhower.

In it, he messaged the President, "I am grateful for your wire and look forward to working with you."

Kennedy Wins Close Battle In California

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — California's presidential balloting—an anti-climax with Sen. John F. Kennedy already the national winner—turned today into one of the state's closest battles in years.

Kennedy's once appreciable margin over Vice President Richard M. Nixon—as high as 101,000—dwindled steadily to a low of 22,000, then began to pick up again as complete returns filtered in from vote-clogged Los Angeles.

Results from 23,861 of the 30,682 precincts in the state gave Nixon: 2,355,489, Kennedy 2,377,204.

The trend was never like the Eisenhower years when the Republican ticket climbed by the hour to margins well past 600,000 in 1952 and 1956. It was more like 1948 when Harry S. Truman squeaked by in California with a scant 17,800.

California was the last of the big states to decide its 1960 choice. A huge vote slowed the count and left the final margin in doubt.

Los Angeles, as expected, proved the difference between victory and his first defeat in the state for Nixon.

Los Angeles, with its heavy Democratic registration and its big bloc of racial minorities, teamed with San Francisco, Oakland and Sacramento, particularly, to overcome Kennedy losses elsewhere.

HOW MARIN VOTED

Here is the way Marin voted yesterday, with totals for the 306 precincts (a 307th at Hamilton Air Force Base is entirely of absentee ballots) as tabulated by County Clerk George S. Jones's staff. Still to be counted are 4,132 absentee ballots. Absentees could change the result only on the Fairfax school tax proposal, which apparently was defeated.

Water Bonds Trail; Senate Plan Beaten

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—California voters overwhelmingly rejected the controversial Senate reapportionment measure. The 1.75-billion-dollar water bond issue stood at the brink of defeat as statewide returns mounted.

The reapportionment plan, Proposition 15, with reports from 21,660 of the state's 30,682 precincts was Yes 1,001,130, No 2,562,709.

Democrats Stack Up Solid Majorities In Senate, House

WASHINGTON (AP) — Solid Democratic majorities will control the Senate and the House when the 87th Congress convenes Jan. 3.

The Democrats quickly nailed down control of the Senate in yesterday's election. And by 3 o'clock this morning, they had captured more than half the 437 House seats.

Nonetheless, with returns still incomplete, it appeared the Republicans had dented the top-heavy margins the Democrats held in the out-going 86th Congress. In the Senate the old lineup was 66-34 and in the House 283-154.

With all of the Senate races settled except for a tight battle in Montana, the Republicans had picked up one seat in Delaware and another in Wyoming.

Sen. Karl Mundt, veteran South Dakota Republican, squeaked to victory over Rep. George McGovern, a Democrat who decided to give up his House seat to make the race for the Senate.

In Montana, Democratic Rep. Lee Metcalf and Republican former Rep. Orvin B. Fjare were in a nip-and-tuck contest for the Senate seat being vacated by Sen. James E. Murray, Democrat.

A long familiar figure in the House, former Republican Speaker Joseph W. Martin of Massachusetts, appeared in danger of being unseated. He was trailing Democrat Edward F. Doolan.

Most of the overturns in the House were at the expense of freshman Democrats swept into office in the 1959 Democratic landslide from normally Republican areas.

Republican gains were chalked up in Connecticut, Vermont, Indiana, Maryland, Colorado, Ohio, Pennsylvania and Maine. The GOP lost seats in New York, New Jersey and Idaho.

In New York, the Democrats picked up three House seats and for the first time in 10 years won control of the state's 43-member delegation.

With 34 of the 100 Senate seats at stake in the election, Democrats had won 20 and Republicans 12 by the early morning hours. Only one incumbent, Sen. J. Allen Frear Jr. (D-Del.), had been toppled.

Frear's bid for a third term was turned back by Republican Gov. J. Caleb Boggs even as Kennedy captured Delaware's three electoral votes and the Democrats won the governorship.

The Republicans picked up a second Senate seat with the election of Rep. Keith Thomson to replace veteran Democratic Sen. Joseph C. O'Mahoney, retiring at the age of 76. Thomson's Democratic opponent was Raymond B. Whitaker.

The election of Maurine B. Neuberger, an Oregon Democrat, will give the Senate two women members. Sen. Margaret Chase Smith, a Republican, won overwhelming re-election in Maine.

Mrs. Smith triumphed over Lucia M. Cormier in the only all-female race for the Senate.

The only Republican senator who did not seek re-election was Thomas Martin of Iowa. Republicans held on to his seat by electing State Sen. Jack Miller over Democratic Gov. Herschel Loveless.

In Rhode Island, Claiborne Pell, 41-year-old Democrat and Newport socialite, was elected to succeed Sen. Theodore Francis Green, retiring at the age of 83. Green is the oldest man ever to serve in the Senate.

Two Republican senators who won outstanding re-election victories were Leverett Saltonstall of Massachusetts and Clifford P. Case of New Jersey. Both overcame Democratic tides that gave their states' electoral votes to Kennedy.

Among the Democratic senators who won re-election were Hubert H. Humphrey of Minnesota, John Sparkman of Alabama, Richard B. Russell of Georgia, John L. McClellan of Arkansas, Paul H. Douglas of Illinois, Allen J. Ellender of Louisiana, James O. Eastland of Mississippi, Patrick V. McNamara of Michigan, Clinton P. Anderson of New Mexico, Estes Kefauver of Tennessee, Robert S. Kerr of Oklahoma, A. Willis Robertson of Virginia, B. Everett Jordan of North Carolina, Jennings Randolph of West Virginia and E. L. Bartlett of Alaska.

In Missouri, Edward V. Long, a Democrat appointed to the Senate this fall after the death of Sen. Thomas C. Hennings Jr., won over his Republican opponent, Lon Hocker.

Republican senators who won re-election included Gordon Allott of Colorado, Henry C. Dworshak of Idaho, Andrew F. Schoeppel of Kansas, Carl T. Curtis of Nebraska, Styles Bridges of New Hampshire and John Sherman Cooper of Kentucky.

PAT FIGHTS BACK THE TEARS

Mrs. Richard M. Nixon fights tears which flowed briefly as she stood at the side of her husband as he commented on election returns at the Ambassador Hotel in Los Angeles early today. Nixon had said that if the trend for Sen. John F. Kennedy continued, it would look like victory, and that the senator would have his "whole-hearted support." (AP Wirephoto)

'Protestant States' Voted For Kennedy

Kennedy was the first Roman Catholic to seek the White House since Alfred E. Smith made his bid for the presidency in 1928 against Herbert Hoover.

Smith went down to a crushing defeat. He carried only eight states, to Hoover's 40. He got only 87 electoral votes to Hoover's 444, and received only 15 million popular votes to 21 million for Hoover.

Outside the South—and until then, the South had been solid for Democrats since Reconstruction days—the popular New York governor won only Massachusetts and Rhode Island, both states with heavy Catholic populations. He lost such Southern states as Florida, North Carolina, Tennessee and Virginia.

Both in 1928 and 1960, the religious issue stirred deep feelings in the United States, which now has a percentage of 21.6 per cent baptized Catholics.

Twenty-eight years ago, as now, there were high-principled, assuredly non-bigoted men, who opposed Vatican policy and wondered aloud what effect it would have on a Catholic president.

Then, as now, there were tactics of a different sort. In 1928, for example, pictures of a new tunnel under construction in New York were circulated with the intimation that it was a tunnel to Rome for the pope to come to America if Smith won. In 1960 bookets were circulated linking Rome to the assassination of Abraham Lincoln.

Nobody will ever know how many Protestants voted against Kennedy because of his religion, or how many Catholics voted for him because of his faith. Both Kennedy and Vice President Richard M. Nixon said they wanted no votes for religious reasons.

Crab Quality Excellent, Catch Slim

Few crabs but of excellent quality was the report today of Marin fishermen who brought in their first crab haul of the season late yesterday.

"They've been living a good life but we don't know where," was the summary of Hoyt Barnet of Lighthouse Crab Co., Sausalito.

"A very poor catch but the quality's fine," concurred A. Paladini of Point Reyes.

Loads averaged under 10 pounds of crab to the pot at the Sausalito wharves, whereas a pot could contain as much as three dozen crabs weighing 70 to 75 pounds.

One Sausalito veteran of 15 years' experience came in yesterday without a single crab, as did at least one other fisherman.

But due to an exceptionally large number of boats and fishermen, the pots were said to be spread over an unusually large area. Within a few days, it was said, more will be known about locations of the elusive shellfish and luck will give way to knowledge.

After Dec. 15 the fishermen will be allowed to operate north of Point Arena and there'll be crabs a-plenty.

Democrats Win 15 Governorships, GOP Takes Nine

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Democrats locked up governorships in 15 states today — including the big Illinois and Michigan prizes—clinching an even bigger share of the nation's statehouses.

Seven of the Democratic victories were scored in states controlled by Republicans.

GOP candidates won the gubernatorial races in nine states —toppling Democratic rule in three of them—and led in three others.

STATES CAPTURED

Democrats captured GOP governorships in West Virginia, Delaware, Rhode Island, North Dakota, Illinois, Indiana and Nebraska. Democrats maintained their control in Florida, Missouri, North Carolina, Texas, Arkansas, Wisconsin, Michigan and Washington.

Republicans knocked Democrats out of power in Iowa, Kansas and Massachusetts. The GOP retained control in Vermont, Arizona, New Hampshire, Utah, Maine and Montana.

Republican candidates led in New Mexico, South Dakota and Minnesota, where Democrats were fighting to hold on to the statehouses.

JUDGE WINS

Democrat Otto Kerner, popular Chicago judge, leaped into the national political spotlight by crushing Illinois Republican Gov. William G. Stratton. Kerner, 52, is married to the daughter of the late Chicago mayor Anton Cermak, slain in 1932 by a Miami assassin's bullet intended for Franklin D. Roosevelt.

In Michigan, labor-backed Democratic Lt. Gov. John B. Swainson, whose legs were blown off in a World War II mine explosion, defeated polio-crippled Republican Paul D. Bagwell, Michigan State University professor and an early supporter of President Eisenhower.

Swainson takes over the desk of Democratic Gov. G. Mennen Williams, who passed up a chance to seek a seventh two-year term.

Democratic Gov. Albert D. Rosellini retained his office in Washington after a nip-and-tuck race with state school superintendent Lloyd J. Andrews. The contest wasn't decided until after dawn.

In Nebraska, Democrat Frank B. Morrison defeated Republican John R. Cooper. The Democrats thus regained the state house they won in 1958 but lost two months ago when Gov. Ralph G. Brooks died and was succeeded by GOP Lt. Gov. Dwight W. Burney.

Midwest Backed Nixon; No Farm Belt Revolt

WASHINGTON (AP) — Democratic hopes of a farm belt revolt in the Midwest were dashed in yesterday's election.

That was a region Democrats had hoped would revolt over controversial farm policies of the Eisenhower administration.

But there was little evidence of such a revolt despite pledges of Sen. John F. Kennedy to push a new farm program designed to boost agricultural prices and incomes.

The farm belt rejection of Kennedy raised early speculation that Democrats might modify their program in the direction followed by the present administration.

The Midwestern voting indicated farmers may have been influenced by issues other than farm problems, notably Kennedy's Roman Catholic religion.

The farm belt voting gave some support to claims of Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Taft Benson that farmers were not unhappy and that they prefer the Eisenhower program aimed at getting government out of agriculture to Kennedy's proposal for enlarging government's role.

Nixon sought to divorce himself from Benson, but nevertheless advanced a farm program that was fairly close to that of Eisenhower and Benson.

The election set forth boldly the declining importance of the farm vote. This decline reflects the fact that farmers are becoming a smaller and smaller portion of the total population of the country as well as of the farm states themselves.

BOTH PARTIES GAIN

South's Political Tradition Cracks

ATLANTA (UPI) — Southern voters wrote an end to 100 years of political tradition in the presidential election.

Seven of the 12 Southern "Bible belt" states cast their ballots for Roman Catholic John F. Kennedy and a strong civil-rights platform.

Four went for Republican Richard M. Nixon and a civil-rights plank almost as strong. Mississippi rejected both major parties, and by a narrow margin elected an unpledged slate of presidential electors.

There was a heavy Republican vote everywhere in Dixie. But many political leaders who had rejected the national Democratic platform or given Kennedy only lukewarm support found their states going heavily for the Massachusetts senator.

Florida, Kentucky, Tennessee and Virginia went for Nixon, as they did for President Eisenhower.

South Carolina, where former U.S. Secretary of State James F. Byrnes campaigned for Nixon, had been expected to go Republican for the first time since reconstruction days. But Kennedy took the state by a narrow margin.

Alabama, Arkansas, Georgia, Louisiana, North Carolina and Texas also went to the Democrats. In Louisiana, which went for Eisenhower in 1956, a big vote was cast for the segregationist States' Rights party.

Although the Republican party failed to add to its number of southern congressmen —retaining its present five— the GOP swept to a surprisingly large number of local offices in Florida.

In rich Palm Beach County, where Democratic Sheriff John Kirk had just helped crack the state's most baffling murder case, Republicans swept Kirk, two county commissioners and the registration supervisor out of office. The GOP won eight seats in the Florida legislture.

Republican gubernatorial nominee George Peterson polled more than a half million votes in losing, and state Republican chairman G. Harold Alexander proclaimed that Florida "is now a two-party state."

There was no immediate indication where Mississippi's eight unpledged electoral votes would go. Georgia's 12 electors were nominally unpledged but expected to go to Kennedy. Six of Alabama's 11 electors could under law withhold their vote from Kennedy.

The five GOP congressmen in the south who kept their house seats were Reps. Charles R. Jonas of North Carolina, William C. Cramer of Florida, B. Carroll Reece of Tennessee and Richard Poff and Joel Broyhill of Virginia.

Chamber Planning Jackpot Drawing

Two locations have been set up for those attending the drawing Nov. 16 when prizes will be announced by the Merchants Committee of the Mill Valley Chamber of Commerce in its Mill Valley Jubilee Jackpot.

One is at the parking area adjoining the Mill Valley shopping center at Miller and Evergreen avenues, the other is in the city parking lot to the rear of the bus depot, Chairman Don Chapman said today.

Chapman said $1,019 in prizes will be given away at the 1 p.m. drawing, some in cash and some in merchandise such as turkeys and hams. Persons wishing to participate may ask for free tickets from participating merchants through Nov. 16.

Reapportionment Measure Loses; Water Bonds Trail

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Proposition 15, which would have given Southern California a larger share of State Senate seats, was trounced by a 3-1 margin, late returns from yesterday's election showed today.

Proposition 1, a 1.75-billion-dollar bond issue to create the world's largest water transport system, was trailing by a steadily increasing margin although not mathematically out of contention.

With a third of the state's precincts still to be tallied, Proposition 1 was 200,000 votes down and sinking.

The state's voters were also turning thumbs down on Proposition 5—a measure which would have hiked legislators' pay 50 per cent.

Golfers scored well on Proposition 6, a measure to ease assessments on golf courses. The proposition was zooming through with a majority of more than half a million.

Also seemingly assured of passage was No. 8—a proposition which would pave the way to restoration of voting rights to felons who had served sentences and completed probation. This measure was moving through by better than 300,000.

Two measures to help veterans on tax exemptions—Propositions 3 and 11—were approved by heavy majorities.

Proposition 2, which would have made possible four-year Assembly terms, was losing. With 16,301 out of 30,682 precincts reported, the measure had received 1,000,554 yes votes; against 1,563,972 noes.

Proposition 4, to provide eight-year state college board terms, seemed assured of victory with 1,454,551 votes favoring it and 982,294 against it in returns from 16,025 precincts.

Proposition 7, revising chiropractic board requirements, appeared likely to be approved. There were 1,330,660 Yes votes and 1,035,068 No votes counted with 15,539 precincts counted.

Proposition 9, dealing with uniform claims procedures, was definitely in, 1,661,765 votes to 687,162 in 15,643 precincts tabulated.

Proposition 10, to expand the judicial council, was running ahead by a wide margin, 1,725,510 yes votes to 701,860 no in 15,643 precincts.

Proposition 12, to delete obsolete parts from the constitution, was way ahead, 1,781,117 to 522,378, in 15,618 precincts counted.

Proposition 13, on municipal court appeals, likewise appeared certain to win. It was favored 1,549,737 to 709,598 in 15,618 precincts.

Proposition 14, for use of gasoline tax funds for grade crossing bonds, was trailing 1,027,501 to 1,380,469 in 15,618 precincts.

Bagley Wins Two-County Assembly Seat

William Thompson Bagley, 32-year-old San Rafael attorney who made his political debut by winning the student body presidency of San Rafael High School 16 years ago, will represent Marin and Sonoma Counties in the California State Assembly the next two years.

Republican Bagley not only won a resounding victory in Marin County yesterday, but defeated Democrat Everett A. Matzen by nearly 4,000 votes in Matzen's home county of Sonoma.

The complete, although unofficial, tally:

In Marin, it was Bagley all the way. He rolled up 39,257 votes to Matzen's 20,878. Bagley's Marin vote was more than 4,000 above that Marin gave to Richard M. Nixon for president.

In Sonoma, the total was 31,854 for Bagley to 27,614 for Matzen.

Said Bagley in a message to his supporters and constituents today:

"You have granted me a most earnest wish—to serve as your representative in the California State Legislature.

"I enter upon this assignment with the humbling knowledge of the challenge ahead.

"I have come to admire my opponent, Everett Matzen, and hope to advise with him in the areas he so ably represents.

"If industry, diligence and integrity will bring honor to this endeavor, then, with the continued help of all of you, it shall be an honor to serve you."

Matzen, acknowledging defeat, said:

"I would like to congratulate Bill Bagley on his victory and wish him well in his term in the Assembly, and to thank the many thousands of people who worked and supported and contributed in any way to my campaign. I would also like to express my gratitude to the Independent-Journal for a fine job of reporting the campaign."

The newly elected assemblyman, who will fill the position vacated by retirement of Republican Richard M. McCollister, was born in Woodacre and has never resided outside of Marin County. He attended St. Raphael's School, San Rafael High School and University of California, and received his law degree from U.C.'s Boalt Hall in Berkeley. He was valedictorian of his graduating class at U.C. in 1949.

He is a member of Phi Beta Kappa, college honor society, and of the Elks Lodge, Native Sons of the Golden West and Commonwealth Club.

Bagley's only previous campaign for public office was also successful, when he was elected to the Marin County Board of Freeholders that prepared a proposed county charter two years ago. In a split among the board, Bagley refused to support the charter recommended by the majority—and it was defeated at the polls.

Bagley and his wife, Doris, and daughter and two sons, Lynn, William T. Jr. and Walter, reside at 592 Fairhills Drive in San Rafael. His father, N. G. Baglietto, is also a San Rafael resident.

SHARING THE GOOD NEWS—Mr. and Mrs. Clement W. Miller of Corte Madera joined ears on a phone in Marin County Democratic Headquarters in San Rafael last night to listen to welcome tidings pouring in from the First Congressional District, once more sending them to Washington, D.C. Sen. McCarthy Marin's Top Vote Getter

McCarthy, who has served Marin in the California State Senate since 1950, was returned for another four-year term by a vote of 45,021 to 15,138 for his Democratic opponent, Charles M. Geller — almost three to one.

McCarthy's margin was 11,504 more than Marinites gave William T. Bagley for State Assembly, 21,255 more than they gave Nixon for president, and 24,371 more than they gave Fred G. Dupuis for Congress.

Overwhelmed by the result, McCarthy declared today:

"It's a tremendous victory for me and I'm very grateful. I never expected to be elected by so big a majority."

The Marin state senator said the large voter turnout "strengthens my resolve to continue sponsoring and supporting legislation that is in the best interests of Marin County rather than being limited by partisan politics."

He paid tribute to Geller for an exceptionally clean campaign, and said he hoped Geller would continue to be active in politics along with maintaining his record of community activities.

McCarthy said he expects to have bills drafted for introduction early in the next legislative session calling for removal of the sales tax on drugs, control of billboards on scenic highways and reduction of the two-thirds majority vote needed for passage of school and public works bond issues. (The two-thirds requirement resulted in defeat of the Marin County hospital bond issue yesterday.)

"It is my hope, also, to bring about a solution to a state highway from the Golden Gate Bridge to the Stinson Beach area that will be acceptable to both conservation interests and those hoping to open the area for future development," he said.

The 36-year-old state senator, who lives at 21 Pepper Way, San Rafael, with his wife, Ursula, and seven children, is associated with his father in the contracting business. He is a native of California and completed his education at University of San Francisco and Heald's Engineering College.

The circular fountain in front of U.N. headquarters is a $50,000 gift from school children of the United States and its territories.

Fairfax Tax Trailing; Retirement Plan Wins

Fairfax approved a retirement system for city employees by nearly two-to-one vote yesterday but apparently barely turned down, for the third time in 13 months, a school tax increase.

Absentee ballots might finally turn the balance on the school issue where the voters yesterday differed by a mere 28 votes—1,430 for, 1,458 against. This leaves it up to 134 absentees.

In contrast, the retirement measure was carried by 1,619 for, 839 against.

"Surprised" by a school vote "never so close before," Mrs. Fay Jensen, president of the Fairfax School District Board, declined comment or any hint of plans for a new move until the absentee votes are counted.

The county clerk's office segregated the Fairfax School District ballots from other absentees and confirmed that with 134 to be counted, probably sometime tomorrow, there are enough to upset the outcome.

The school district includes a small area beyond the city which accounts for the difference in total votes cast yesterday—2,888 on the school issue, 2,508 on the retirement plan.

The school proposal is for an increase of 80 cents per $100 assessed valuation to bring the general purpose school tax from $1.25 to $2.05 per $100 assessed valuation.

Proposals for 75-cent increases were defeated last October and March despite assertions that the district's financial condition is grave and getting progressively worse. The 80-cent increase was on recommendation of Supt. Homer L. Sisk, who submitted a schedule of needs, including $12,000 for teacher and administrative salaries, to a total of $65,000 increase in the district budget.

The retirement system which got solid endorsement involves 15 fulltime employees, including police and fire departments, street department and city offices. It involves adoption of an ordinance authorizing a contract between the Fairfax City Council and the California State Employees' Retirement System, already covering 100,000 in the Bay Area and providing retirement pay, death and disability benefits.

Demos Retain Control Of State Legislature

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Democrats retained control of both houses of California's Legislature in yesterday's balloting, but the Assembly margin was a single seat, with 16 races still to be settled.

On the Senate side, 16 Democratic holdovers were joined by 14 more with no races undecided. Six Republicans joined four GOP holdovers.

In the 80-man Assembly, 41 Democrats won seats and seven more were leading their races. Twenty-three Republicans were winners and another nine were in front.

Before the election the lineup was 45-32 Democratic with three vacancies in the Assembly and 28-11-1 in the Senate. Only half of the 40 Senate seats were at stake.

No incumbents were upset in the Assembly although Myron Frew (D.-Dinuba) trailed into the final hours before winning over Domer Power of Lindsay.

In the Senate, John O. Begovich of Jackson maintained an early lead to upset Swift Berry, Placerville Republican, from the Ninth District.

Two Assembly races saw incumbents trailing or in trouble with returns still incomplete. Republican Travis Manning of El Monte had a narrow lead over Democrat Ronald Brooks Cameron of Whittier who helped push an anti-auto smog bill through the Legislature during the last session.

All But One Of State's Congressmen Re-Elected

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — All but one of California's congressmen won re-election in yesterday's election, and the Republicans had a fighting chance to gai none congressional seat on the Democrats.

The only incumbent to lose was Democrat George A. Kasem, whose suburban Los Angeles district gave businessman John H. Rousselot of San Gabriel a narrow victory.

The Democrats hoped to regain the lost congressional seat in the 22nd District from which Republican Rep. Joseph F. Holt of Encino retired.

In that race, with 428 of 944 precincts reported, Democrat James C. Corman had 44,149 votes to 42,671 for Lemoine Blanchard. Both candidates are Los Angeles city councilmen.

Meanwhile, with only the Blanchard-Gorman fight still undecided, the Democrats held a 15-14 lead in party strength. Prior to the election, there were 16 Democrats to 14 GOP congressmen representing California.

Boy Arrested For Attacking Two Others

A 17-year-old Marin City youth was arrested at Tamalpais High School yesterday as being a member of a gang which attacked three youths at a Marin City service station last Friday.

Victims of the attack, Robert James Davis, 15, and Paul Edward Kordik, 16, identified the 17-year-old as one of those who beat them up. Sheriff's Sgt. Guy V. Gibbs and Deputy Harold Sleezer booked the youth on suspicion of assault and battery and felony assault. He is being held in Marin Juvenile Hall.

Davis, who lives at 178 Alta Vista Avenue, Mill Valley, told officers he was hit on the head by a board. He was taken to the hospital with a bad scalp wound. Kordick, of 11 Meadow Drive, and Girard Corteau, 18, of 7 Tower Drive, suffered minor bruises.

HE LOSES MARIN

First District Voters Re-Elect Rep. Miller

Clement W. Miller of Corte Madera has once more carried the First Congressional District with loss of only Marin County, defeating Fred G. Dupuis of Tiburon by a much smaller margin than two years ago.

Unofficial count in the seven counties of the district today, with five counties' tallies complete, gave Miller 110,356 votes to 101,696 for Dupuis, a majority of 8,660. Absentee ballots remain to be counted.

Marin County gave Dupuis 33,108 votes to 27,596 for Miller, a 5,512 advantage for Dupuis.

Victory this year was by slightly more than 4 per cent of the total vote of 212,052.

"I am delighted and thrilled by the results of the election," said Miller. "I wish to voice my keenest appreciation and regard for those who helped make this possible.

"What particularly interests me is that I am running about 22,000 ahead of the ticket in my district."

Miller said he would proceed immediately with plans for a tour of his whole district to discuss legislative objectives for the coming session of Congress.

"Anyone interested in discussing these things with me should make contact with our headquarters office in San Rafael," he said. "I'll be in Marin County tomorrow, Saturday and Nov. 17, operating out of my home." Miller lives at 433 Redwood Avenue, Corte Madera.

Dupuis issued a congratulatory statement today, saying:

"I'm surely appreciative of all the help I received in my campaign and want to thank my many adherents for their efforts in my behalf.

"I think the margin between my vote and that of Mr. Miller is small enough to give the incumbent some indication that there are many who disagree with certain of his policies, and trust it will result in his consideration during his next term of the standpoint of a very sizable majority.

"If he does so, the campaign thereby can prove helpful to the district as a whole."

The unofficial vote county by county follows:

Marin (complete except for 4,132 absentees) — Miller 27,596, Dupuis 33,108. Sonoma (complete except for 3.450 absentees)—Miller 31,777, Dupuis 28,839.

Mendocino (complete except for 1,122 absentee) — Miller 10,018, Dupuis 7,523.

Humboldt (complete except about 2,000 absentees)—Miller 20,513, Dupuis 15,392.

Lake (complete except absentees) — Miller 3,338, Dupuis 3,057.

Del Norte (29 precincts of 31, and not including 368 absentees) — Miller 3,351, Dupuis 2,518.

Spanked Girl, 14, Back At Home, Safe

A 14-year-old Novato girl, who disappeared Monday after being spanked for smoking, returned safely, her father reported to the sheriff's office last night.

William H. Cassidy of 1552 Buchanan Street, Novato, called the sheriff at 6:30 last night to report that Sharon, 14, was home. The sheriff called off the search bulletin which had been issued the previous night.

Novato 'Bash' Will Benefit Field Service

"Bagdad Bash," the combination of music, dances and comedy at the Novato Community Clubhouse, will go on stage tomorrow as a benefit for the Novato American Field Service group.

The "Bash," followed by a dance at the clubhouse, will be open to Novato High School students for less than the regular admission price.

Proceeds will go toward the school's American Field Service fund. A Novato High School student each year spends some time with a European family; a French exchange student currently is studying at the high school. The program, nationwide in scope, is sponsored by the American Field Service.

The "Bash," written by Novatoan Judy Gilbert, will go on Friday and Saturday for the public in its usual cabaret atmosphere, with beer available to spectators.

New Moisturizing Colonaid Stops

CONSTIPATION DUE TO DEHYDRATION

without gag, bloat or gripe

Most constipation is caused by what doctors call a "thrifty" colon that loses so much moisture that its contents become so dry they block the bowel; so shrunken they fail to stimulate the urge to purge that propels and expels waste from your body.

To regain normal regularity, the dry, shrunken contents of your colon which now block your bowel must be remoistened. Second, bulk must be brought to 3-T-R-E-T-C-H STIMULATE colon to action; to a normal urge to purge. And, of all laxatives, only new COLONAID possesses its great moisturizing capacity plus its stretch-stimulating bulk. So effective it relieves even chronic constipation overnight, yet is so gentle it has been hospital-proved safe even for women in critical stages of pregnancy.

Superior to old style bulk, salt or drug laxatives, COLONAID neither gags, bloats nor gripes; won't interfere with absorption of vitamins or food nutrients; in clinical tests, did not cause rash or other reactions.

It's a physiological fact: Exercise tones your body! And COLONAID exercises your colon to tone it against constipation overnight. So, for positive relief from constipation, get amazing, moisturizing new COLONAID today! INTRODUCTORY SIZE 43¢

Nixon Tired But Smiling In Defeat, Wires Congratulations To Kennedy

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Vice President Richard M. Nixon conceded defeat to Sen. John F. Kennedy today — then left for the nation's capitol to assist in turning over the reins of government to the new administration in January.

All but conceding defeat last night, the vice president made his formal announcement this morning after studying latest voting trends from the key states of Michigan, Illinois and California.

Press secretary Herbert Klein said Nixon had clung to a hope that he might pick up strength in the three states.

But when Kennedy took Michigan, Nixon decided the fight was lost, Klein said.

California, political observers noted, has not voted on the losing side of an election in more than 40 years.

Klein appeared at election headquarters and read the vice president's formal statement of defeat sent to Kennedy.

"I want to repeat through this wire congratulations and best wishes I extended to you on television last night," the message stated. "I know that you have the united support of all Americans as you lead this nation in the cause of peace and freedom during the next four years."

President Eisenhower had announced earlier in Washington that he was preparing to send his congratulations to the Democratic standard-bearer.

Klein said Nixon had been pleased about two things in the election — that he received a huge popular vote and that Kennedy's margin was less than 1 per cent.

"We are not surprised at the closeness in California," the press secretary declared, adding that the closeness of the popular vote meant Nixon was still one of the great champions of the country.

Nixon, though bone-tired and sensing defeat, smiled and joked during his television appearance shortly after midnight when he told a crowd at election headquarters that Kennedy would be the next president "if this trend continues."

His wife, Pat, however, had tears in her eyes as did scores of others in the audience.

". . . I want all of you to know — that certainly if this trend continues, and he (Kennedy) does become our next president, he will have my wholehearted support — and yours too," he said.

Supporters jammed into the election headquarters shouted, "No! No!" at this, and then began chanting, "We want Nixon! We want the best man!"

But as soon as Nixon finished speaking, the rejected crowd filed out quickly, discarding Nixon-Lodge buttons and other emblems.

ELECTION

after eight Eisenhower years, also exulted at their renewed control of Congress. Speaker Sam Rayburn pledged to push through Kennedy's legislative program.

In a telephone interview from his Texas home, Rayburn promised early passage of a minimum wage increase, a school construction bill, relief for economically depressed areas and medical care for the aged.

He also forecast efforts to trim federal spending where consistent with national security interests. He ruled out for the time being any reduction or increase in taxes.

Democrats will control the new Senate 64-36 despite the loss of two seats in Wyoming and Delaware. The indicated line-up in the House, with a handful of races still undecided, was 259 Democrats to 178 Republicans.

Although Kennedy held his lead throughout the night, the results of the dramatic 1960 presidential election were not official until 12:45 p.m., EST., today when Nixon formally conceded.

Attorneys Named To Housing Unit

Three new attorneys have been named by commissioners of the Marin County Housing Authority and Redevelopment Agency.

Howard Morehouse was appointed to the housing authority to replace Guy Ciocca, who died recently. Morehouse had been associated with Ciocca's San Rafael law firm.

The redevelopment agency terminated its contract with Joseph G. Wilson and A. E. Bagshaw and entered into a new contract with Bagshaw and Leland H. Jordan. Wilson recently became municipal judge, leaving private practice, and Jordan resigned recently as county counsel to join the firm of Bagshaw, Schall, Martinelli and Weissich, with offices in San Rafael.

Turpentine-Drinking Youngsters Treated

Patrick Leader, 2-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Patrick Leader, 19 Rocklyn Court, Corte Madera, was taken to Marin General Hospital shortly after noon yesterday when his mother suspected he had drunk turpentine.

Finding the turpentine opened in the garage, she phoned police, who took Patrick to the hospital. He was given emergency treatment and released in good condition.

The Tamalpais Valley Sanitary District will meet at 8 p.m. today in the firehouse, having postponed its meeting from last night due to the election, chairman Richard P. Bovaird said today.

HUMAN ERRS, SO MACHINE ON DATA GOOFS

Early this morning, as a tired County Clerk George S. Jones was watching the last returns come through the electrical marvels, he asked:

"What's the total vote?"

"It can't be," moaned Jones, "we've only got 72,000 registered voters in the county."

Somebody had slipped the machine an extra 30,000 or so. The whole computation, a 25-minute job, had to be done over again.

Quentin Staff Votes 'No' On Prop. 8

San Quentin Prison staff members voted almost two-to-one against Proposition 8, which would have relaxed the rules governing eligibility of ex-convicts to vote, an unofficial tally revealed today.

The proposition was ahead in statewide balloting.

The prison precinct which is unusual in that neighboring residents must enter the prison to vote, went for Nixon, 117 to 90, with 214 of 261 registered there casting ballots. Most of the voters are employees of the prison.

Farm Federation Set Next Week

About 20 members of the Marin County Farm Bureau are expected to attend the annual meeting of the California Farm Bureau Federation next week in Berkeley.

A. J. Bianchi, Point Reyes, is in charge of the annual dinner of Nov. 16. The convention runs Sunday through Thursday at the Claremont Hotel.

David Burbank, Tomales, is the state delegate from Marin; Roy Parks, Tomales, is alternate. Bianchi is chairman of the dairy department.

and obviously addressing himself to the whole nation Kennedy said, "may I say to all the citizens of this country, Democrats, Republicans, and regardless of how you voted, that this is a satisfying moment to me."

He expressed thanks to those who had helped him. And he told the nation:

"The next four years will be difficult and challenging. There is general agreement by all our citizens that a supreme national effort is needed to move this country to safety through the 1960s.

"We need your help. All our energies will be devoted to the interests of the United States and the cause of freedom around the world."

He closed on a lighter note—"My wife and I now prepare for a new administration—and for a new baby."

His wife is expecting a child in about three weeks.

Kennedy said he would make no statements until after he had had a rest. As to the transition period prior to his inauguration, he said:

"I will be announcing within the next 24 hours the appointment of a liaison with the administration on the problems of the transition."

Board Of Design Approves Stores In Corte Madera

Plans for a new men's clothing store in the Corte Madera Chopping Center and a new supermarket in the Paradise Shopping Center have been approved by the Corte Madera Board of Design.

Tentative plans for a 24-unit addition to the Edgewater Inn Motel also were presented to the board Monday night, but action was postponed to a later meeting to give the designer an opportunity for further study.

The two approved items will go before the Corte Madera Planning Commission next Monday.

Smith's clothing store of Oakland plans a branch to be located alongside Montgomery-Ward. Embee's Market plans a 16,000 square foot market in the Paradise center.

Smog Proposal Beaten In Valley

FRESNO (UPI)—A proposal to create a San Joaquin Valley Smog Control District received a walloping from voters in yesterday's election.

None of the eight counties involved, Kerns, Kings, Fresno, Madera, Merced, San Joaquin and Stanislaus, favored the measure, Proposition A.

With 2,223 of 2,528 precincts tabulated, the vote was 61,804 Yes to 286,916 No.

Justices Win; No Speeches, No Opponents

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Twelve candidates, who made no campaign speeches and who had no opponents, won election today to well-paid jobs with long terms.

They were members of the state supreme and district courts of appeal. No appellate judge has been rejected by the electorate in recent history.

Three supreme court justices, appointed by Gov. Edmund G. Brown to their $26,000-a-year posts, were subject to a yes-or-no plebiscite for 12-year terms.

They were Maurice T. Dooling Jr., 71, Raymond E. Peters, 57, and Thomas F. White, 71. With 12,463 precincts reporting, Dooling polled 1,305,477 Yes to 189,843 No, Peters 1,230,701 Yes to 192,704 No, and White 1,241,100 Yes to 73,290.

District judges, who won by similar percentage margins, were Mathew O. Tobbiner and Daniel R. Shemaker of the first district, Parker Wood, Roy L. Hernron and John J. Ford, all of the second district, and Martin J. Coughlin and Arthur C. Shepard of the fourth.

They are paid $24,000 a year.

VOTING

trict: William T. Bagley 39,257, Everett A. Matzen 20,878. (Republican Bagley also carried Sonoma County to win by a wide margin.)

State Senate, 13th District: McCarthy 45,021, Geller 15,138.

The heavy vote made counting slow at the precincts, but the tabulations were run rapidly, using International Business Machines tabulating equipment, as the ballot envelopes were returned to the courthouse from the polling places.

Housewife Sues Car Club For Injuries

A Mill Valley housewife is suing the National Automobile Club and its agents for allegedly using abusive language and bruising her wrists when she called for a repair of a flat tire on her car last September.

Mrs. Ella May Davenport, who lives on Summit Drive, filed the suit in Marin Superior Court through her attorney Charles L. Convis. Named as defendants are the automobile club, Raymond Bennett of Ray's Shell Service in Mill Valley and Bennett's employee, Phillips Hale Pedlar.

According to her attorney, this is what happened:

She called the National Automobile Club on Sept. 13 to have the tire changed. After several calls and a long wait, Pedlar showed up in a truck. By then, Mrs. Davenport understood that another truck was coming to her aid, and so told Pedlar he was not needed.

Mrs. Davenport said Pedlar insisted she sign certain papers or he would tow her car away. When he began to lower the tow chain, she put her hand on the bumper of her car to prevent him from proceeding. Whereupon, he wrapped the chain around both the bumper and her hand. She screamed and passersby called police.

Mrs. Davenport seeks $10,000 damage for injury to her forearm and wrist and for mental anguish and $10,000 punitive damages.

Woman Smokes In Bed Mattress Destroyed

Smoking in bed ruined another mattress today. Helen Jacobsen, 137 Park Street, San Rafael, told firemen that she dozed off while smoking a cigarette at 1:30 this morning.

Firemen, arriving on the scene found her vainly trying to douse the blaze with water from a tap. They hauled the mattress outside and extinguished the fire. Damage was confined to the mattress, valued at about $100.

Commission Backs County Worker Job

County Building Inspector Harry Grieb, 61, who has worked 14 years for the county, should not be dismissed because of reduction in force, the Marin County Personnel Commission recommended today.

Grieb's position was terminated on Sept. 30 on grounds that he was specializing in electrical inspection, and the county already has an electrical inspector with more seniority. Grieb contended that he is also capable of doing structural inspection, and in this category, he has more seniority than Merl Mauroni, who passed an examination as structural inspector last April and subsequently got the job.

Grieb appealed the dismissal to the personnel commission. The commission, headed by Chairman Julius H. Selinger, announced its recommendation today.

The commission noted that Grieb had worked for the Department of Public Works as building inspector from 1946 until 1954 when the system of specialized inspections was instituted. "He performed all general inspections which included structural inspections," the personnel commission points out.

"Had Mrs. Grieb had a more limited or shorter experience in construction while in the employ of Marin County, the commission would not hesitate to find Mr. Grieb unqualified to perform the functions of a building inspector—construction. But the commission cannot accept the contention that his nine years of continuous experience as building inspector or construction, electrical, plumbing and in all other aspects, should go for naught.

"In view of the foregoing, it is the unanimous recommendation of the Personnel Commission that the termination of Mr. Harry Grieb from employment with the county as a consequence of a reduction of work for based upon 'less service with the county than the other electrical inspector' is improper."

If Grieb is rehired by the county supervisors, then the county will have more inspectors than provided in the budget. What, if anything, will happen to newly hired inspector Mauroni is not clear as yet, according to Public Works Supt. Marvin W. Brigham.

First Patient Due Feb. 1 For Novato

The first patient will move into the Novato General Hospital by next Feb. 1, Dr. John Siemens, executive director, reported today.

The one-story building at Hill and Canyon Streets is nearing completion. Backers of the $286,000 hospital soon will begin moving in some $50,000 worth of equipment, Siemens said.

The hospital was constructed with the financial backing of 11 Novato area doctors and of businessmen, plus a federal loan, after residents in the Novato area voted to break from the Marin County Hospital District last year. The new hospital district will coincide with the Novato Fire District—75 square miles.

Dr. Robert Patocchi is starting to organize the staff of about 15 nurses, plus food service workers, maintenance and janitorial staff needed to run the 30-bed hospital. The hospital will handle emergency, surgical and maternity cases and general hospital cases.

Three members will be elected to the hospital's board of directors Nov. 18 to replace three doctors who have moved from the area. Dr. Ralph Weseman is chairman of the board.

NO REPRISALS

Teachers End Strike In N.Y.

NEW YORK (AP)—This city's teachers' strike ended last night, the day after it began.

Delegates of the striking United Federation of Teachers voted at a closed meeting to accept an offer from the board of education to return to work.

The board, with the backing of Mayor Robert F. Wagner, had guaranteed that no reprisals would be taken against striking teachers — if they returned to work today.

The union also agreed to meet with three top labor leaders acting as intermediaries in the dispute.

The walkout started Monday when the federation struck over demands for improved conditions and other issues. About 250 of the city's 837 schools had been picketed. Some of the city's one million students refused to cross picket lines and there were reports of minor vandalism.

The federation, which claims a membership of 10,000 among the city's 40,000 teachers, had asserted the strike was picking up momentum. But the board of education, while admitting disruptions in operations, said all the schools had remained open and would continue to do so. Supervisory personnel had been pressed into service and classes doubled up.

The schools were closed yesterday, election day.

Academy Hopefuls Due Screening

Candidates for Rep. Clement W. Miller's appointments to the national service academies will take an academic screening test at 8 a.m. Saturday at the San Rafael High School cafeteria.

The test will cover algebra, vocabulary and reading, with recognition of three-dimensional figures from flat drawings. It is to be given by the U.S. Civil Service Commission as a preliminary guide to evaluation.

Similar tests will be given at three other points in the district—Santa Rosa, Ukiah and Eureka. Board members include Superior Court Judge Richard M. Sims of San Rafael.

Sheriff Says Money Went To Palsy Fund

Sheriff Louis P. Mountanos declared today that there was no similarity between the splitting up of the San Rafael Policemen's Assn. fund and a testimonial dinner-dance given in his honor on Oct. 15.

The sheriff pointed out that the October affair was a testimonial to him, organized by a committee outside his department. He said the committee asked to donate the profits to the sheriff's 1962 campaign fund, but at his request the $500 raised was given to the cerebral palsy fund in Marin County.

The sheriff's statement was in reply to a quotation attributed in Monday's Independent-Journal to former San Rafael Police Chief Frank Kelly (now chief of Sonoma police). Kelly defended the dividing of $4,000 among 25 police officers when the San Rafael Policemen's Assn. disbanded in 1957.

Kelly claimed yesterday that he was misquoted in a statement that the fund "was for the benefit of the police themselves and was no different from when Sheriff Mountanos gave a dinner recently and the money was split up afterward."

VOTERS, WATCHERS AND SITTER

Jordan To Ask Compulsory Vote Machines

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Secretary of State Frank Jordan, obviously not completely satisfied at the speed of election returns in populous California, said today he would ask the 1961 legislature to make voting machines compulsory in all but three counties.

"If we had the machines," he said, "we could get these elections completed within a few hours."

GETS SUPPORT

Jordan said he has spoken with leading members of the state legislature about his plan and had received their wholehearted support.

"After all, the legislators are vitally interested in fast returns, too," he said.

Jordan already claimed support of one of the Senate's key members, Finance Committee Chairman James McBride (D-Ventura), who holds the purse-strings in the upper house.

"He's 100 per cent for it," said Jordan, "and he agrees that voting machines should be compulsory—not voluntary."

THREE EXCEPTIONS

There would be only three exceptions — Mono and Inyo and possibly Los Angeles counties. Jordan suggested a modified absentee ballot for the two small mountain counties and said Los Angeles County Registrar Ben Hite had come up with an electronic sampling for the state's largest county that showed signs of speeding up tabulations.

To emphasize his point, Jordan pointed out that San Francisco County with voting machines completed its tally shortly after midnight in yesterday's election while smaller counties still were not complete at midday today.

The deepest oil well drilled in 1959 was in Texas. It cost $3 million, went down almost five miles—and found nothing.

Strep Infections, Mumps Lead List

Mumps and strep infections led the list of communicable diseases reported in Marin County during the week ending last Saturday, according to report by Dr. Carolyn B. Albrecht, health officer.

There were eight cases apiece during the week. San Anselmo had six of the mumps cases, the largest number of ailments reported by any community.

There were three cases of measles, two of syphilis, and one each of tuberculosis and gonorrhea reported during the week.

Fire Wrecks Radiation Lab Experiment

A spokesman for the lab, operated by University of California, said there was no dangerous contamination.

There was no injury to technicians.

Watch Out! Speed Zone Extended

Watch it while you drive through Stinson Beach!

An already existing 25-mile-per-hour speed limit through the heart of the community is to be extended for .2 of a mile.

This cuts the pace from 35 miles an hour between Calle del Mar and Calle del Arroyo.

Revision was decided on as result of a State Division of Highways engineering - traffic study and was concurred in by the California Highway Patrol, with enforcement effective on posting of signs within two weeks.

Hub City Council Will Meet On Downtown Development

The San Anselmo City Council tonight is scheduled to decide what is going to be done about downtown development.

Will the Millbrae engineering and planning firm of Wilsey, Ham and Blair be hired to prepare a "precise" plan for $12,800 or will the planning phases of the new study be eliminated?

That's the question that the councilmen are scheduled to tackle when they meet at 8 p.m. in the downstairs children's room of the library.

The San Anselmo city planners argued with representatives of Wilsey, Ham and Blair on Oct. 25 that further planning would only be a duplication of the master plan already worked out by consultant James M. Campbell.

Also before the council tonight is a proposal to make Sequoia Drive a limited access road to the proposed new Cedars Development School site on a 20-acre sliver of unincorporated land bordered by Mount Tamalpais Cemetery and Sunny Hills Orphanage. Some 50 property owners along Sequoia Drive have petitioned the county board of supervisors against using the road.

The council is scheduled to appoint a fulltime mechanic to take charge of all machinery and supervise the new corporation yard at the end of San Francisco Boulevard. The job was created at the council meeting of Oct. 11 and will pay between $415 and $505 per month.

Fire Chief Given Increase Of $25

Tiburon Fire Protection District commissioners Monday gave Fire Chief Frank J. Buscher a $25 a month raise effective Dec. 1. His salary will be $550 per month.

Commissioners and Bert Klahn, executive directors of the Marin County Housing Authority discussed the new fire prevention regulations for the Hilarita housing project.

The district will join the National Fire Protection Assn., it was decided. Warrants were approved totaling $1,696.

WOMEN'S STYLE SHOP IN NEW QUARTERS

HAFB Plans Open House On Vets' Day

The gates of Hamilton Air Force Base will be opened Friday, veterans' day, to perhaps the largest number of visitors ever to see the installation at one time.

The emphasis will be on youth— 200 youth groups and 20 veterans organizations have been invited to participate. The traditional parade will be made up of youth groups and vets.

The open house will be from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m., with the parade beginning at 10:15 a.m. The youthful master of ceremonies for part of the ceremonies will be San Rafael Eagle Scout Ron Turner, son of KTIM manager Hugh Turner.

SPEAKERS NAMED

The moment of silence at 11 a.m. in commemoration of war dead, will be followed by speeches from Novato's Mayor Wayne Womach (the base is within the Novato city limits), Roy Ibich of Mill Valley, veteran and Boy Scout executive; and Maj. Gen. John Stevenson, commander of the 28th Air Division-SAGE at the base.

One of the "honored guests" during ceremonies on the flight line will be Vito Bertoldo of Ignacio, the only living Congressional Medal of Honor winner in Marin.

PLANES TO FLY

A formation of T-33 jet trainers will fly over the base at 11 a.m. followed by a three-plane formation from the 349th Troop Carrier Reserve Wing from the base. Reservists will fly C-119s, traversing Marin from Sausalito, North, returning to the base after 11 a.m.

At 1:15, the base's jet interceptor fighters will stage a fly-by, at 2 p.m. They'll demonstrate a high speed takeoff and at 3 p.m. the takeoff of an F102 will signalize the close of base activities.

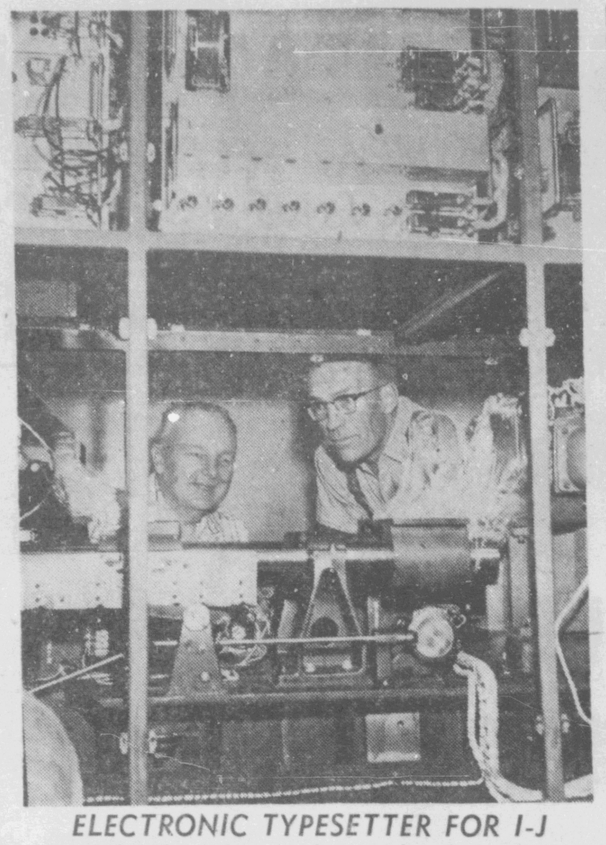
Displays on the ground will include the F-101, F-102, C-119 Flying Boxcar, helicopters, and a C-121 Constellation, modified for radar picket use far over the Pacific.

Jet engines, helicpoter engines and automatic weapons will be displayed in hangers.

GENIE DISPLAY

Models of the Genie missile, which can carry a nuclear warhead, the GAR and Falcon missiles, pilot equipment and rescue equipment will complete the displays.

For those tred of standing, they can sit and listen to the San Rafael Military Academy Band and the 573rd Air Force Band.



ELECTRONIC TYPESETTER FOR I-J

Inspecting the main unit of a massive electronic typesetting machine which produces advertising copy by a photographic process are Gordon Dixon, Independent-Journal plant superintendent (right) and Ernest Fingerlos, machinist. The complex machine arrived yesterday from Mergenthaler Linotype Co. and is expected to be in operation within a month. It will produce sharper and clearer letters from its 106 different type faces in half the time taken by a Linotype operator, Dixon said. Operators type display advertising copy on electric keyboards and the Linofilm photographic unit selects and photographs letters by means of a punched tape. Engravings are made from prints pasted on paper sheets. (Independent-Journal photo)

Hypnotism In Hands Of Amateurs Can Be Menace To Mental Health

Kathy is 15. Formerly she was very shy. She couldn't stand crowds. She was afraid most of the time. A boy in her neighborhood had taken lessons in hypnotism. He offered to "cure" her.

He said the "treatments" would be harmless. Kathy's folks consented and the girl had four sessions with him. She seemed much better and everyone was delighted when suddenly she cracked up. She's deeply insane now, with schizophrenia.

Bill was afraid of elevators. He got hysterical whenever he entered one. He also went to a hypnotist and his fear was removed. Then he erupted into a manic state, followed by an attempt at suicide. He almost succeeded.

Chuck wanted to overcome his fear of the water and an amateur hypnotist treated him. The result? Chuck can't eat or sleep. He doesn't even recognize his mother.

He'll be in a hospital for a long time.

Helen went to a hypnotist to reduce. She was 30 pounds overweight. After six sessions she cracked up. Now she lies motionless in bed and is fed intravenously.

These teen-agers are victims of the hypnotism fad. There are basic reasons for their fears, but the hypnotists didn't know it. They removed the symptoms and caused the breakdowns. I know several adults who are in trouble for the same reason.

READERS' FORUM

(Q) "A school psychologist wants to test my girl. He says it will help him learn why she can't read. Then he may be able to teach her. Will the tests hurt her?"—E. T.

(A) No, they will not. Such tests are the first step in special reading instruction. Be sure to give your consent.

Film On Novato Due Tomorrow

Novato history will come to life on the movie screen tomorrow.

The city's volunteer firemen are sponsoring a showing of a film produced by Alton Lerch of Novato showing the "colorful, romantic, cruel and wealthy past of North Marin," as posters for the show describe it. Donations from spectators will go toward the fund to fight muscular dystrophy.

Beginning at 8 p.m. at Novato High School, the film will move back to the early 1800s with still photos, and will come up to present-day history-making events. Lerch spent eight years in producing the film, which is accompanied by a taped sound track.

Holy Name Society Schedules Speaker

Rev. Mark Hurley, Marin Catholic High School principal, will speak Sunday morning at St. Anselm's Holy Name Society's semi-annual breakfast at the Mission Inn in San Rafael.

The breakfast will be preceded by a Mass at 8 a.m. which will be offered for deceased members of the society. David Del Tredici will be organist during the Mass.

San Rafael Planners Schedule Two Hearings

Two public hearings are scheduled for tonight's meeting of the San Rafael Planning Commission at 7:30 o'clock in the city hall.

The second hearing on a proposal to permit rubbish dumping in San Rafael's manufacturing-heavy commercial zone will be held. The planners may then take action and send their recommendation to the city council for another public hearing.

A hearing will also be held on a variance request by Melvin Marlowe of 50 Arguello Circle to enclose his tennis court with a 12-foot fence. Ordinance limits fences to six feet within any rear or side yard.

Planners will also consider renaming Rafael Street in East San Rafael. Postmaster Warren H. Williams asked for a name change because local postmen also serve a Rafael Drive, Rafael Way and San Rafael Avenue.

The planners will consider revoking a use permit granted to Spero P. Spiliotis and Co. for a skating rink between Rafael and Belvedere Street if the company won't improve one-half of Rafael Street along 130 feet of its property.

City Planner Donald Newmark will report on forming an architectural approval committee in San Rafael.

Newmark will also make his recommendations on rezoning the area around Chris-Craft Sales at 25 Third Street from duplex to commercial.

Signs are a big item on the agenda. Use permits will be considered for a 35-foot high illuminated sign advertising Northgate Shopping Center on Manuel Freitas Parkway in Terra Linda, and two temporary signs.

The planners will also consider architectural approval for a proposed 20-unit apartment house on the south side of Canal Street. The split level building—part two stories and part three stories high—was designed by Edward Hageman and Associates of San Rafael for Peter Larkins, also of San Rafael. Larkins is also seeking a sideyard setback variance.

Judge Sims Clears Prospective Juror

Dorothy S. Gester of 25 Fairway Drive, San Rafael, who was ordered to show why she did not appear for jury duty last month, has been released by the judge.

Judge Richard M. Sims of Marin Superior Court said he later learned that Mrs. Gester had appeared in the county clerk's office to explain she had an appointment for dental surgery that same afternoon.

John Harris, deputy sheriff who tried to serve Mrs. Gester on Oct. 25, said she pushed the summons back at him.

Officials at the county clerk's office said Mrs. Gester arrived at the office and was told to wait for the judge. She had the dental surgery appointment and could not wait.

The judge, after hearing the full story Monday, cleared Mrs. Gester.

C. Of C. Drops Parking Plan In Tiburon

The Tiburon Peninsula Chamber of Commerce yesterday dropped all efforts to establish a permanent, public parking facility in downtown Tiburon.

A letter to all property owners within the district had dropped no response. Member George Bitter moved that "since there is no possibility of having a district," the matter be dropped. The motion was seconded by Fred G. Zelinsky, who fought the district's establishment bitterly at the last four meetings of the chamber. It was passed 8-0 by the board of directors.

Parking committee chairman Felix M. Warburg, who spearheaded the movement, was not present.

The chamber approved the Northwestern Pacific's removal of its freight office from the Tiburon yard and unanimously approved the Greenwood Lagoon master plan for a 93-unit boatel.

Marin City Tenants Council Names Officers At Meeting

Daniel Hayden has been elected chairman of the Marin City Tenants Council along with the following other officers.

Benjamin Miles, vice chairman; Mrs. James Homer, secretary; James Quiett, treasurer; Hardy Westmore, public affairs chairman; Mrs. Rose Sweeney, recreation chairman, and Ollie Thompson, house chairman.

Also at the Monday meeting the council gave $25 to the sheriff's substation at Marin City toward organization of two boys' basketball teams under Sheriff's Sgt. Guy Gibbs.

Robert Klein of Klein TV in San Rafael told the council he could install the television hookup to each Marin City home for $3 per unit per month. The Marin County Housing Authority previously had arranged with another company to do the installations at $4.50. The council authorized a committee to meet with the housing authority to discuss the matter.

Unitarians Schedule Second Public Meeting

The second of three public meetings on "Developing Concepts of God With Children," sponsored by the Unitarian Church of Marin, will be held tomorrow night at 8 p.m., at the Tamalpais Woman's Club, Kentfield.

Discussion will focus on the child from 9 to 12, and will be preceeded by talks by Dr. Joseph Gutstadt and Mrs. Sanford Byers, of the church, on the needs and attitudes of children in this age group.

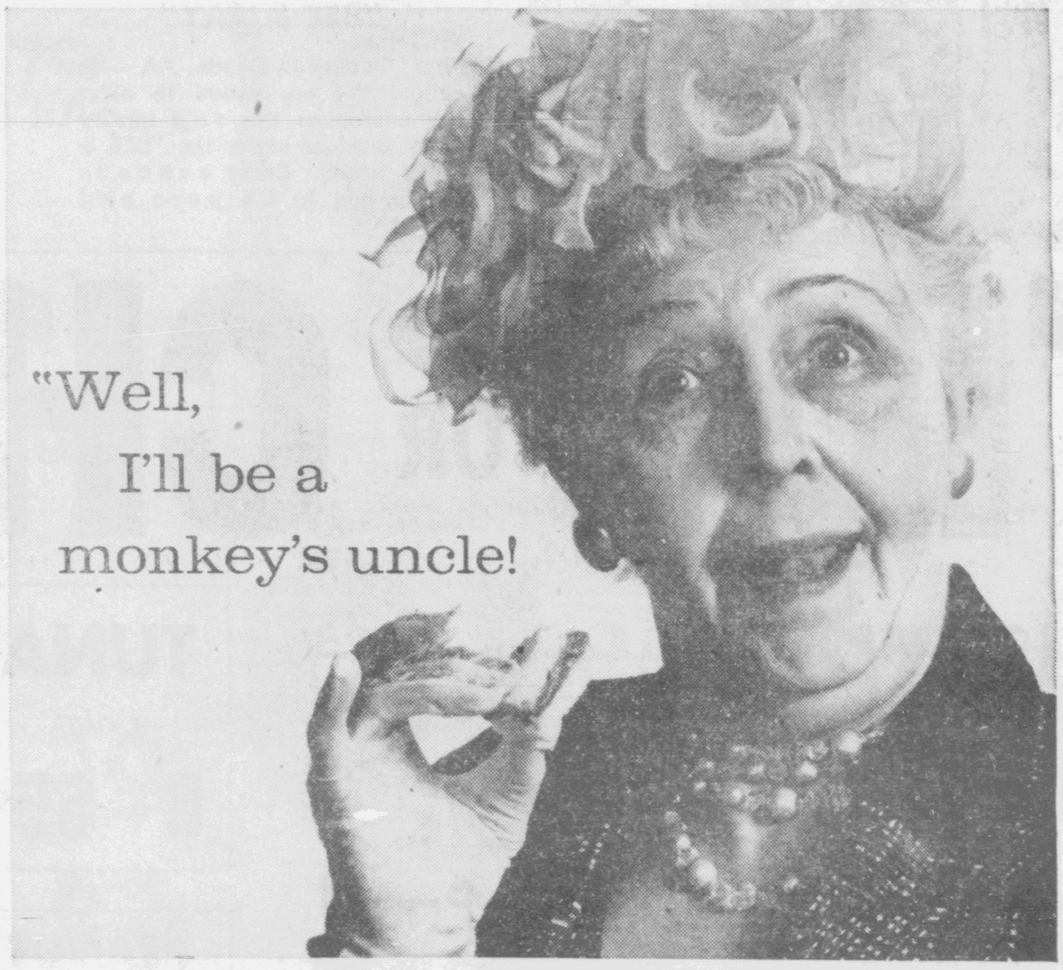
Dear Fellow Marinites,

I wish to express my deep and grateful thanks for the overwhelming confidence you have shown by re-electing me your State Senator.

To those who participated so generously in my campaign I extend a personal "thank you."

And to everyone in Marin I pledge to continue my undivided efforts to the welfare of ALL the people of Marin.

Sincerely,
Jack McCarthy



I've got to admit it...curling does make Blue Seal better!"

That's all it takes, ma'am...just one taste! How does a simple curl do it? Well, you see, the new TENDR-KURL® method adds an extra step in the kneading process. It actually curls the dough, stretches the bread-cells to make the bread more tender. Presses out tiny air bubbles, so the bread stays fresher. It's baked longer, too...and that improves the flavor. You say new Blue Seal's the kind of bread you'd bake yourself...if you had time? Well, thank you! What more could we say?

Now it's Tender-Curled

IGNORE BISHOPS

Puerto Ricans Back Governor

SAN JUAN, Puerto Rico (AP)—Puerto Rico's predominately Roman Catholic voters rejected the instructions of their bishops and re-elected Gov. Luis Munoz Marin by a landslide in final unofficial returns today.

Munoz Marin, himself a Catholic, captured 456,317 votes to 325,757 for his three opponents. He won his fourth term as head of this U.S. commonwealth island.

The results of the record poll were a sharp rebuff to the island's three Roman Catholic bishops, who in pastoral letters had warned that a vote for Munoz Marin's Popular Democrats would be a sin because the party did not oppose birth control.

By re-electing Munoz Marin, the voters also approved Puerto Rico's continuance as a commonwealth under the American flag.

Luis Ferre, the Republican candidate, who campaigned for Puerto Rican statehood, was outdistanced almost 2-1. Ferre received 250.638 votes.

Salvador Perea, the Christian Action party candidate backed by the Catholic hierarchy, and Julio Garcia Diaz of the Independence Party ran far behind.

Perea received 51,072 votes. Diaz, who campaigned for independence from the United States, got 24,047.

By failing to get 10 per cent of the vote, both the Christian Action and Independence parties lost their registration as political organizations and the right to proportional representation in the legislature. The Catholic party was making its first race.

Better than 83 per cent of the 937,531 registered voters turned out to choose the governor and legislature. The island is 90 per cent Catholic.

In a victory statement, the 64-year-old Munoz Marin, who has been governor since 1948, thanked the voters for their "generous expression of confidence in the face of such aggression."

In a pastoral letter on Oct. 20 Archbishop James P. Davis of San Juan, Bishop James E. McManus of Ponce and the titular Bishop of Lares, Luis Aponte Martinez, attacked the Popular Democrats for laws permitting sterilization of mental defectives and teaching of birth control in this densely populated island, for tolerating common law marriages and for refusing to sponsor legislation to give school children time off for religious instructions.

Finch Lawyer Examining Loophole

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Dr. R. Bernard Finch's attorney today examined a possible legal loophole through which the surgeon might be able to escape a third trial on charges of murdering his wife.

Attorney Grant B. Cooper said the technicality centers around possible double jeopardy as a result of Superior Court Judge Leroy Dawson's discharging of the second murder trial jury on Monday.

The 12 jurors were unanimous in believing that the 43-year-old Finch, was guilty of murdering his wife Barbara Jean, on July 18, 1959. But Dawson discharged them after more than 70 hours of deliberations when they were unable to agree whether Finch should be convicted of first or second degree murder.

Cooper said the possible loophole would not affect Finch's co-defendant, Carol Tregoff, 23, because the jurors were unable to agree on a verdict for her.

Cooper said section 1157 of the state Penal Code says that if jurors agree on a defendant's guilt but are unable to agree on the degree of his crime, the degree should be "deemed the lesser degree."

Under that section, Dawson should have ruled Finch guilty of second degree murder and sentenced him to a term of five years to life imprisonment, Cooper claimed.

The nation's proved reserves of liquid petroleum grew from 28.4 billion barrels in 1950 to 38.2 billion barrels in 1959.

U.S. May Give Up West Indies Bases

LONDON (UPI) — The United States plans to give up most of the territory in the West Indies leased by Britain to America in 1941 as military bases in exchange for 50 destroyers, it was announced today.

The U.S. holds the base sites under a 99-year lease granted by Britain 19 years ago. The West Indies is seeking to reclaim the territory.

A communique was issued by the U.S., Britain and the West Indies following the conclusion of the opening phase of their talks on the future of the bases.

The communique said that when the West Indies gains independence it will have the right to form its own alliances and to conclude any agreements it sees fit regarding military bases on its soil.

U.S. representatives are seeking to retain only those bases "which are essential to the discharge of their responsibilities in the field of worldwide and hemispheric defense," the communique said.

The negotiations were opened at the request of the West Indies primarily to determine the future of the Chaguaramas base on Trinidad Island which the West Indies wants as the site of its capital.

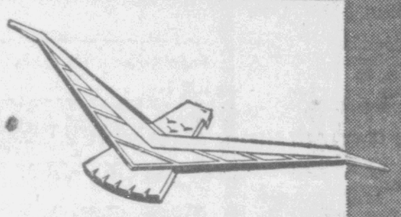
Presenting the 1961


Thunderbird

The new adventure in excellence... keyed to the West

Changes in so unique and desirable a car have always been approached with restraint. Although unmistakably new, the Thunderbird for 1961 retains its classic lines, its ideally compact size and its 4-passenger luxury. But within those self-imposed limits now come major advancements to carry on the great Thunderbird tradition.

An engineering "first" has been achieved in a steering wheel* that literally moves—as much as ten inches to the right—when the transmission is set in the "PARK" position. This permits unbelievable ease in entering and leaving the driver's seat.

A trio of power assists has been made standard equipment this year—larger power brakes that now adjust themselves automatically, new power steering that reduces effort by 65% while providing even better road feel, and vacuum-controlled Cruise-O-Matic transmission.

In addition to many engineering miracles is a brilliant, new design concept that will appeal to the most discriminating tastes while actually contributing to passenger comfort and convenience.

This, then, is Thunderbird for '61, truly an ultimate car for those who demand simple elegance, superb craftsmanship and unmatched performance. The highest resale record for any luxury car attests to its value. Judge it on the road soon but see it now... at your nearby Ford dealer's.

*OPTIONAL, AT EXTRA COST.

Bank Branch Gets Go-Ahead

The First National Bank in San Rafael has been given the go-ahead to establish a branch in Terra Linda.

According to A. L. Nieri, first vice president, the controller of currency notified the bank the area was suitable for a branch. Permission from the federal agency is required before banks may establish branches, Nieri said.

The bank would be located in the new shopping center now under construction at the entrance to the subdivision. Application for the branch was made several years ago, Nieri said, but not until this time did the comptroller rule the area sufficiently developed to support a branch bank.

Nier said that it was impossible to determine what effect the proposed merger of the First National and Crocker Anglo National Banks might have on the planned branch.

MORE IN STATE, TOO

Upswing In Crime Reported In Marin

Seven Bay Area counties — Marin, Sonoma, Napa, Solano, Contra Costa, Santa Clara and San Mateo—kept abreast of the rest of California by reporting an upswing in crime during the first six months of 1960.

The state as a whole reported more crime during this period than in any six months since 1954, the year the State Bureau of Criminal Statistics began compiling detailed crime and conviction data.

Above the state average of a 17.3 per cent increase was the Sacramento Valley area which reported a 34.6 per cent upswing. Below the state average was the San Joaquin Valley area with only 10.2 per cent above last year.

The bureau's report did not indicate Marin's individual crime increase, but linked the county in the report with the six other Bay Area counties, excluding San Francisco and Alameda.

Felony crimes reported in the seven-county area increased from 6,721 during the first six months of 1959, to 8,478 for the same period this year. Last year's figure represents 355 felonies per 100,000 population. The 1960 figure indicates an increase to 427.2 per 100,000.

Adult felony arrests in the same counties during the 1959 period totaled 1,952 and increased to 2,243 during the first six months of this year.

Of these, 857 were convicted in superior court during the first half of 1959. For the same period this year, 851 convictions resulted.

(Commenting on the discrepancy between arrests and convictions, Sheriff Louis P. Mountanous said that a single arrest may clear up many reported crimes. "Take the case of the two 'pillowcase" burglars," Mountanous said. "With only two arrests, 28 separate crimes were solved.")

Juvenile delinquency arrests throughout the state during the first half of this year totaled 89,789. The seven Bay Area counties accounted for 13,009 of these, representing 679.1 juvenile arrests per 100,000 population. For the same period of 1959, there were only 11,009 juvenile arrests, or 581.6 per 100,000 population.

Marin County alone reported 465 felony crimes up until July 1 of this year. They included robbery, assault, burglary, theft, auto theft and forcible rape.

By departments, the totals were: Sheriff's office, 204; Belvedere, 4; Corte Madera, 5; Fairfax, 11; Larkspur, 23; Mill Valley, 34; San Anselmo, 20; San Rafael, 101; Sausalito, 63.

Listed separately were forgery, bad check and "all other" cases. The county total from January through June, 1960, was 287.

By department report, they were: Sheriff's office, 72; Belvedere, 1; Corte Madera, 35; Fairfax, 1; Larkspur, 11; Mill Valley, 33; San Anselmo, 17; San Rafael, 103; Sausalito, 14.

Novato cases were handled through the sheriff's office. Ross reported no felony cases.

S.F. 49ers Will Never Get Needed Speed With Ray Norton Benched

By JACK HANLEY

HANLEY

Over-simplifications seldom solve complicated problems. It was easy to attribute the complete breakdown of the 49er offense against the Detroit Lions to failure of the offensive line to execute blocking assignments.

"When you are getting licked at the line of scrimmage it doesn't matter who is in the backfield," said Red Hickey.

It would be difficult to find fault with that statement, particularly as the 49er coach applied it to the Detroit game. But why was the 49er offensive forward wall licked at the line by Detroit when just a week earlier it was superb against the Bears?

The mental and emotional approach of a team to a particular game obviously plays an important part in its outcome. It is a proven physical fact that extra charges of adrenalin caused by emotional stress do enable individuals to perform seemingly super-human feats.

However, no team can go through an entire season riding on an emotional crest such as buoyed the 49ers in their flawless performance against the Bears. The stimulant in that instance was a pre-game dedication of a bench to the memory of the 49ers' founder, Tony Morabito, who had succumbed to a heart attack under dramatic circumstances three years ago during another Bear-49er game.

FOR ONE REASON or another all teams reach emotional peaks. The Lions last Sunday, for instance, were seething for revenge because they felt they had been jobbed out of their first meeting with the 49ers. To make sure his men were thoroughly angry, Detroit coach George Wilson showed them the film of that first game just before their second encounter with the 49ers.

What does all this mean? That the team that is emotionally highest will win? Nonsense. Actually it is easier to make a mistake when angry. A cool, determined approach to any job is much sounder than emotional rashness.

The reason Detroit's defensive line crushed every blocking effort of the 49ers is that the Lions stacked the middle—just as every team has been doing against the 49ers this season because the 49ers have no outside speed.

HICKEY HAS SAID he intended to use either Abe Woodson or Ray Norton to furnish the speed but thus far has been reluctant to do it because of lack of experience. Woodson can't get offensive experience playing on defense and Norton certainly can't get it sitting on the bench.

Norton now has been in for exactly two plays, the first against Green Bay, the second against Detroit last Sunday. The Green Bay game, already lost when Norton made his debut, seemed a perfect opportunity to give Norton needed experience. But Hickey pulled him after one pass incompletion.

Until the 49ers correct the basic flaw in their offense, all NFL teams are going to continue playing tight defenses to contain the 49ers' inside game. And the 49er offensive line is going to find its inside blocking assignments tougher and tougher.

SQUAW VALLEY TO GET POOL

This is a landscape drawing of how the tomahawk swimming pool and cabana under construction at Squaw Valley State Park will appear when completed. The pool will be heated for year-around use at the site of the 1960 Winter Olympic Games. The park's opening is scheduled for Dec. 1. (AP Wirephoto)

HICKEY LOOKS FORWARD TO NEXT SEASON

Hickey's crew met with personnel scout Pappy Waldorf yesterday to start analyzing college players in preparation for the National Football League's annual draft meeting in New York Dec. 27.

The coach said the whole 49er team left much to be desired, according to films of last week's 24-0 loss at the hands of Detroit. The defeat virtually dropped San Francisco out of the Western Division race, with a record of four losses and three wins.

Quarterback Y. A. Tittle was sidelined with a groin injury for the Detroit game, but Hickey said he would be ready for action against the Dallas Cowboys in Texas on Nov. 20.

Tam Cagers Win Marin League Championship

Coming frfom behind on 0-8 deficit early in the first quarter, Coach George Gustafson's Tamalpais Indians yesterday clinched the Class C basketball championship of the Marin County Athletic League with a 34-25 victory over Marin Catholic.

The game, played at Marin's gymnasium, was Tam's 11th victory against a single defeat. Defending champion San Rafael, with one game remaining, has a 9-2 record while Marin Catholic is 8-3.

After spotting Marin that 8-0 lead, Tam roared back to trim its deficit to 10-14 at the end of the first period and 16-19 at half. The Indians finally took the lead in the third period when James Bullock fired three quick field goals and it was 24-23 Tam at the end of that stanza. The Indians held Marin to two points in the final period while they pulled away for the big victory.

Fred Harris led Tam scorers with 11 points while Bullock came in with 10. Jim Langbehn totalled 11 for Marin.

Mrs. Apostoli Ties Novato Golf Record

Mrs. Fred Apostoli of Fairfax, wife of the former world middleweight boxing champion, yesterday tied the Indian Valley golf course record for women in leading her team to victory over another team led by national professional champion Betsy Rawles in an exhibition at the Novato links.

Mrs. Apostoli toured the front nine in 36 strokes to tie the record set previously by Melinda Magley and Carmen Waidmann, both of Sonoma. In firing even par Mrs. Apostoli had the best score of the day. Her teammates, Mrs. John Cann of the Meadow Club and Mrs. Waidmann scored 38 and 39 respectively and the team had a best ball score of 34—two under par.

Miss Rawls carded 41 and her teammates Mrs. Magley had 43 and Mrs. William May of Novato 40. Their best ball was 36.

Miss Rawls wowed a gallery of approximately 200 from tee to green, but had trouble on the Novato greens, three-putting four of them.

She also conducted a clinic free of charge which also attracted approximately 200.

In an "I Beat Betsy Rawls" contest 35 of 65 entrants beat Miss Rawls with the aid of their handicaps.

Humboldt State Ranked Third In Small Colleges

KANSAS CITY (AP)—The Lumberjacks of Humboldt State College were ranked third in the nation today by the National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics.

The Eureka football squad is 8-0 this season and has won 17 consecutive games in two seasons.

Ranked No. 1 was Lenoir Rhyne (8-0) of Hickory, N.C., and Florida A&M (6-0) was second.

The other California team in the rankings was Cal Poly of Pomona (5-2), which tied for 20th.

Also in the top 10 were, in order, Southern Illinois, Southeastern Louisiana, Whitworth (Wash.), Texas A&I, West Chester (Pa.), Langston (Okla.) and Williamette (Ore.).

Marin Grid League Ends This Weekend

Marin County Athletic League's 1960 football season comes to a close this weekend with three games on the schedule — starting tomorrow night with Marin Catholic opposing the San Rafael Bulldogs at San Rafael.

The big game of the week will take place Friday afternoon at Kentfield between Redwood, seeking its second straight title, and the Drake Pirates. Friday night the final game matches Tamalpais and Novato, currently tied for second place, at Kentfield.

Here are the standings:

	W	L
Redwood	4	0
Tamalpais	3	1
Novato	3	1
Drake	1	3
Marin Catholic	0	4

TITLE CHANCES

A Redwood victory Friday afternoon would give the Giants the league's undisputed championship. However, should Drake upset Redwood then the winner of the Tam-Novato contest would tie the Giants for the championship.

The San Rafael-Marin Catholic game was moved up from the customary Friday night game to Thursday night because of the Veterans Day holiday Friday.

Earlier in the season these same two rivals battled to a 12-12 tie in practice and another thriller is expected.

Ailing Raiders Expected To Play

OAKLAND (UPI) — The Oakland Raiders returned home from a three-game eastern swing with three ailing players—but all three are expected to see action against the Buffalo Bills at San Francisco's Kezar Stadium Sunday.

Five Homers Spark Giants

SHIMONOSEKI, Japan (AP) — San Francisco Giants walloped the Japan All-Stars 11-5 here today in the 13th game of their 16-game goodwill tour of Japan.

This gives the Giants a nine won, three loss, one tie record against teams selected from Japan's two professional baseball leagues.

The visitors scored most of their runs on five homers—two by Willie Mays and one each by Orlando Cepeda, Eddie Bressoud and Willie McCovey. They garnered 13 hits off five Japanese hurlers.

Giant pitchers Billy O'Dell and George Maranda limited Japanese batters to eight hits, including two home runs.

O'Dell, Maranda (7) and Landrith; Kajimoto, G. Shidama (5), Horimoto (6), Kaneda (8) and Nomura.

Home runs: Giants — Mays (2), Cepeda, Bressoud and McCovey. Japan—Toyoda and Nomura.

Kilmer Picked As National Back Of Week—Second Time

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

For the second time this season, Bill Kilmer, who plays tailback in UCLA's single-wing formation, has been named the Associated Press back of the week for doing everything a tailback is supposed to do.

Kilmer, who runs, passes, kicks and confuses the opposition by faking one of these maneuvers and performing another, was first named for his feats against Purdue in the second game of the season. He was named again today for an even more impressive performance in last Saturday's 28-0 victory over California.

Kilmer barely beat out Ed Dyas, Auburn's record-smashing place kicker, on the basis of recommendations of sports writers and broadcasters.

SET UP all four UCLA touchdowns, scoring two himself on short line smashes.

PASSED AND ran for 225 yards for a six-game average of 191 yards a game. Gained 109 yards on 16 running attempts and completed 8 of 11 passes for 116 yards.

Dyas broke one NCAA record and tied another when he kicked two field goals against Mississippi State and barely missed another when his 49-yard effort bounced off the crossbar. His nine field goals for the season established a record, and his career total of 13 tied the NCAA mark.

The Auburn fullback also scored two touchdowns on runs of 22 and 52 yards, set up another with a 25-yard run, caught a pass for 16 yards and kicked three extra points. That was a 21-point performance in a 27-12 victory.

Rams Put Shofner On Defensive '11'

MADISON, Wis. (AP)—The Los Angeles Rams may revert to Del Shofner and Olendon Thomas in the defensive backfield Sunday when they play the Lions in Detroit.

Shofner, normally an offensive end, and Thomas, offensive back, were used to bolster the Ram secondary when Los Angeles beat Detroit recently. They took over for Charlie Britt and Don Ellersick.

Coach Bob Waterfield is anxious to strengthen the defense as much as possible because of the shortage of linebackers. Bill Jobko, Jack Pardee and Les Richter are badly banged up, and Bob Long will not be able to play Sunday.

The Rams are training here but will fly to Detroit Friday. They will return here Monday to resume training for the Green Bay Packers at Milwaukee, Nov. 20.

Miss Thriftway Qualifies For Gold Cup Races

LAS VEGAS (AP)—The National champion unlimited speedboat, Miss Thriftway, of Seattle, has qualified for the Gold Cup Races on Lake Mead Saturday and Sunday.

Driven by Bill Muncey, Miss Thriftway averaged 112.34 miles an hour in three runs over the three-mile Gold Cup course yesterday.

Huskies Bearing Down For Bears

SEATTLE (AP) — Coach Jim Owens put his University of Washington charges through a 90-minute scrimmage yesterday and there was no indication the Huskies were letting up for California.

Saturday's game with the Golden Bears marks the end both of Washington's home games and end of its competition against Big Five Conference opponents.

The Huskies, apparently in awe of Cal quarterback Randy Gold's passing game, spent about a third of their time working on pass defense.

If you don't think scrapping the front axle has made a world of difference, you haven't driven a Chevy in a while. A few minutes behind the wheel and you can feel why drivers are happier and breakable loads are better protected. But the biggest advantage of all, you'll realize, is that the truck itself (sheet metal, tires, chassis components, everything) takes less abuse. With independent front suspension soaking up road shock and vibration, the truck lasts longer, goes extra thousands of miles before trade-in time. Add that to what everybody's always known about Chevy dependability and you find yourself looking at the soundest truck investment you could bet your business on. CHEVROLET

SPOT BOWLING

All-American Says Shoot, Don't Aim

By DICK WEBER

Although some bowling instructors insist that spot bowling is for the advanced bowler only, I don't hesitate to teach it to the inexperienced beginner.

I maintain it is easier to roll the ball consistently over a spot only 10 or 15 feet away from the foul line than it is to hit a target 60 feet distant as the pins are. This latter method of sighting in on the 1-3 pocket is called pin bowling.

Modern lanes are equipped with arrows and range finders inlaid right into the boards. I start my spot bowling instruction by asking the bowler to line up his right shoulder (assuming he is a righthander) with the second arrow from the right-hand edge of the lane. If the bowling lane does not have arrows, I ask them to select a particular board that is shaded lighter or darker than the rest.

The ball, which is directly under the shoulder, should be rolled over that second arrow from the right with a standard hook ball delivery. If the ball goes to the right of the 1-3 pocket, when it contacts the pins, simply roll the ball the next time, one or two boards to the left of the arrow. Conversely, if the ball crosses over to the "Brooklyn" side, roll it a couple of boards to the right of the marker.

Using this spot method, you actually try to reach out with your hand at the end of the delivery and point to the spot about 10 feet down the lane. It's almost impossible to aim this accurately at a distant target.

Your local bowling proprietor has spent good money having the range finders installed on his lanes. Take advantage of this convenience and develop the most important factor in bowling—accuracy.

Tomorrow: Curve vs. Hook.

College Football Critics Rebuffed By Iowa Mentor

By FOREST EVASHEVSKI
Iowa Football Coach
Written for Associated Press

Don't believe some of the critics who are long on lungs and short on knowledge: College football in 1960 does not need to apologize for any aspect of it.

It is well-regulated and administered, a healthy rallying point for students, a tie between the alumni and their alma mater and a Saturday afternoon outlet for the public.

Because a young man is a good football player he can earn a scholarship which might not otherwise be available to him. Football, therefore, provides his means of securing a college education.

Eligibility regulations are a motivating factor in causing the player to improve his grade-point average. If he wants to play, of course, he must achieve the necessary standards and so he must exert himself mentally more than the average student.

The approach to the game is more thorough and scientific than ever before. Our coaching staffs are meticulous in preparation of the players. The game has become so complex that a player must keep mentally alert if he is to master the various situations.

Because of the impact of television and radio, more people than ever before are college football conscious. Seeing it or listening to it, they become attracted and the next move is to be present at the game itself.

Sometimes it seems strange that it has become fashionable to criticize football. Unfortunately, most of these critics do not bother to recognize the true facts. There are many cases where the critic actually has an ax to grind, makes no pretense of being fair and is against football on general principles.

Cleveland's Plum Top NFL Passer

NEW YORK (AP) — Milt Plum of the Cleveland Browns threw his 99th pass of the season without an interception last Sunday and held his place as No. 1 passer in the National Football League. But teammate Jimmy Brown bounced back off the New York Giants defensive platoon too often and dropped from first to third in rushing.

Plum, the Browns' quarterback, held the top spot for the third straight week. He has completed 68 out of 99 attempts, and has gained a total of 1,075 yards and passed for eight touchdowns.

When Cleveland was limited to six yards net on the ground by the Giants, Brown was passed by Jim Taylor of Green Bay and John Crow of St. Louis. Taylor has gained 540 yards on 128 attempts, Crow 524 yards and Brown 521. Brown has the best average of the three, 5.5 yards a carry.

The BULLPEN

With JOHN J. CONNOLLY

CONNOLLY

In the bygone days, when Eddie Maier owned the Vernon Tigers in the Coast League and "Hap" Hogan, one of baseball's immortal funnymen managed the club, they had a young fellow named Gene Doyle who gave up baseball writing because it lacked action. He became the promotional manager for the Vernon Club and to this day has left a mark for others to shoot at but never to equal.

Now in his 70s, Doyle is the dean of sports observers in Los Angeles. He relates vividly his experiences with Barney Oldfield, Jim Jeffries, Frank Chance, Will Rogers and, later, Gene Autrey.

Today one of his closest friends and always his admirer is Fred Haney, former Milwaukee Brave manager. The two had a huddle in L.A. recently and some of their comments are good hot stove league gossip at this time of the year.

"Until baseball gives the signing of ball players back to the managers of major league clubs, it is going to be in trouble," Doyle was telling Haney.

The Milwaukee manager nodded his approval and, to illustrate it, Haney pointed out the case of Johnny Logan, Brave shortstop.

LOGAN HIT for an average of .290 one year while Haney was bossing the club. He wanted a raise in salary. Haney vetoed the raise on the grounds that Logan would purposely foul off pitches he was supposed to bunt.

But Logan went to the Braves' business manager and got his raise over the head of Haney. So that is one of the leading points in today's winter league sermon.

How can a manager get his players to obey when the front office handles the supervising reins?

"If he does," Haney says, "he has to call the player aside and speak to him privately.

"You know," says Haney, "each club has a player representative and if the manager wants to criticize, he must first get permission from the players' representative."

Stengel never wanted Martin to leave the Yanks and said so. He also vetoed the trading of Hank Bauer, but the Yanks' front office thought otherwise and that, as much as Casey's age and pension rights, had as much to do with his replacement as anything else.

DOYLE, WHO first promoted Babe Ruth on his barnstorming tours of California, believes that ownership wants more publicity than it is getting.

For an old codger who hobnobbed with greats of the sport world, Gene Doyle stands today as a shrewd sports observer in any line.

It was Doyle who raised midget racing to its present high level. He took Gene Autrey and Will Rogers and other cowboy actors along the golden path that led them to fame and fortune. And now in his evening of life's span Doyle goes back to his first love—baseball.

"California," according to Doyle, "is baseball's last frontier and if the fans kick it hard enough, they'll lose the greatest entertainment in the world."

This Season Has Put Foot Into Football

By JACK CLARY
Associated Press

If the 1960 college football season accomplishes little else, it will be known for returning, in a big way, the foot to football. And at the same time it may be bidding farewell to the "workhorse" back who has dominated many backfields.

The return of the foot is emphasized, not only in the continuing trend toward the successful use of the field goal, but in the diminishing use of the 2-point conversion try, now in its third season.

Danny Hill, of the National Collegiate Athletic Bureau, comes up with some interesting statistics as the season passed the two-thirds mark.

The 2-point play was used 51.4 per cent of the time the first year it was on the books. Then came the widening of the goal posts, and its usage dropped to 40 per cent in 1959 while this season has seen a further decline to only 29.5 per cent.

At the same time, the accuracy of the place kickers in this period has risen from 68.6 to 79.7 per cent, again getting a boost from the widened goal posts.

The field goal pace is slightly ahead of last year's pace when a record 195 were kicked in major college games. So far 168 have been made.

The disappearance of the "workhorse" is not a sudden thing but there have never been fewer than this season. UCLA's Bill Kilmer, who has played only six games, has handled the ball 321 times for an average of 91 yards per game. In eight games, quarterback Howard Dyer of Virginia Military has averaged 29 attempts per game and has been among the total offense leaders for the season. Terry Baker of Oregon State has averaged 172 yards per game.

Monroe Kayoes Valdez

When Bally Ache was retired to the farm this fall his earnings for two seasons of racing was $756,022.

Frost Only Marinite To Come Home With A 'First' Trophy

Ken Frost, Marin Pirates' star breast stroker, was the lone swimmer of three Marin clubs to come home with a first place from the annual mid-winter championship of the San Francisco Park and Recreation Department last weekend.

Frost turned in a fast 1:09.5 performance in the 15-16 boys' 100-yard breast stroke at San Francisco's Hamilton Plunge Sunday.

Dick Chambers was second in the senior 400-yard freestyle, Bob Girvin second in the 10-and-under boys 50 back and third in the 50 free, George Girvin third in the 13-14 boys 100 butterfly, and Terry Politi third in the 13-14 boys' 100 back.

The Ann Curtis Swim Club was second in the 10-and-under boys' 133⅓-yard freestyle relay, with the team of J. Thompson, M. Thompson, Wilhelm and Cuneo; and third in the same event for 10-and-under girls, with Morris, Cuneo, Guthrie and Thompson competing.

Tamalpais Swim Club's girls 10-and-under free relay, composed of Bright, Krieger, Krieger and Kopan, was fifth in the finals.

Individuals from Marin (all with the Pirates) to reach the finals of the big meet, were: Jeff McCreary, fourth, senior men's back; Gerry Keeler, fifth, 10 and under boys' 50 back; Lynne Keeler, fifth, 13-14 girls' 100 free; Bob Scott, fifth, 15-16 boys' 100 breast; Candy Beeler, sixth, 11-12 girls' 50 breast; Denny Arms, sixth, 11-12 boys' free.

Ron Attwell made an auspicious debut with the Cleveland Barons in the American Hockey League. He scored the winning goals in the team's first two games this season.

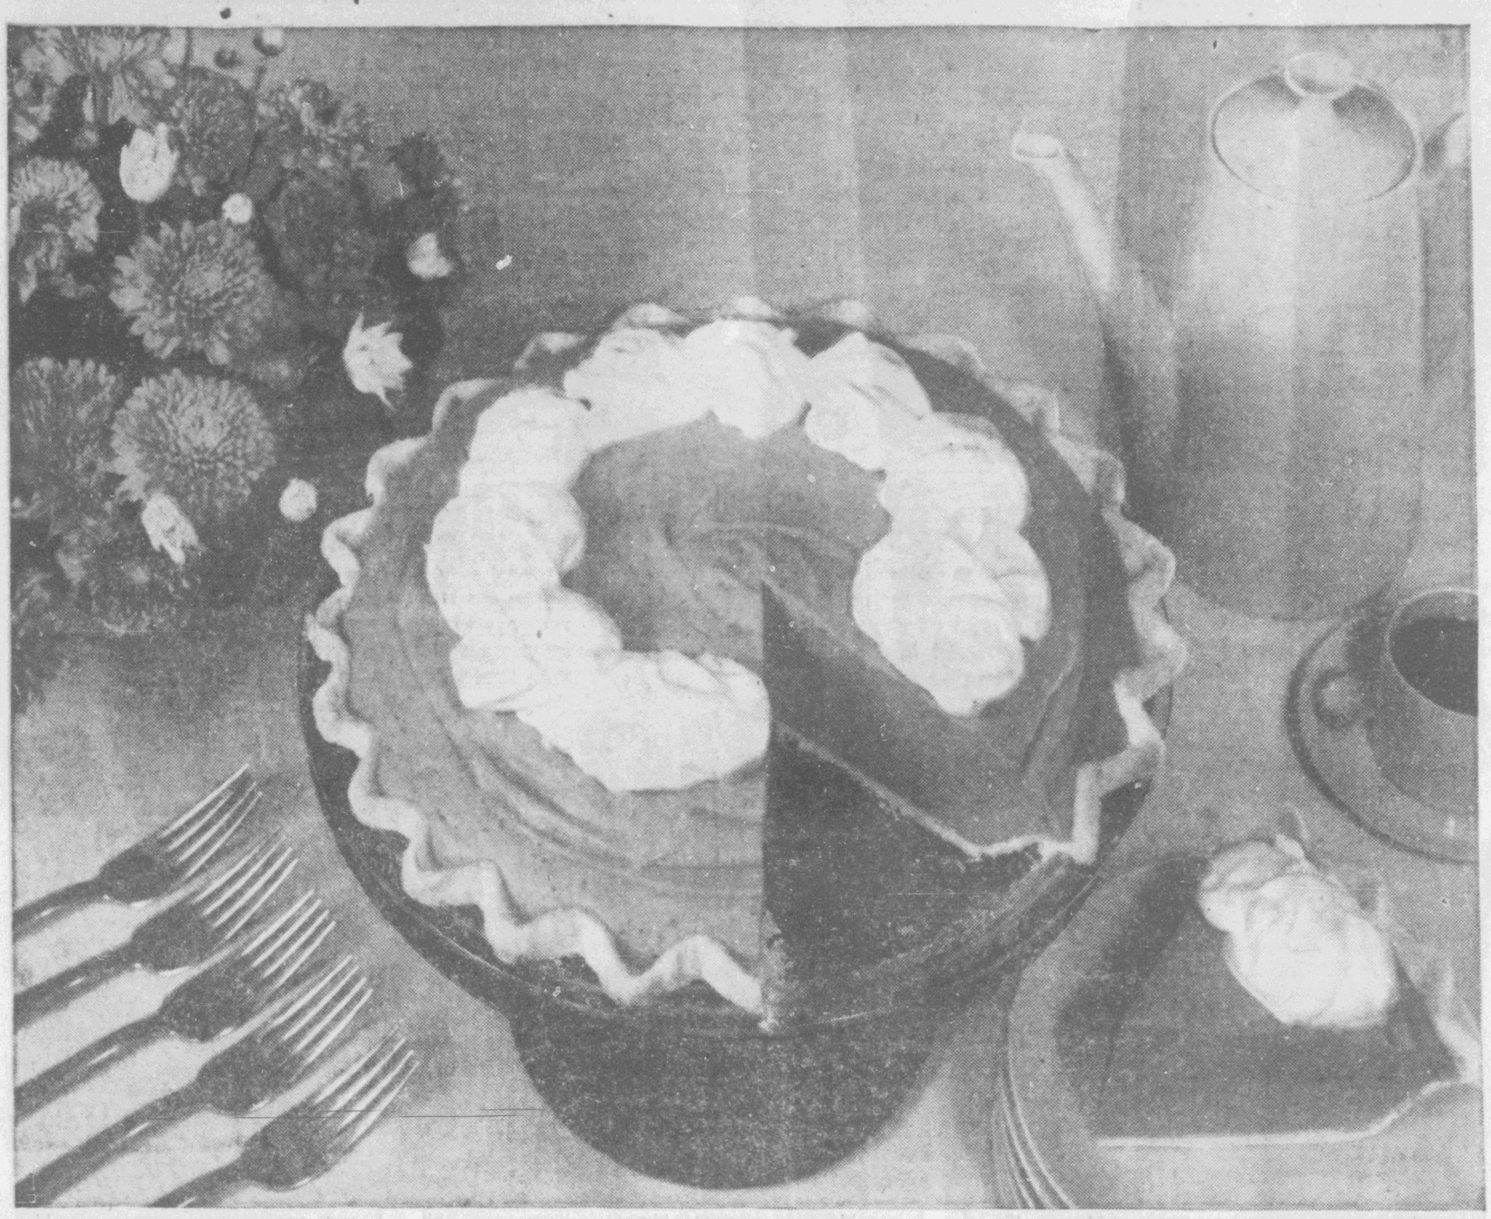
Pumpkin pie goes modern



When shades of harvest gold tinge the countryside, pumpkin pie comes to the dessert fore with its own winning color and flavor A menu treat at dinner parties and afternoon and evening dessert socials, this golden pie will also climax many a Thanksgiving feast.

Now, as in Pilgrim days, the "fixins'" boost pumpkin pie to dessert fame. Eggs and evaporated milk give the filling a smooth custard texture. Ginger and other spices give it distinctiveness of flavor. When the pie is made the modern chiffon way with unflavored gelatine, the filling has a lightness of texture pleasing at the end of a meal.

The easily assembled chiffon filling calls for such modern convenience foods as canned ready-to-use pumpkin and smooth, blendable evaporated milk. Unflavored gelatine, by capturing the air beaten into the egg whites used, gives the filling the fluffiness and dramatic height characteristic of chiffons.

The pumpkin mixture, chilled in a baked pastry crust or in a graham cracker or cooky crumb crust, is trimmed with a low calorie pressurized topping.

PUMPKIN CHIFFON PIE

1 envelope unflavored gelatine
¾ cup sugar, divided
1 teaspoon cinnamon
½ teaspoon each salt, nutmeg and ginger
⅛ teaspoon cloves
⅔ cup evaporated milk
3 eggs, separated
1¼ cups canned pumpkin
1 9-inch baked pastry pie shell

Mix together gelatine, ½ cup of the sugar, salt and spices in medium saucepan. Stir in evaporated milk and egg yolks; blend well. Place over low heat and cook, stirring constantly, until gelatine dissolves and mixture thickens slightly (about 3 minutes). Remove from heat; stir in pumpkin Chill, stirring occasionally, until mixture mounds when dropped from a spoon (about 1 hour). Beat egg whites until stiff, but not dry. Gradually add remaining ¼ cup of sugar and beat until very stiff. Fold in pumpkin mixture. Turn into pie shell; chill until firm. (2 hours or overnight)
YIELD: One 9-inch. pie.

Sumptuous Thanksgiving Feast Insured With Nutritious Menu

A butter baked turkey with all the trimmings is truly a sumptuous Thanksgiving feast. Flavorsome butter adds its own goodness to the fowl, but it also prevents the meaty juices from drying out.

For a decorative and tasty touch, just before serving your golden browned bird, place a large pat of butter on the breast. As the butter melts, it will leave a lustrous glaze down the sides.

You'll want a zesty stuffing for your turkey and Nippy Sour Cream Stuffing fits the bill. Prepared bread stuffing is given your personal touch with tangy dairy sour cream and robust Parmesan cheese.

To take broccoli out of the ordinary vegetable class, butter blaze the spears with a sauce of remarkably good flavor; beef extract sparks this piquant buttery glaze that's poured over the spears when partially cooked.

We find dairy eggnog such a versatile dairy food to use. It's particularly wonderful in dishes calling for a blend of whole sweet milk and eggs. Velvety smooth and creamy, seasoned with just a modicum of spices, you'll find it the perfect ingredient for this delicate chiffon pie that's based on a crust of buttery vanilla wafers.

BUTTER BAKED TURKEY
Shallow roasting pan and rack
1 10-12 lb. turkey
Preheated 325 degree oven
1 cup (2 sticks) butter

Wash and drain turkey; pat dry with paper toweling. Fill with Nippy Sour Cream Stuffing. Truss opening with skewers or stuffing nails and clean cord. Pin neck skin to backbone. Bind legs together and tie wings close to body. Place turkey on rack in shallow pan, breast side up. Soften ½ cup (1 stick) butter, spread over entire turkey covering breast, drumsticks and wings well. Melt remaining butter for basting. Roast, brushing occasionally with melted butter and drippings. Roast 6 to 8-pound bird 3½-4 hours, 8 to 12-pound bird 4-4½ hours and 12 to 16-pound bird 4½-5½ hours. Turkey is done when meat at thickest part of drumstick feels very soft when pressed with protected fingers or when an internal temperature of 185 degrees is reached.

Fish And Vegetables Keep Calories Low

Women with trim figures often use neat kitchen tricks to keep calories low and yet produce delicious food.

One piece of strategy folks usually approve, whether or not they are weight watchers: baked fish stuffed with a savory low-calorie vegetable concoction.

Perhaps this combination tastes so good because it was not evolved for dieters. European cooks have used this method for ages. Recently our Italian-American fish dealer, who knows good food and enjoys giving a little culinary advice, reminded us of it.

He advised us to wilt the vegetables in a little butter before using them to stuff the fish. We have experimented and find that if you like vegetables crisp and want to use very little butter, you may omit this first cooking. However, we have to admit that the classic method of cooking the vegetables first, as directed in the following recipe, produces an extra-delicious stuffing and a small amount of delectable pan sauce.

When it comes to dessert, cooks with low calories on their minds often add a surprise to a simple fruit offering. We like to mix slivers of preserved or candied ginger with orange sections or pineapple chunks. Makes you think you are eating something exotic, especially if the fruit and ginger are served in Oriental-type rice bowls.

VEGETABLE-STUFFED FISH
4½ or 5 pound whole fish
¼ cup butter
1 clove garlic
½ cup diced onion
¼ cup diced celery
½ cup diced green pepper
2 medium or large tomatoes (peeled or chopped)
¼ cup minced parsley
1 teaspoon salt
Pepper to taste

Have fish scaled, fins trimmed, split, cleaned and backbone removed; tail and head should be left on during baking; if desired head may be cut off just before serving. Wipe fish with damp cloth and place in buttered baking pan (about 12 by 8 by 3 inches). Halve and slightly crush garlic; simmer in butter in 8-inch skillet about 5 minutes; discard garlic. Add onion, celery and green pepper to butter in skillet; cook over moderate heat, stirring several times, until wilted — about 5 minutes. Add tomatoes (including any juice), parsley, salt and pepper; stir and heat about 1 minute. Fill fish with most of stuffing; put remainder (including liquid in skillet) over and around fish. Bake in hot (425 degrees) oven until fish flakes easily when tested with a fork—about 45 to 50 minutes. Serve with pan sauce over each portion. Makes 4 to 6 servings.

Picnic Salad

Combine drained canned garbanzo beans, instant minced onion, chopped pimiento, green pepper and Italian salad dressing and chill for several hours. Serve over slices of tomato, avocado and cucumber for a hearty picnic salad.

Frankfurter Supper

Cut 6 frankfurters into ½-inch pieces. Brown frankfurters, 2 tablspoons chopped onion and ¼ cup chopped green pepper in 1 tablespoon lard or drippings. Pour off drippings, add 1 can (16 ounces) cream-style corn and heat through. 3 to 4 servings.

Easy Meal Features Liver, Rice

Bright days find the youngsters outdoors working up keen appetites just at the time when Mother, indoors, is deep in housecleaning with less than usual time for cooking. Sand lot and sand box stars need fuel for energy, and Mom needs something quick and easy to "fill 'em up."

It is a casserole of liver, rice and vegetables, almost a meal in itself. It is very nutritious for liver is a fine source of iron, which helps build good, red blood.

This hearty dish need not take long to prepare. The rice is cooked ahead of time. The vegetables—green pepper, celery and onion—can be cut up quickly and the cooking started as the liver is lightly browned in lard or drippings. Then all ingredients, including a can of tomatoes, go into a casserole which is popped into the oven for 20 to 30 minutes.

LIVER AND RICE CASSEROLE
1 pound sliced beef or pork liver, cut in 1-inch squares
¼ cup chopped green pepper
½ cup chopped celery
1 medium onion, diced
2 tablespoons lard or drippings
1 can (8 ounces) tomato sauce
1 can (16 ounces) tomatoes
1½ teaspoons salt
½ teaspoon pepper
⅛ teaspoon thyme
½ cup grated sharp cheddar cheese

Cook liver, green pepper, celery and onion in lard or drippings until liver is very lightly browned and vegetables are tender. Pour off drippings. Add tomato sauce, tomatoes, salt, pepper, thyme and rice. Pour into greased 1½-quart casserole. Sprinkle grated cheese over the top and bake in a moderate oven (350° F.) 20 to 30 minutes. 4 to 5 servings.

The meeting was held at the Odd Fellows Hall in Mill Valley with arch druidess Mrs. James Rhoades presiding.

Mrs. Marguerite Carpenter was named general chairman for the event to be held at 8:15 p.m. in the Odd Fellows Hall. Among awards to be offered are a turkey and a basket of groceries.

Mrs. Robert Davis presented Mrs. Edward Beach with her past arch druidess's pin.

Dance Assn. Has Jamboree

Isabel Cook School in San Anselmo was the scene Saturday of the first gala party for beginner square dancers who are attending the classes sponsored by the Marin County Square Dance Association.

Lively patter and singing calls were sung by Jack McKay, noted San Francisco caller. The dancers were also treated to instruction in some mixer dances and "rounds" such as are used regularly in square dance clubs.

With the help of the wives of the group, the committee in charge offered refreshments. In charge of arrangements were Lee and Paul Wipfli, assisted by Janie and Tex Canellias, and Nancy and Dave Munro.

The class is looking forward to the next Saturday party on Nov. 19, when Merle Basom of Double Diamonds in Novato will be the caller.

Educator Says The Youngsters Reading More Than Before

By GAY PAULEY

NEW YORK (UPI)—Some educators charge that Johnnie can't read. Others reply that Johnnie can read, his reading diet is more varied than ever before, and he is better informed than his counterpart of a few years back.

Among this latter group you'll have to count Mrs. Martha Shapp, a woman who has spent 25 years in child education and has written several books for children.

"The youngsters are reading more than ever before," said Mrs. Shapp, in an interview. "But I'm not sure they're reading all the same things we did."

Mrs. Shapp, a blonde, brown-eyed mother of two teenagers, said that many of today's parents and teachers fret that the children aren't absorbing the classics they grew up on.

"I don't think this is what matters so much," said Mrs. Shapp. "I do think the thing that counts is having the books available for the children and letting them choose what they want.

"After all, times keep changing. I for one never had a horror of children reading the comics or what's on the label of the ketchup bottle."

Mrs. Shapp, who is editor of the children's encyclopedia, "The Book of Knowledge," made her observations on the eve of the annual National Children's Book Week, Nov. 13-19.

"We know from research," she said, "that children have a much better background today than they did 25 years ago. The Book of Knowledge still answers a child's question on why a fly can walk on the ceiling. But today, the encyclopedia has to have a whole section devoted to aviation and another to the atom.

"I could read a whole article on the principles of nuclear fission and still not know what it's all about," she smiled. "Today's child reading the same thing is completely aware . . . he's grown up in the atom age."

"He is more exposed to knowledge than ever before . . . in the newspapers, on radio or television, in the movies. No wonder the kids are sharper."

To parents worried about the children's hours in front of a television set, she would say, don't worry. Television is one of the media which broadens their knowledge. But make sure there are plenty of books in reach so that a child has "a chance to learn the pure joy of reading."

Michael Smith Weds In Sacramento Rites

Married recently at the Wedding Chapel in Sacramento were Michael Bruce Smith and Glenda Loye Compton. For the ceremony the bride, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Loy C. Compton of Orangevale, Calif., wore a full length gown of white Chantilly lace and tulle. The fitted bodice was designed with a sweetheart neckline trimmed with pearls and sequins. The sleeves were long and tapered over the wrists. The bouffant skirt had a lace apron effect and tiers of lace and tulle were alternated on the bottom and back of the skirt. A coronet of lace, pearls and sequins held the fingertip veil. Stephanotis and white orchids were in the bridal bouquet.

The bridesmaids, Carla Jean Compton, sister of the bride, and Marcia Vander Powert, who lives in Citrus Heights, were gowned like the maid of honor. The three year old flower girl, Karen Knudsen of Orangevale, wore a full skirted frock of romance blue. She carried a bouquet which was a miniature of the maid of honor's. The ring bearer, Rickey Miranda of Fair Oaks, is a cousin of the bride.

Best man for the bridegroom, who is the son of Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Smith of San Rafael, long time residents of Marin, was Ralph Cechettini of San Rafael and ushers were Michael Cohen and Robert Goddini of San Anselmo.

For the wedding the bride's mother wore a lilac peau de soie gown with purple accessories. Her flowers were pale lilac tinted stephanotis. The bridegroom's mother wore a rose beige satin brocade sheath with otter colored accessories. Green cymbidium were her flowers.

After a honeymoon in Southern California, the newlyweds will reside in San Rafael where the bridegroom is associated in business with the L. C. Smith's Building Supplies, Inc. He has one sister, Mrs. H. J. Dauphinee of Los Ranchitos, and is the grandson of the late Mr. and Mrs. Alfred C. Smith of San Francisco and the late Mr. and Mrs. Ludwig Trager of Redwood City.

The bride is the granddaughter of Mrs. Wilma Compton of Sacramento and the late Robert E. Compton, and of Roy C. Fletcher of Pollock Pines, Calif. and the late Mrs. Fletcher.

Local Author Speaker At Radcliffe Meet

The first fall meeting of the Radcliffe Club of San Francisco was held at the home of the new president, Mrs. Esther C. Whitman of Belvedere, on Saturday. Co-hostesses for the luncheon event were Mrs. Joseph Marshall and Mrs. Robert Sheeks.

Program director, Mrs. Ira Markwett, who recently moved to Belvedere from San Francisco, introduced the guest speaker, Mrs. Sandol Stoddard Warburg, author of "The Thinking Book." Mrs. Warburg autographed copies of her book for club members Mrs. Cayford Burrell of Beach Road, Mrs. John Bolles and Miss Eleanor Kent of San Francisco, and others from the East Bay, the Peninsula and San Jose.

In the question and answer period following Mrs. Warburg's talk, she expressed her underlying theme and philosophy as "the truth of imagination." It is her feeling that there are too many factual books written for children today that aim to teach rather than encourage the child "to thinks, enjoy and imagine." Mrs. Warburg hopes that her works capture the original essence of a child's thoughts expressed in his own inventive vocabulary. She writes with the adult in mind, as well, hoping they will enjoy reading and re-reading her story.

Azarians Style Show Set Sunday

"Togs for Teens" is the theme for the third show of fashions for high school boys and girls to be presented by The Azarians, St. Raphael's parish high school club. So successful has this activity been the past two years that it now appears destined to be an annual event of The Azarians.

This year's program will be presented Sunday evening, Nov. 13, beginnig at 7 o'clock in the auditorium of St. Raphael's School. Twenty-four boys and girls, all members of The Azarians, will model teen-age fashions from San Rafael stores, the ensembles being described to the audience by club members Sue Denman and Ernie Carlson.

While "Togs for Teens" is a show of high school fashions, committee members for the program make it clear that admission is open to all, regardless of age. They add, however, that a special invitation is extended to all high school students to remain after the fashion show for dancing until 10:30 p.m.

Arrangements have been made for tickets to be available through any member of The Azarians as well as at the door Sunday evening.

Joint Meeting Of Jr. Theater Groups Held

Attending the coffee meeting were the Mesdames Walter Haas, president, James Maillard, A. E. Peterson, Harold Brown, Charles Lebo, B. B. Vincent Lyon, and William Stephens, Jr., from San Francisco.

Marin County Junior Theater members present were Mrs. Heynemann, president, Mrs. Charles D. McPherson, program chairman, and Mrs. Wallace Painter.

The San Francisco group also outlined procedures of operation that were of interest to the newer Marin County organization.

Marin County Junior Theater's first presentation will be "Cinderella," scheduled for Jan. 7 at San Rafael High School, and produced by Martha Bigelow Eliot.

Women Who Dye Don't Ask Hubby For Permission

CHICAGO (UPI) — Gentlemen may prefer blondes, but this axiom has nothing to do with why women tint hair, says one expert.

Thelma Henderson, who teaches hair-coloring techniques (for Clairol) finds that most women tint to be in style. "Or else they're talked into it by other women," she said. "Once a woman decides to change her hair color, she generally does it, whether her husband likes the results or not."

Husbands who don't approve beforehand usually get used to the new color in time, Miss Henderson said. "So it really isn't too important to get their approval."

Miss Henderson estimated that three of 10 women now use some kind of permanent hair-coloring. Another two of 10 use rinses and "as far as the other 50 per cent are concerned, it's only a matter of time," she said.

Women Accountants

Sidney Garfield, chairman of the board of Garfield, Hoffman & Conners, Inc., an advertising agency in San Francisco, will be guest speaker at a dinner meeting of the American Society of Women Accountants on Wednesday, Nov. 16, at the Whitcomb Hotel, 6:15 p.m.

For six years, Mr. Garfield was a member of the steering committee for NAAN, an international group of advertising agencies for whom he developed a number of internal management and financial innovations. Subject for his talk at the meeting is "Plan your miracle and you can have it."

Boston 'U' Dean Of Women Gives Opening Jubilee Address

NEW YORK CITY, CONVENTION HOTEL—More than 2600 adults and 600 Horizon Club Girls — representatives from the 10 Camp Fire Regions in the United States—were welcomed by Elsbeth Elwell, Dean of Women of Boston University, at the opening session of the Golden Jubilee Convention here in New York.

As she received the first issue of the Camp Fire Commemorative stamp from Franklin R. Bruns, director of Phelantalic Society, Dean Elwell acknowledged the tribute he bestowed upon the Camp Fire Girls for their acceptance of responsibility, unselfish service and contribution to the young women of the world.

Participating as guest speaker, Miss Martha Allen, national director of Camp Fire Girls, spoke on "Imperishable Values." Our objectives, she said, are to provide meaningful experiences to the growth and development of the individual girl and her community, experiences which make possible the encouragement and strengthening of those qualities and characteristics to the building of an enriched life as a person living and working with others, fulfilling her role as a woman, citizen with a sense of dedication and high purposes."

Region Ten, California, Nevada, Utah, Hawaii, were represented by 122 persons, eight of which were from Marin County.

They included Mesdames Edward Zeller, Council president; Robert Eschen, national Council member; Robin Galloway, Council board member. W. G. Vaughan, executive director; Mrs. Alfred Girot, regional representative; Alfred Girot, Council member, Antoinette Girot and Marlene Gavello, Horizon Club representatives.

Ten Girl Scout Troops Have Campout At Sky Oaks

At the request of many fifth grade Girl Scout troop leaders, the Troop Camp Committee of the Marin Girl Scout Council originated a plan whereby two weekends were reserved for fifth grade troops at Girl Scout Camp Sky Oaks in Fairfax. Weekend plans were made by each troop with the Troop Camp Committee assisting leaders when needed. Mrs. Robert E. Jones, San Anselmo, are Mrs. James Raby, Santa Venetia, acted as coordinators for the weekends.

This was the first overnight troop camping experience for most of the girls and leaders, and both weekends proved a happy experience for the 10 participating troops. The girls laid trails, learned tree and bird identification, had a compass hike, cooked their own meals, and slept under the stars.

The troops also had the advantage of having Senior Scouts Kathy Yates of Larkspur, Susan Klarkowski of Santa Venetia, Beth Jones, Nicky Marculescu and Lynda Touatt, Fairfax; Nancy Sparks, Maribeth Shouinard, Caroline Schendel, all of San Anselmo, assisting in their weekend programs.

Baptist Theological Seminary Rents Whole Apartment House

Faced with the problem of assuring additional housing facilities for some new 182 students a year, the Golden Gate Baptist Theological Seminary on Strawberry Point has leased an entire apartment house outright.

Premises contracted for are the 42-unit Merrydale Apartments on Merrydale Road, San Rafael on a three-year lease with an additional three-year renewal option. Present tenants will not be evicted but as vacancies occur they will be held as accommodations for students and their families.

The Merrydale Apartments are owned by San Rafael Associates, Inc. The transaction was handled through the office of San Rafael real estate broker John Zunich.

OUT TO MAKE HIS MARK. Young man on the rise in Marin is Jan Mark, 49 Valencia Street, San Rafael, who has been made manager of Walter Blair's chain, Laundromatic Co. of Larkspur.

Mark is only three years removed from Sweden whence he started in business as a grocery clerk, became a "dackbefalselev" on the Johnson Steamship Lines, then served a spell in clerical work in Corte Madera.

His management of the Laundromatic Co. takes in the firm's eight establishments in Marin: San Rafael Launderette, the Washomat and Bret Harte Washette and Dry Cleaners in San Rafael; Self Service Laundry and Hurricane Gulch Laundromat in Sausalito, and the San Anselmo, Fairfax and Larkspur Launderettes.

SAN RAFAEL RESIDENT Gerald O. Melbo who has been five years with Crown Zellerbach Corp. in the San Francisco printing papers service engineering division will transfer to Portland, Oregon on January 1 as sales representative for Oregon, Washington, Idaho, Alaska and British Columbia. He lives with his wife and family at 51 Rollingwood Drive.

MOTORCRAFT. Although 14-inch tires have been in use for the past four years, the 6.70-15 size is still the biggest retail seller, says B. F. Goodrich Co. It accounted for 35 per cent of all replacements last year. The 14-inch tire will eventually lead the field . . . Oldsmobile reports a 24 per cent increase in sales during the second 10 days of October over the same period a year ago . . . Anti-pollution device is now available on new models of Ford Motor Co. and Studebaker-Parkard Corp. cars . . . Some gas mileage claims by auto manufacturers may be altered soon if the Federal Trade Commission finds they are contrary to fact . . .

DON'T LOOK for any radical change in the course of the stock market as a result of the election, says Investors Research Co.

Elections can have a vital influence over a period of time but the immediate impact is rarely great, it declares. A president can shape the course of the nation but he must do it slowly.

The reporting service adds that the stock market is just beginning to recover from a sharply oversold position. The main trend may remain level or down, but recovery efforts should proceed into December.

County Might Get Schools Science Fair

Tamalpais Union High School District will discontinue sponsorship of the annual Marin County science fair — if the county schools office will assume responsibility for a county wide fair.

District trustees made that decision Monday night after noting that the Tamalpais event had become so big it was considered the official Marin elimination event for the Bay Area Science Fair.

Supt. Chester G. Carlisle said county school officials were receptive to the idea of sponsoring the fair. He indicated Tamalpais facilities would be available for use by the county.

Trustees awarded two contracts for work that will make possible the final paving of Lucky Drive at Redwood high. Duncanson-Harrelson Co. of Oakland, which submitted a low bid of $8,572, was awarded the contract for structural piling to support the Redwood high sewer line. A contract for the drainage culvert and tide gate at the lucky drive crossing of the Redwood Property was awarded to McClure Construction Co. of Oakland, on a low bid of $5,216.

Albert Seimer was appointed inspector for both jobs. Work will begin immediately, and take about a month to complete.

The board also authorized the architectural firm of Gromme and Priestley to prepare working drawings to extend Doherty Drive to the Redwood parking lot. When the street is completed, it will extend from Henry C. Hall school to Redwood. The city of Larkspur and the district are sharing the cost.

Robert Rogers of Sausalito commended Redwood students for their conduct and spirit at football games. Board members agreed that all principals, vice principals and coaches should be complimented, too.

The board adjourned to 8 p.m. today. Items to be discussed then include the bond election and improvement of the Miller avenue intersection in front of Tamalpais high.

Corte Madera Council Relaxes On Size Of Signs

Corte Madera relaxed a bit Monday night on its stringent law controlling the size of signs.

An amendment to the sign ordinance, passed unanimously, applies only to signs in highway commercial zones, however, affecting only the area occupied by the Edgewater Inn and an uninproved area in Fifer Industrial Park.

The new law increases the maximum size of allowable signs in those zones from 200 to 300 square feet. It also allows elevations of buildings not facing streets to be figured in sign area permits but reduces the allowable sign size for "tiny" buildings—those with less than 20 feet of frontage. Prior to the amendment, such business were allowed 50 square feet of sign area. They are now allowed only one square foot for each foot of frontage.

All-Star Honors Go To Two In Marin 4-H

Sue Fitzharris of San Rafael and Loren Youngclaus of Fairfax walked away with 1960 all-star honors at the annual 4-H achievement awards Saturday night in Novato.

Also honored were Mr. and Mrs. Warren Kingsley of Novato who were selected as 4-H leaders who have given outstanding service. A perpetual trophy in the form of a silver tray was awarded the Kingsleys which they will hold for one year.

Miss Fitzharris, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Fitzharris, 1235 Grand Avenue, San Rafael is a senior at the University of California at Davis majoring in home economics. She has been a 4-H Club member for 10 years and has had projects in clothing, food preparation, food preservation, home furnishing and junior leader.

Youngclaus, son of Mr. and Mrs Bryan Youngclaus, 10 Court Lane, Fairfax, is a student at Fresno State College majoring in agriculture. He has been a member of the Ross Valley 4-H Club for nine years and has carried projects in home grounds beautification, rabbits, poultry, sheep and junior leader. He was a national winner in Citizenship in the National 4-H Club Awards Program in 1959.

More than 150 awards were made during the evening to leaders in various fields of 4-H activity.

Education Board To Meet Twice Monthly

Marin County Board of Education has decided to start next January holding two meetings per month instead of one.

On suggestion of member Theodore V. Cole, the board voted 6 to 0 Monday night, with Harry Press absent, to schedule two meetings each month, on the first and third Mondays. The second meeting will be subject to cancellation by the president on a week's notice if not enough business is on the agenda.

Cole said he hopes that by holding two meetings, the sessions will not last so long.

Cost to the taxpayers will be just about double. Members of the board get $10 plus mileage for each meeting. Members of the staff, usually at least five in number, who attend the meetings do not get overtime for being present, except for the recording secretary. An attempt is made, however, to give them compensatory time off.

In other actions, the board of education:

1. Set its next meeting for Dec. 12 at 8 p.m. instead of Dec. 5, because of a scheduling conflict.
2. Had as guests members of the county office's nursing and special education staff.
3. Gave approval to drawing plans for ultimate expansion of the Marinwood School for handicapped children to five classrooms to accommodate 30 to 50 children depending on the type of classes retained there.
4. Received a report from John J. Gallas, chairman of the Marin County Library Advisory Committee, on its first year's activities. The committee has reviewed 316 books, accepted 228 for use as supplemental textbooks in county schools, and rejected 88 others. The board voted a resolution of appreciation for activities of the committee.
5. Set Friday, Dec. 23, as a legal holiday for county school office employees.

Policeman Forming New Corporation

Inspector Nick P. Giampoli of San Rafael Police Department is forming a corporation in San Rafael to give information, telephone answering, investigation and other services to merchants and citizens of Marin.

The firm, called Specialized Services Inc., has filed articles of incorporation with Secretary of State Frank M. Jordan in Sacramento. Listed as directors are Giampoli and his wife, Kathryn, of 92 Louise Street, San Rafael, and attorney P. Roy Vallarino of San Rafael.

Giampoli said officers of the corporation have not been selected as yet. Vallarino is the legal adviser.

Giampoli will continue to work as inspector for the police department. He said his connection with the new firm will be only as one of the directors, and the actual work will be done by other employees of the firm. The personal services firm will be located at 1850 Fourth Street.

County School Heads Harm Their Plan—Or Did They?

At their recent convention in' Sacramento, the Association of California County School Superintendents did serious damage to their efforts to make the job of county superintendent appointive.

We, for example, have been leaning toward the idea. But the actions of the association made us wonder more than a little bit.

In an amazing resolution, they struck out at everyone and everything that apparently has been bothering them. They called for less "childish, irresponsible, unscientific, prejudiced and inaccurate criticism of public education."

They urged "responsible, constructive and accurate criticism" but only "within the framework of the accepted purposes of public education." Accepted by them, obviously.

They resolved that the association "take all positive steps within its means to combat the tendency of all too many of our news media to emphasize only the negative aspects of our educational programs while astutely ignoring the many positive aspects to be found in every community."

This same resolution called for their jobs to be appointive, all but four in the state are now elective. It also urged that they receive "a salary commensurate with the educational leadership and administrative responsibilities inherent in the position with only minimum salary limits set by law.

Isn't this the same organization which just three years ago pushed through the legislature a law which tied the county superintendent's salary to the average daily attendance in his district? And didn't that new law actually cause a reduction in the Marin County superintendent's salary? It sure did.

The resolution still wasn't complete. It called for county boards of education to be "fiscally independent" as school districts are. We assume they mean by that, that a county board should have the right to set its own tax rate, float bonds, etc.

In our time we've seen some all-encompassing resolutions. But for jamming so many specifics into one package that the convention had to swallow, this about takes the cake.

It must have been difficult for the Marin superintendent, Virgil Hollis, to take a position. He opposes appointment of county superintendents, but we're sure he'd like a raise as much as anyone would. We hope he doesn't feel the I-J is "astutely ignoring the many positive aspects" of education in Marin.

On second thought, that "childish, irresponsible, unscientific and prejudiced" resolution might make us back appointive superintendents. If the present elective method puts in educators who will vote a resolution like that, maybe we better make the jobs appointive, throw out those who are in, and appoint some new and better superintendents, responsive to the public instead of insulting.

LINCOLN GAVE A WARNING

The government "is your business" was the point hammered home by President-elect Abraham Lincoln in a speech at Indianapolis, February 11, 1861. He was enroute to Washington to take his oath of office. Here is a portion of that famous talk:

"I wish you to remember, now and forever, that it is your business, and not mine; that if the union of these States and the liberties of these people shall be lost, it is but little to any one man of fifty-two years of age, but a great deal to the thirty millions of people who inhabit these United States, and to their posterity in all coming time.

"It is your business to rise up and preserve the Union and liberty for yourselves, and not for me. I appeal to you again to constantly bear in mind that not with politicians, not with Presidents, not with office-seekers, but with you, is the question: Shall the Union and shall the liberties of this country be preserved to the latest generations?"

God expects you to make government "your business."

"You have been called to liberty, brethren; only do not make liberty an occasion for sensuality." (Galatians 5:13)

Keep me mindful of the responsibilities that accompany the blessings of freedom, O Lord.

This Is Day Losing Candidates Should Put Cotton In Their Ears

"Well, at least your mother stayed in your corner all the way."

"We just found 50,000 of your campaign leaflets that somebody forgot to distribute. Would you like them for souvenirs?"

"Naturally the party is proud of the constructive fight you waged, and of course we'd like your advice on whom to run the next time, but—"

"Of course, you could always try again. But if you ask my opinion, I'd suggest you find yourself a less expensive hobby."

"Our preliminary check shows that the only precincts you carried were those in which you never made a speech."

"The telephone company just called up and asked when you are going to take your picture off its poles."

"Let's put it this way: The voters know what you were talking about — but you didn't."

"The smartest thing you did was to send the winner a congratulatory telegram collect."

"The caterer called to say that if you still want that cavier for the victory dinner you can now have it at half price."

"Is it true that you plan to open a law office—that is, if you can find a partner?"

"The party chairman sent in a final name. He wants to know where to address your mail in the event someone wants to get in touch with you."

"Is it okay if I borrow a couple of boxes of this unused confetti? I can take them home for my kid's next birthday party."

"As I see it, the election boiled down simply to this: You wound up with the principles — and your opponent wound up with the votes."

"Your ghost writers have all gone back to their regular jobs. So I guess you'll have to sit down and draft the letter of appreciation to the faithful party workers."

"Gee, dad, you still have my vote. I thought you did real swell."

"Now about those unpaid campaign bills—"

WHAT OUR READERS SAY

College Proud Of Football Team

EDITOR,
Independent-Journal:

I read your interesting and informative articles in the Nov. 4 edition of the I-J concerning the future of football at the College of Marin.

First of all, as vice president of the student body and sports editor of the College of Marin newspaper, I was appalled by the statement of a school trustee that, "the students (at Marin) are ashamed of their football team." There are on every college campus a few budding pseudo-intellectuals who, under any circumstances take advantage of opportunities to criticize the athletic program, just as a matter of principal.

Working on the campus newspaper, in student government, and as president of the Inter-Club Council, I come in contact with a real cross-section of our student body.

The students of College of Marin are proud of their football team. We have lost every game this season, and, yet, after our last game we carried Coach Harry Pieper off the field! Why? Because we had only 17 men on our ball club, many of whom have little or no previous football experience, and they still played a tremendous game, and we ARE proud of them.

For a time earlier in the season, some students were critical of the football team. Soon, however, they realized why we weren't winning every game. They realized that the Tars were playing against teams that had three times as many men on them, teams that were composed of men who had played a great deal of football, and still our boys were never letting up.

The Yuba game is an illustration of the real Marin spirit. The Tars, who were behind 28-0, with only eight minutes left in the contest, came back with such an effort as to punch over two touchdowns and nearly a third, and keep the fans on their feet for most of the second half.

Then we played Napa College in our traditional homecoming game. Powerful Napa, who sported a huge 46-man squad with a good record, was outplayed and outfought, as we were edged 14-12 in one of the most exciting contests I have ever witnessed. Not only were College of Marin's rooters proud of our team, but as I walked off the field several students shouted, "What college has the spirit in Northern California?" And in reply they yelled,, "Marin!" And, an adult Napa rooter standing nearby chimed in, "That's for sure!"

Discontinue football at College of Marin? Why? Because our rooters are on their feet cheering the team for their great fighting spirit — even though it's our 13th straight loss—and then run out and carry Coach Pieper off the field?

Yes, we want a football team at College of Marin, and, what's more, we ARE proud of the one we have!

The Fable Of The Red Squirrel

Independent-Journal:

I suggest this fable should be dedicated to the gentleman named Kephart who had much to say on your editorial page concerning nature, inhuman court orders, and housing equality.

Once there was a little red squirrel who was born in a nest in a tree in a forest. When he was old enough to fend for himself his mother failed one day to return, and the little red squirrel left the nest to find his way in the world. He was a happy and loyal little god-fearing squirrel, and he set out to discover a pleasant new home.

Shortly he came upon a lovely glen where there was water, plenty of nuts, and an unoccupied hollow log. Just as he began to build a bed, five large and angry squirrels descended upon him from nearby trees and demanded that he find another place to live. They told him they had decided before he was born that they would not share their nut supply with any newcomers; so the little red squirrel moved on.

He walked and walked to another part of the forest, and being a smart little fellow he gathered all the nuts he could carry along the way. When he found another pleasant spot he felt very good, because this time he had all the food any squirrel could want. But once again a group of squirrels appeared. They told him he could not live there because they had all agreed to reserve that part of the woods, and it didn't matter how many nuts he had. They were much more courteous than the first squirrels had been because they were good God-fearing squirrels. They told him so. And they also said there was nothing personal in their actions. But the little red squirrel had to move on.

The third place he found also had squirrels nearby who told the tired little squirrel he could not stay. He could not understand. In this spot there was an abundance of room. But the others just laughed and pointed at him and asked if he could not see that they were all gray and he was not.

So the little red squirrel moved on again. And the farther he went, the more he wondered:

What is it in the Laws of Nature or in the Justice of God that makes it right to deny one little red squirrel the chance to prove that he would be a good neighbor?

TRY AND STOP ME

BENNETT CERF

An ambitious couple sent their 12-year-old daughter to a fashionable school, hoping to eradicate her tomboy traits. A fortnight later they received this note: "Hi fans! Your worries are over. I'm really growing very ladylike. All we talk about here is boys. Please send me a water pistol. Love, Jill."

I-J REPORTER'S NOTEBOOK

By RANDALL GOULD

Maybe GL 3-0185 Has Special Class For Potential Dog Owners

Dear GL 3-0185:

Thank you for that interesting sheet headed "Important Information For Dog Owners" delivered to my home in Mill Valley and signed Marin County Court House, San Rafael.

You ask me to phone, but you raise such complicated matters that I feel I should write instead.

Probably you will see this somehow because everybody reads the I-J. I meant to deliver by hand at the court house when I went over to report the Marin County Board of Supervisors, but a hitch developed.

WHEN I TRIED to check your phone number on the county list, I just couldn't locate it. So I called you and find you are at 402 Third Street, San Rafael, well off my beat. And it made me just a mite suspicious for if you don't give your true address, how can you be trusted with intimate information about dogs?

As a matter fo fact, I feel pretty generally confused.

In the first place, your info sheet was specifically addressed to "Dog Owners" and as it happens, I am not a dog owner just now. I don't own a cat either which is also regrettable. Do you care much, or any?

The sheet says "If you DO NOT own a dog, kindly phone GL 3-0185."

What kind of thing is this? Here I am being addressed as what I am not, being asked to report what I don't own, to somebody unknown, who is not even at the court house as he claims to be!

NATURALLY I FEEL reluctant as well as sort of mixed up. And you may consider it just your dumb luck that I didn't wad that sheet up and throw it into my home fireplace without even reading it, since it was addressed to dog owners and, as I was saying, I don't now own any dog.

But actually I used not long ago to own a dog, a fine big black standard poodle named Lucifer. Does that have some bearing?

Of course there is the factor that Lucifer and I lived together in Colorado, not California. If you don't think I miss Lucifer, and sometimes Colorado as well, you are mighty wrong. Lucifer was about the smartest dog you ever saw and Colorado is a mighty fine state.

Lucifer was well trained before I met him. He was one of the few dogs you ever saw that wouldn't jump up on people. That was lucky because he was one of the biggest poodles that ever happened!

I suppose if he had jumped up against the average person, taken by surprise, he'd have just knocked that person down. But he never tried.

What's more, Lucifer would not scratch our front door. He would just sit there and look hopefully till somebody let him in.

KEPT US RIGHT on the alert because we loved Lucifer and didn't want to make him wait. Our house was on Lookout Mountain west of Denver, 7,600 feet altitude. Gets pretty nippy there, not meaning to joke—Lucifer never nipped anybody but he did all right on the other dogs.

Lucifer didn't beg at table. But he had a terrific appetite. I suppose you hear a lot about that from dog owners you get calls from.

Don't give my name to anybody with a spare poodle because I just shoudn't be tempted. The I-J keeps me humping and my wife has to make trips to see her mother in Berkeley and really, we couldn't right now give a good poodle the company he'd crave.

MAYBE WE'RE BEST off just cultivating the neighbors' dogs and cats that come around. Once in a while we see a deer. But no raccoons; funny.

On the whole I would like to keep up a good contact with you for after all, it is kind of you to take an interest. And I suppose I am what you might call a potential dog owner.

Maybe you have a special class for me on your records. Think it over.

Must We Limit Campaign Oratory To Curb Soviet Propaganda?

WASHINGTON — The purpose of this column is to examine how the Soviet propogandists have used the controversies of our presidential campaign to their propaganda advantage.

I do not criticize John Kennedy for expressing his views on "declining U. S. prestige." It is proper to argue about it and to do so is clearly within the American political tradition.

Thus the problem we face is whether in todays' world we can safely afford the excesses of "campaign oratory."

A U. S. PRESIDENTIAL campaigner is no longer conducted in national privacy. The whole world was listening. More than that, the Soviets were grabbing at every usable statement and beaming it to Asia, Africa, Latin America and to their own people.

Quoting from Kennedy and Adlai Stevenson, whose statements are being used as were the Republican statements about "Truman's war" in 1952, the Soviet propaganda concentrates on these main themes:

That Americans are accepting as fact "the rise of authority of the Soviet Union and the whole socialistic camp."

That the United States has "lost the peaceful initiative" which is now in the hands of the Communists.

INEVITABLY THE Soviet radio and press use a good deal of Kennedy's campaign statements to persuade the world that the wave of the future is Communistic.

Over and over again, in first one language and then another, they quote Kennedy on the "rise of Soviet influence" and invite their listeners to note this rise.

The next most quoted campaigner is Stevenson. The Communists used nearly the full text of his Denver speech of Oct. 3; and the editorial board of the Union of Soviet Journalists announced that "it shared his criticism of the present policy of the U. S. A." Of course, the Soviets never use Kennedy's statements on how he aims to make America stronger and increase its influence.

The question I raise is based on both the 1952 and the 1960 campaigns:

In the kind of survival struggle in which we are now engaged with the Communists, should the candidates accept some voluntary discipline so that our "campaign oratory" does not become a ready-made tool thrust into the hands of the Communists to be effectively turned against us.

I AM NOT PROPOSING that we pass a law about this. I am not suggesting that the party out of power should refrain from criticising.

I am simply suggesting that when another campaign comes around the candidates might give a little extra attention to the excesses of "campaign oratory." But I would favor bold criticism rather than let the Communist propagandists undercut the free give-and-take of our elections.

HARRY UNDERWOOD
New president

Mill Valleyan Heads Marin Shrine Club

Harry Underwood of 8 Terrace Avenue, Mill Valley, has been elected president of the Marin County Shrine Club, it was announced today.

Named to serve with him for 1961 were C. R. DeWitt, San Anselmo, first vice president: Marvin E. Lechner, San Rafael, second vice president; Harold G. Sellers, San Rafael, secretary-treasurer, and John J. Wollak, San Anselmo, executive officer.

Owl Doesn't Give Hoot About House

A "burglar" reported "trying windows and doors" in a San Rafael home about 4:40 a.m. yesterday turned out to be an owl flapping about helplessly, trying to get out.

Kirk Hendrick Laferte of 345 Paloma Street called police when he heard noises downstairs. Officer Charles Hickey found the owl making himself comfortable on the fireplace mantel.

Laferte and police opened windows and doors and shooed the owl, but it kept flying from room to room. Hickey got a large grocery bag, captured the owl and released it outside.

Driver Escapes Injuries As Car Blaze Starts

The car of Donald Eberhardt of San Francisco burst into flames at 11:47 p.m. Monday as Eberhardt drove off Bridgeway at Gate 3 on his way to work at Lando Products Inc. in Marinship.

Eberhardt told firemen he noticed smoke coming from the back seat when he turned in to Gate 3, then as he drove down the ramp, the car "exploded," he said. He escaped unharmed. The 1954 hardtop was gutted. Cause of fire was unknown.

THERE OUGHTA BE A LAW

ALMANAC

Today is Wednesday, Nov. 9, the 314th day of the year with 52 more in 1960.

The moon is approaching its last quarter.

The morning star is Mars.

The evening stars are Jupiter, Venus and Saturn.

On this day in history:

In 1918, Kaiser Wilhelm II of Germany announced that he had agreed to abdicate his throne.

In 1933, President Franklin Roosevelt created the civil works administration to provide jobs for more than 4 million unemployed persons.

In 1935, led by John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers, a group of labor leaders affiliated with the American Federation of Labor held a meeting to organize a committee for industrial organization within the framework of the parent organization.

In 1953, the Supreme Court ruled that big-league baseball did not come within the scope of the federal anti-trust laws.

A thought for today: German philosopher Emanuel Kant said: "Act as though thy rule of conduct could be adopted as a universal law."

TIME AND TIDE

The depths are always additive to the chart depths unless preceded by a minus sign (-), when the numbers are subtracted from the depth given in the chart. Lightface type indicates a.m. times; bold-face type indicates p.m. times.

NEW 1960 OPEL STATION WAGON $1,995

This is the last brand new 1960 Opel that we have left. The new '61 Opel will have practically no change at all following the normal foreign car pattern of keeping the same style for five or six years.

The normal retail price on this Opel is $2441, but we'll sell it for $1995 to move it.

That's a discount of $446, which cuts the price on this wagon down to our actual cost. It's the best buy we've had in years.

Marin Votes Republican In Peak Turnout

Fluoridation Turned Down; Hospital Bond Issue Fails

Marin County gave the majority of its votes to Republican candidates yesterday as 92.425 per cent of its registered voters—nearly a new national record—went to the polls.

The record voter turnout rejected fluoridation of Marin Municipal Water District water supplies and failed to give the necessary two-thirds majority to the proposed county hospital bond issue.

Marin was one of 26 counties in California placed in the Nixon-for-President column in tabulations today. But Marin went all the way. Every Republican candidate carried the county.

Biggest winner—far ahead of Nixon and leading also William T. Bagley, landslide winner of the Marin-Sonoma seat in the State Assembly, was State Sen. John F. McCarthy. He polled 45,021 votes to 15,138 for Democrat Charles M. Geller—winning almost three-to-one.

COUNTY DISTRICT

Marin County comprises the state senatorial district—and will continue to do so, since California voters turned down a plan for reapportionment of the State Senate.

While rolling up Republican majorities, Marinites voted 31,459 to 25,058 in favor of the $2,250,000 county hospital bond issue. But this is not enough to authorize the issue.

The county board of supervisors served notice in August that if the bond issue again failed—as it did more narrowly in June—they would build the hospital anyway, upping taxes to construct it on a pay-as-you-go basis. However, a new lineup on the board of supervisors in January will have a voice on that.

ROUNDLY DUMPED

Fluoridation, which lost by only 84 votes in the June primary, was roundly dumped yesterday. The vote was 29,153 "no" to 21,879 "yes."

Here's the way the vote went for candidates in Marin, as tabulated by County Clerk George S. Jones's staff, with 4,132 absentee ballots still to be counted:

For Congress: Fred G. Dupuis 33,108, Clem Miller 27,596. (Republican Dupuis, however, failed to carry any of the other six counties in the First Congressional District.)

For Assembly, Seventh Dis-

Miller, Bagley, McCarthy Win In Their Races

It'll be a Democrat in Washington and two Republicans in Sacramento to represent Marin next year.

Democrat Clement W. Miller yesterday was re-elected to Congress from the First District. Nearly complete vote totals from the seven counties gave Miller 110,356 to 101,696 for Republican Fred G. Dupuis.

State Sen. John F. McCarthy, Republican, won re-election by 45,021 votes to 15,138 for Democrat Charles M. Geller.

Republican William T. Bagley was elected to the State Assembly, garnered 71,111 votes in Marin and Sonoma Counties to 48,492 for Democrat Everett A. Matzen.

CLOSE RACE

Hawaii Tops Marin For Record Vote

Marin County set a new record in vote turnout yesterday; but the newest state, Hawaii, beat out Marin's bid for the highest vote percentage in the nation.

With total registration at 71,905 voters in the county, 62,326 went to the polls yesterday and 4,132 votes were cast by absentee ballot, reported County Clerk George S. Jones.

In Hawaii, 93.1 of registered electors voted, reported United Press International reported. On the island of Maui, the percentage was 94.1.

The highest previous participation in Marin was in 1952, when President Eisenhower was running for his first term.

Urges Americans To Close Ranks

WASHINGTON (UPI)—John F. Kennedy won one of the closest presidential elections in U. S. history today and promptly set in motion machinery for an orderly change of administration.

Shortly after Nixon fully conceded defeat in the cliff-hanging presidential election, the 43-year-old victor announced plans for "liaison" with the Eisenhower administration preparatory to taking over the reigns of government Jan. 20.

At Hyannis Port, Mass., where he waited out the election returns, Kennedy accepted congratulations from Nixon and President Eisenhower. He then called on all Americans to close ranks in a supreme effort to meet the "difficult and challenging years" ahead.

Kennedy's brief victory statement was a capsule summary of his "new frontier" campaign in which he appealed to the people to join him in a crusade for a better and stronger America with greater prestige throughout the world.

The reserved but forceful Massachusetts senator became the youngest man and first Catholic to win the White House. He took it in a suspense-packed finish which saw a record number of Americans line up at the polls.

Nixon, still smiling in defeat, wired Kennedy congratulations from Los Angeles and arranged to fly back to Washington to assist in the changeover in government.

Latest UPI returns gave Kennedy 23 states with 337 electoral votes — 68 more than he needed. In Mississippi, which has 8 electoral votes, a group of unpledged electors was declared the winner.

Nixon won 24 states with 185 electoral votes and was leading in two—Alaska and New Mexico—with a total of seven electoral votes. His indicated final tally was 192.

At that point, Kennedy had 31,988,100 popular votes and Nixon 31,694,077. The Democrat's share was only 50.28 per cent of the two-party total for a percentage margin of 0.46—the smallest since Democrat Grover Cleveland beat James G. Blaine by less than 0.3 per cent in 1884.

Vice President Nixon, conceding defeat, assured Kennedy that "you have the united support of all Americans as you lead this nation in the cause of peace and freedom during the next four years."

Eisenhower also sent Kennedy a brief telegram extending "my congratulations to you for the victory you just won at the polls." He included a pledge to submit soon his proposals for a smooth transition of the government from Republicans to Democrats.

However, a White House visitor said earlier that the chief executive was "not happy about the results . . . but you could not expect him to be." The appraisal was given by C. Burke Elbrick, U. S. envoy to Portugal.

Kennedy's victory was a partial rebuff for the president. Eisenhower embarked on a hectic last-minute campaign on behalf of Nixon, drawing huge crowds in New York, Pennsylvania and Ohio. But of the three, Nixon took only Ohio.

Kennedy Puts U.S. Interests, Freedom First

HYANNIS PORT, Mass. (AP)—President-elect Kennedy, alternately smiling and serious, formally acknowledged his election victory today and promised to devote himself to "the long range interests of the United States and the cause of freedom around the world."

His wife, Jacqueline, stood beside him on the platform as he spoke.

FAMILY THERE

His mother and father, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph P. Kennedy, and his three brothers and three sisters, also were on the platform, standing behind the president-elect.

Kennedy entered the Massachusetts National Guard Armory, press headquarters at Hyannis Port, at 1:45 p.m.

SMILES SLIGHTLY

But then a solemn, serious expression came over his face as he stepped up to the microphone and began to speak. He first read Nixon's telegram, and another from President Eisenhower, and then his own reply to Eisenhower.

In it, he messaged the President, "I am grateful for your wire and look forward to working with you."

Kennedy Wins Close Battle In California

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — California's presidential balloting—an anti-climax with Sen. John F. Kennedy already the national winner—turned today into one of the state's closest battles in years.

Kennedy's once appreciable margin over Vice President Richard M. Nixon—as high as 101,000—dwindled steadily to a low of 22,000, then began to pick up again as complete returns filtered in from vote-clogged Los Angeles.

Results from 23,861 of the 30,682 precincts in the state gave Nixon: 2,355,489, Kennedy 2,377,204.

The trend was never like the Eisenhower years when the Republican ticket climbed by the hour to margins well past 600,000 in 1952 and 1956. It was more like 1948 when Harry S. Truman squeaked by in California with a scant 17,800.

California was the last of the big states to decide its 1960 choice. A huge vote slowed the count and left the final margin in doubt.

Los Angeles, as expected, proved the difference between victory and his first defeat in the state for Nixon.

Los Angeles, with its heavy Democratic registration and its big bloc of racial minorities, teamed with San Francisco, Oakland and Sacramento, particularly, to overcome Kennedy losses elsewhere.

HOW MARIN VOTED

Here is the way Marin voted yesterday, with totals for the 306 precincts (a 307th at Hamilton Air Force Base is entirely of absentee ballots) as tabulated by County Clerk George S. Jones's staff. Still to be counted are 4,132 absentee ballots. Absentees could change the result only on the Fairfax school tax proposal, which apparently was defeated.

Water Bonds Trail; Senate Plan Beaten

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—California voters overwhelmingly rejected the controversial Senate reapportionment measure. The 1.75-billion-dollar water bond issue stood at the brink of defeat as statewide returns mounted.

The reapportionment plan, Proposition 15, with reports from 21,660 of the state's 30,682 precincts was Yes 1,001,130, No 2,562,709.

Pact Is Near On Land Sale In Marin City

Commissioners of the Marin County Housing Authority have authorized agreement for sale of 167 acres of ridgeland property above Marin City to New York Developer James Scheuer at $2,600 per acre for a total price of $441,900.

Scheuer, who is also doing the development of Marin City, will use the land for private development, according to executive director Bert Klahn. He has plans to construct single family dwellings, garden apartments and high rise apartments. Work will not commence until the relocation work in Marin City is completed by Scheuer.

The contract on the ridgeland property is expected to be signed Dec. 1, Klahn said.

The commission, meeting Monday, also authorized calling bids for demolition of more than 100 remaining temporary war housing structures on the hill at Marin City.

It announced it will dispose of excess vehicles and equipment no longer needed by the authority, including several pickup trucks, dump trucks and a steam roller.

Loma Verda Seeks Site For Community Center

The center would serve the approximately 325 families in the area and the approximately 500 families expected when it is completely built up. Loma Verde is off Highway 101, east of and adjacent to the Marin Golf and Country Club.

The association has begun to price lots in Loma Verde and look into the possibilities of obtaining land from the Trousdale Construction Co., developer of the area.

The idea still is in the "planning stage," Harland Clare, president, of the group, reported today. A clubhouse, swimming pool and tennis courts tentatively are planned for the project, he said. They probably would be constructed in stages as funds were available.

There are approximately 250 families represented in the association. Construction of the center may be financed through a non-profit corporation selling memberships to the center, Clare suggested.

Audubon Speaker

Eugene Kridler, refugee biologist, will speak at the November field trip of the Marin Audubon Society to the Willows and Gridley Refuges Saturday, meeting at the College of Marin Circle at 7:30 a.m. or the Sacramento Wild Life Refuge south of Willows on Route 99W at 10 a.m.

Tiburon Church Granted Sign

Advertising is valuable even for a church, the Marin County Planning Commission has decided.

It accordingly granted two-year approval for a 50-square foot sign for Westminster United Presbyterian Church, facing Tiburon Boulevard, despite planning staff disapproval.

"That would be too large for a church though appropriate for a business activity," said Sidney Shaw for the planning staff.

Democrats Stack Up Solid Majorities In Senate, House

WASHINGTON (AP) — Solid Democratic majorities will control the Senate and the House when the 87th Congress convenes Jan. 3.

The Democrats quickly nailed down control of the Senate in yesterday's election. And by 3 o'clock this morning, they had captured more than half the 437 House seats.

Nonetheless, with returns still incomplete, it appeared the Republicans had dented the top-heavy margins the Democrats held in the out-going 86th Congress. In the Senate the old lineup was 66-34 and in the House 283-154.

With all of the Senate races settled except for a tight battle in Montana, the Republicans had picked up one seat in Delaware and another in Wyoming.

Sen. Karl Mundt, veteran South Dakota Republican, squeaked to victory over Rep. George McGovern, a Democrat who decided to give up his House seat to make the race for the Senate.

In Montana, Democratic Rep. Lee Metcalf and Republican former Rep. Orvin B. Fjare were in a nip-and-tuck contest for the Senate seat being vacated by Sen. James E. Murray, Democrat.

A long familiar figure in the House, former Republican Speaker Joseph W. Martin of Massachusetts, appeared in danger of being unseated. He was trailing Democrat Edward F. Doolan.

Most of the overturns in the House were at the expense of freshman Democrats swept into office in the 1959 Democratic landslide from normally Republican areas.

Republican gains were chalked up in Connecticut, Vermont, Indiana, Maryland, Colorado, Ohio, Pennsylvania and Maine. The GOP lost seats in New York, New Jersey and Idaho.

In New York, the Democrats picked up three House seats and for the first time in 10 years won control of the state's 43-member delegation.

With 34 of the 100 Senate seats at stake in the election, Democrats had won 20 and Republicans 12 by the early morning hours. Only one incumbent, Sen. J. Allen Frear Jr. (D-Del.), had been toppled.

Frear's bid for a third term was turned back by Republican Gov. J. Caleb Boggs even as Kennedy captured Delaware's three electoral votes and the Democrats won the governorship.

The Republicans picked up a second Senate seat with the election of Rep. Keith Thomson to replace veteran Democratic Sen. Joseph C. O'Mahoney, retiring at the age of 76. Thomson's Democratic opponent was Raymond B. Whitaker.

The election of Maurine B. Neuberger, an Oregon Democrat, will give the Senate two women members. Sen. Margaret Chase Smith, a Republican, won overwhelming re-election in Maine.

The only Republican senator who did not seek re-election was Thomas Martin of Iowa. Republicans held on to his seat by electing State Sen. Jack Miller over Democratic Gov. Herschel Loveless.

In Rhode Island, Claiborne Pell, 41-year-old Democrat and Newport socialite, was elected to succeed Sen. Theodore Francis Green, retiring at the age of 93. Green is the oldest man ever to serve in the Senate.

Two Republican senators who won outstanding re-election victories were Leverett Saltonstall of Massachusetts and Clifford P. Case of New Jersey. Both overcame Democratic tides that gave their states' electoral votes to Kennedy.

Among the Democratic senators who won re-election were Hubert H. Humphrey of Minnesota, John Sparkman of Alabama, Richard B. Russell of Georgia, John L. McClellan of Arkansas, Paul H. Douglas of Illinois, Allen J. Ellender of Louisiana, James O. Eastland of Mississippi, Patrick V. McNamara of Michigan, Clinton P. Anderson of New Mexico, Estes Kefauver of Tennessee, Robert S. Kerr of Oklahoma, A. Willis Robertson of Virginia, B. Everett Jordan of North Carolina, Jennings Randolph of West Virginia and E. L. Bartlett of Alaska.

In Missouri, Edward V. Long, a Democrat appointed to the Senate this fall after the death of Sen. Thomas C. Hennings Jr., won over his Republican opponent, Lon Hocker.

Republican senators who won re-election included Gordon Allott of Colorado, Henry C. Dworshak of Idaho, Andrew F. Schoeppel of Kansas, Carl T. Curtis of Nebraska, Styles Bridges of New Hampshire and John Sherman Cooper of Kentucky.

PAT FIGHTS BACK THE TEARS

Mrs. Richard M. Nixon fights tears which flowed briefly as she stood at the side of her husband as he commented on election returns at the Ambassador Hotel in Los Angeles early today. Nixon had said that if the trend for Sen. John F. Kennedy continued, it would look like victory, and that the senator would have his "whole-hearted support." (AP Wirephoto)

Democrats Win 15 Governorships, GOP Takes Nine

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Democrats locked up governorships in 15 states today — including the big Illinois and Michigan prizes—clinching an even bigger share of the nation's statehouses.

GOP candidates won the gubernatorial races in nine states —toppling Democratic rule in three of them—and led in three others.

STATES CAPTURED

JUDGE WINS

Democrat Otto Kerner, popular Chicago judge, leaped into the national political spotlight by crushing Illinois Republican Gov. William G. Stratton. Kerner, 52, is married to the daughter of the late Chicago mayor Anton Cermak, slain in 1932 by a Miami assassin's bullet intended for Franklin D. Roosevelt.

In Michigan, labor-backed Democratic Lt. Gov. John B. Swainson, whose legs were blown off in a World War II mine explosion, defeated polio-crippled Republican Paul D. Bagwell, Michigan State University professor and an early supporter of President Eisenhower.

Swainson takes over the desk of Democratic Gov. G. Mennen Williams, who passed up a chance to seek a seventh two-year term.

Democratic Gov. Albert D. Rosellini retained his office in Washington after a nip-and-tuck race with state school superintendent Lloyd J. Andrews. The contest wasn't decided until after dawn.

In Nebraska, Democrat Frank B. Morrison defeated Republican John R. Cooper. The Democrats thus regained the state house they won in 1958 but lost two months ago when Gov. Ralph G. Brooks died and was succeeded by GOP Lt. Gov. Dwight W. Burney.

Midwest Backed Nixon; No Farm Belt Revolt

WASHINGTON (AP) — Democratic hopes of a farm belt revolt in the Midwest were dashed in yesterday's election.

That was a region Democrats had hoped would revolt over controversial farm policies of the Eisenhower administration.

But there was little evidence of such a revolt despite pledges of Sen. John F. Kennedy to push a new farm program designed to boost agricultural prices and incomes.

The farm belt rejection of Kennedy raised early speculation that Democrats might modify their program in the direction followed by the present administration.

The Midwestern voting indicated farmers may have been influenced by issues other than farm problems, notably Kennedy's Roman Catholic religion.

The farm belt voting gave some support to claims of Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Taft Benson that farmers were not unhappy and that they prefer the Eisenhower program aimed at getting government out of agriculture to Kennedy's proposal for enlarging government's role.

Nixon sought to divorce himself from Benson, but nevertheless advanced a farm program that was fairly close to that of Eisenhower and Benson.

The election set forth boldly the declining importance of the farm vote. This decline reflects the fact that farmers are becoming a smaller and smaller portion of the total population of the country as well as of the farm states themselves.

Panel To Discuss New Medical Plan

A panel of Marin County doctors will discuss the proposed pre-paid medical plan of the Marin County Medical Society on radio station KTIM's "Marin Sounding Board" discussion from 9 to 10 a.m. tomorrow.

With Kitty Oppenheimer as moderator the panel will include Dr. Duval Jaros, occulist and chairman of the Marin County Medical Foundation Plan; Dr. Lee Cecil, internist, and Drs. Theo Hiatt and Richard Redalia, general practioners.

Questions received by telephone during the broadcast will be given to the panel. A rebroadcast from tape will be on the air at 12:30 p.m. Sunday.

BOTH PARTIES GAIN

South's Political Tradition Cracks

ATLANTA (UPI) — Southern voters wrote an end to 100 years of political tradition in the presidential election.

Seven of the 12 Southern "Bible belt" states cast their ballots for Roman Catholic John F. Kennedy and a strong civil-rights platform.

Four went for Republican Richard M. Nixon and a civil-rights plank almost as strong. Mississippi rejected both major parties, and by a narrow margin elected an unpledged slate of presidential electors.

There was a heavy Republican vote everywhere in Dixie. But many political leaders who had rejected the national Democratic platform or given Kennedy only lukewarm support found their states going heavily for the Massachusetts senator.

Florida, Kentucky, Tennessee and Virginia went for Nixon, as they did for President Eisenhower.

South Carolina, where former U.S. Secretary of State James F. Byrnes campaigned for Nixon, had been expected to go Republican for the first time since reconstruction days. But Kennedy took the state by a narrow margin.

Alabama, Arkansas, Georgia, Louisiana, North Carolina and Texas also went to the Democrats. In Louisiana, which went for Eisenhower in 1956, a big vote was cast for the segregationist States' Rights party.

Although the Republican party failed to add to its number of southern congressmen —retaining its present five— the GOP swept to a surprisingly large number of local offices in Florida.

In rich Palm Beach County, where Democratic Sheriff John Kirk had just helped crack the state's most baffling murder case, Republicans swept Kirk, two county commissioners and the registration supervisor out of office. The GOP won eight seats in the Florida legislture.

Republican gubernatorial nominee George Peterson polled more than a half million votes in losing, and state Republican chairman G. Harold Alexander proclaimed that Florida "is now a two-party state."

There was no immediate indication where Mississippi's eight unpledged electoral votes would go. Georgia's 12 electors were nominally unpledged but expected to go to Kennedy. Six of Alabama's 11 electors could under law withhold their vote from Kennedy.

The five GOP congressmen in the south who kept their house seats were Reps. Charles R. Jonas of North Carolina, William C. Cramer of Florida, B. Carroll Reece of Tennessee and Richard Poff and Joel Broyhill of Virginia.

Chamber Planning Jackpot Drawing

Two locations have been set up for those attending the drawing Nov. 16 when prizes will be announced by the Merchants Committee of the Mill Valley Chamber of Commerce in its Mill Valley Jubilee Jackpot.

One is at the parking area adjoining the Mill Valley shopping center at Miller and Evergreen avenues, the other is in the city parking lot to the rear of the bus depot, Chairman Don Chapman said today.

Chapman said $1,019 in prizes will be given away at the 1 p.m. drawing, some in cash and some in merchandise such as turkeys and hams. Persons wishing to participate may ask for free tickets from participating merchants through Nov. 16.

'Protestant States' Voted For Kennedy

Kennedy was the first Roman Catholic to seek the White House since Alfred E. Smith made his bid for the presidency in 1928 against Herbert Hoover.

Smith went down to a crushing defeat. He carried only eight states, to Hoover's 40. He got only 87 electoral votes to Hoover's 444, and received only 15 million popular votes to 21 million for Hoover.

Outside the South—and until then, the South had been solid for Democrats since Reconstruction days—the popular New York governor won only Massachusetts and Rhode Island, both states with heavy Catholic populations. He lost such Southern states as Florida, North Carolina, Tennessee and Virginia.

Both in 1928 and 1960, the religious issue stirred deep feelings in the United States, which now has a percentage of 21.6 per cent baptized Catholics.

Twenty-eight years ago, as now, there were high-principled, assuredly non-bigoted men, who opposed Vatican policy and wondered aloud what effect it would have on a Catholic president.

Then, as now, there were tactics of a different sort. In 1928, for example, pictures of a new tunnel under construction in New York were circulated with the intimation that it was a tunnel to Rome for the pope to come to America if Smith won. In 1960 bookets were circulated linking Rome to the assassination of Abraham Lincoln.

Nobody will ever know how many Protestants voted against Kennedy because of his religion, or how many Catholics voted for him because of his faith. Both Kennedy and Vice President Richard M. Nixon said they wanted no votes for religious reasons.

Crab Quality Excellent, Catch Slim

Few crabs but of excellent quality was the report today of Marin fishermen who brought in their first crab haul of the season late yesterday.

"They've been living a good life but we don't know where," was the summary of Hoyt Barnet of Lighthouse Crab Co., Sausalito.

"A very poor catch but the quality's fine," concurred A. Paladini of Point Reyes.

Loads averaged under 10 pounds of crab to the pot at the Sausalito wharves, whereas a pot could contain as much as three dozen crabs weighing 70 to 75 pounds.

One Sausalito veteran of 15 years' experience came in yesterday without a single crab, as did at least one other fisherman.

But due to an exceptionally large number of boats and fishermen, the pots were said to be spread over an unusually large area. Within a few days, it was said, more will be known about locations of the elusive shellfish and luck will give way to knowledge.

After Dec. 15 the fishermen will be allowed to operate north of Point Arena and there'll be crabs a-plenty.

Tam Students Plan Parade Before Game

A parade by Tamalpais High School students will start from Mill Valley's Lytton Square at 4 p.m. Friday, proceeding to the school as preliminary to the annual football game with Novato High School.

Features will include the Tamalpais Big Game Queen and court, song and cheer leaders, Tamalpais Spirit Indian, frosh yell leaders and letter carriers.

Hub Worker Hurt As Scaffold Falls

Claude E. Underwood of San Anselmo suffered a head cut and was bruised about the shoulders when a scaffold collapsed and toppled him 10 feet to the ground in Terra Linda yesterday.

Underwood, who lives at 9 Myrtle Avenue, was working on a house under construction on Trellis Drive. He is employed by Harry Graham Masonry Co. of San Leandro, a subcontractor on the houses. He was treated at San Rafael General Hospital.

By the right of free selection — Bon Air quality comes from the customer polls a re-elected winner. Not just this year — but for the past eight years you've looked over the candidates and weighed their claims. You tested their platforms and found Bon Air keeps their promise. The food that costs as much (and even more) — elsewhere is not as good as the food you buy at Bon Air, week after week. The best part of this program is that you can try it before you vote. Just buy all your food needs at Bon Air for thirty days. Keep track of the cost . . . keep track of the waste (this is no job — there's hardly any) . . . and keep track of the comments at your dinner table. You'll find out —as have your friends and neighbors—Bon Air wins by a landslide. The Good Eating Party will be in at your house for keeps.

Reapportionment Measure Loses; Water Bonds Trail

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Proposition 15, which would have given Southern California a larger share of State Senate seats, was trounced by a 3-1 margin, late returns from yesterday's election showed today.

Proposition 1, a 1.75-billion-dollar bond issue to create the world's largest water transport system, was trailing by a steadily increasing margin although not mathematically out of contention.

With a third of the state's precincts still to be tallied, Proposition 1 was 200,000 votes down and sinking.

The state's voters were also turning thumbs down on Proposition 5—a measure which would have hiked legislators' pay 50 per cent.

Golfers scored well on Proposition 6, a measure to ease assessments on golf courses. The proposition was zooming through with a majority of more than half a million.

Also seemingly assured of passage was No. 8—a proposition which would pave the way to restoration of voting rights to felons who had served sentences and completed probation. This measure was moving through by better than 300,000.

Two measures to help veterans on tax exemptions—Propositions 3 and 11—were approved by heavy majorities.

Proposition 2, which would have made possible four-year Assembly terms, was losing. With 16,301 out of 30,682 precincts reported, the measure had received 1,000,554 yes votes; against 1,563,972 noes.

Proposition 4, to provide eight-year state college board terms, seemed assured of victory with 1,454,551 votes favoring it and 982,294 against it in returns from 16,025 precincts.

Proposition 7, revising chiropractic board requirements, appeared likely to be approved. There were 1,330,660 Yes votes and 1,035,068 No votes counted with 15,539 precincts counted.

Proposition 9, dealing with uniform claims procedures, was definitely in, 1,661,765 votes to 687,162 in 15,643 precincts tabulated.

Proposition 10, to expand the judicial council, was running ahead by a wide margin, 1,725,510 yes votes to 701,860 no in 15,643 precincts.

Proposition 12, to delete obsolete parts from the constitution, was way ahead, 1,781,117 to 522,378, in 15,618 precincts counted.

Proposition 13, on municipal court appeals, likewise appeared certain to win. It was favored 1,549,737 to 709,598 in 15,618 precincts.

Proposition 14, for use of gasoline tax funds for grade crossing bonds, was trailing 1,027,501 to 1,380,469 in 15,618 precincts.

Bagley Wins Two-County Assembly Seat

William Thompson Bagley, 32-year-old San Rafael attorney who made his political debut by winning the student body presidency of San Rafael High School 16 years ago, will represent Marin and Sonoma Counties in the California State Assembly the next two years.

Republican Bagley not only won a resounding victory in Marin County yesterday, but defeated Democrat Everett A. Matzen by nearly 4,000 votes in Matzen's home county of Sonoma.

The complete, although unofficial, tally:

Bagley 71,111; Matzen 48,492.

In Marin, it was Bagley all the way. He rolled up 39,257 votes to Matzen's 20,878. Bagley's Marin vote was more than 4,000 above that Marin gave to Richard M. Nixon for president.

In Sonoma, the total was 31,854 for Bagley to 27,614 for Matzen.

Said Bagley in a message to his supporters and constituents today:

"You have granted me a most earnest wish—to serve as your representative in the California State Legislature.

"I enter upon this assignment with the humbling knowledge of the challenge ahead.

"I have come to admire my opponent, Everett Matzen, and hope to advise with him in the areas he so ably represents.

"If industry, diligence and integrity will bring honor to this endeavor, then, with the continued help of all of you, it shall be an honor to serve you."

Matzen, acknowledging defeat, said:

"I would like to congratulate Bill Bagley on his victory and wish him well in his term in the Assembly, and to thank the many thousands of people who worked and supported and contributed in any way to my campaign. I would also like to express my gratitude to the Independent-Journal for a fine job of reporting the campaign."

The newly elected assemblyman, who will fill the position vacated by retirement of Republican Richard M. McCollister, was born in Woodacre and has never resided outside of Marin County. He attended St. Raphael's School, San Rafael High School and University of California, and received his law degree from U.C.'s Boalt Hall in Berkeley. He was valedictorian of his graduating class at U.C. in 1949.

He is a member of Phi Beta Kappa, college honor society, and of the Elks Lodge, Native Sons of the Golden West and Commonwealth Club.

Bagley's only previous campaign for public office was also successful, when he was elected to the Marin County Board of Freeholders that prepared a proposed county charter two years ago. In a split among the board, Bagley refused to support the charter recommended by the majority—and it was defeated at the polls.

Bagley and his wife, Doris, and daughter and two sons, Lynn, William T. Jr. and Walter, reside at 592 Fairhills Drive in San Rafael. His father, N. G. Baglietto, is also a San Rafael resident.

Sen. McCarthy Marin's Top Vote Getter

McCarthy, who has served Marin in the California State Senate since 1950, was returned for another four-year term by a vote of 45,021 to 15,138 for his Democratic opponent, Charles M. Geller — almost three to one.

McCarthy's margin was 11,504 more than Marinites gave William T. Bagley for State Assembly, 21,255 more than they gave Nixon for president, and 24,371 more than they gave Fred G. Dupuis for Congress.

Overwhelmed by the result, McCarthy declared today:

"It's a tremendous victory for me and I'm very grateful. I never expected to be elected by so big a majority."

The Marin state senator said the large voter turnout "strengthens my resolve to continue sponsoring and supporting legislation that is in the best interests of Marin County rather than being limited by partisan politics."

He paid tribute to Geller for an exceptionally clean campaign, and said he hoped Geller would continue to be active in politics along with maintaining his record of community activities.

McCarthy said he expects to have bills drafted for introduction early in the next legislative session calling for removal of the sales tax on drugs, control of billboards on scenic highways and reduction of the two-thirds majority vote needed for passage of school and public works bond issues. (The two-thirds requirement resulted in defeat of the Marin County hospital bond issue yesterday.)

"It is my hope, also, to bring about a solution to a state highway from the Golden Gate Bridge to the Stinson Beach area that will be acceptable to both conservation interests and those hoping to open the area for future development," he said.

The 36-year-old state senator, who lives at 21 Pepper Way, San Rafael, with his wife, Ursula, and seven children, is associated with his father in the contracting business. He is a native of California and completed his education at University of San Francisco and Heald's Engineering College.

Demos Retain Control Of State Legislature

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Democrats retained control of both houses of California's Legislature in yesterday's balloting, but the Assembly margin was a single seat, with 16 races still to be settled.

On the Senate side, 16 Democratic holdovers were joined by 14 more with no races undecided. Six Republicans joined four GOP holdovers.

In the 80-man Assembly, 41 Democrats won seats and seven more were leading their races. Twenty-three Republicans were winners and another nine were in front.

Before the election the lineup was 45-32 Democratic with three vacancies in the Assembly and 28-11-1 in the Senate. Only half of the 40 Senate seats were at stake.

No incumbents were upset in the Assembly although Myron Frew (D.-Dinuba) trailed into the final hours before winning over Domer Power of Lindsay.

Two Assembly races saw incumbents trailing or in trouble with returns still incomplete. Republican Travis Manning of El Monte had a narrow lead over Democrat Ronald Brooks Cameron of Whittier who helped push an anti-auto smog bill through the Legislature during the last session.

Fairfax Tax Trailing; Retirement Plan Wins

Fairfax approved a retirement system for city employees by nearly two-to-one vote yesterday but apparently barely turned down, for the third time in 13 months, a school tax increase.

Absentee ballots might finally turn the balance on the school issue where the voters yesterday differed by a mere 28 votes—1,430 for, 1,458 against. This leaves it up to 134 absentees.

In contrast, the retirement measure was carried by 1,619 for, 839 against.

"Surprised" by a school vote "never so close before," Mrs. Fay Jensen, president of the Fairfax School District Board, declined comment or any hint of plans for a new move until the absentee votes are counted.

The county clerk's office segregated the Fairfax School District ballots from other absentees and confirmed that with 134 to be counted, probably sometime tomorrow, there are enough to upset the outcome.

The school district includes a small area beyond the city which accounts for the difference in total votes cast yesterday—2,888 on the school issue, 2,508 on the retirement plan.

The school proposal is for an increase of 80 cents per $100 assessed valuation to bring the general purpose school tax from $1.25 to $2.05 per $100 assessed valuation.

Proposals for 75-cent increases were defeated last October and March despite assertions that the district's financial condition is grave and getting progressively worse. The 80-cent increase was on recommendation of Supt. Homer L. Sisk, who submitted a schedule of needs, including $12,000 for teacher and administrative salaries, to a total of $65,000 increase in the district budget.

The retirement system which got solid endorsement involves 15 fulltime employees, including police and fire departments, street department and city offices. It involves adoption of an ordinance authorizing a contract between the Fairfax City Council and the California State Employees' Retirement System, already covering 100,000 in the Bay Area and providing retirement pay, death and disability benefits.

The circular fountain in front of U.N. headquarters is a $50,000 gift from school children of the United States and its territories.

Whist Parties Planned

Novato Lodge of IDESI will hold the first of two turkey whist parties Saturday night with another scheduled for Dec. 10 as fund-raising media for the annual Christmas party Dec. 17. All the parties are scheduled for Novato's Portuguese Hall.

All But One Of State's Congressmen Re-Elected

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — All but one of California's congressmen won re-election in yesterday's election, and the Republicans had a fighting chance to gai none congressional seat on the Democrats.

The only incumbent to lose was Democrat George A. Kasem, whose suburban Los Angeles district gave businessman John H. Rousselot of San Gabriel a narrow victory.

The Democrats hoped to regain the lost congressional seat in the 22nd District from which Republican Rep. Joseph F. Holt of Encino retired.

In that race, with 428 of 944 precincts reported, Democrat James C. Corman had 44,149 votes to 42,671 for Lemoine Blanchard. Both candidates are Los Angeles city councilmen.

Meanwhile, with only the Blanchard-Gorman fight still undecided, the Democrats held a 15-14 lead in party strength. Prior to the election, there were 16 Democrats to 14 GOP congressmen representing California.

Boy Arrested For Attacking Two Others

A 17-year-old Marin City youth was arrested at Tamalpais High School yesterday as being a member of a gang which attacked three youths at a Marin City service station last Friday.

Victims of the attack, Robert James Davis, 15, and Paul Edward Kordik, 16, identified the 17-year-old as one of those who beat them up. Sheriff's Sgt. Guy V. Gibbs and Deputy Harold Sleezer booked the youth on suspicion of assault and battery and felony assault. He is being held in Marin Juvenile Hall.

Davis, who lives at 178 Alta Vista Avenue, Mill Valley, told officers he was hit on the head by a board. He was taken to the hospital with a bad scalp wound. Kordick, of 11 Meadow Drive, and Girard Corteau, 18, of 7 Tower Drive, suffered minor bruises.

New Moisturizing Colonaid Stops

without gag, bloat or gripe

Most constipation is caused by what doctors call a "thrifty" colon that loses so much moisture that its contents become so dry they block the bowel; so shrunken they fail to stimulate the urge to purge that propels and expels waste from your body.

To regain normal regularity, the dry, shrunken contents of your colon which now block your bowel must be remoistened. Second, bulk must be brought to S-T-R-E-T-C-H STIMULATE colon to action; to a normal urge to purge. And, of all laxatives, only new COLONAID possesses its great moisturizing capacity plus its stretch-stimulating bulk. So effective it relieves even chronic constipation overnight, yet is so gentle it has been hospital-proved safe even for women in critical stages of pregnancy.

Superior to old style bulk, salt or drug laxatives, COLONAID neither gags, bloats nor gripes; won't interfere with absorption of vitamins or food nutrients; in clinical tests, did not cause rash or other reactions.

It's a physiological fact: Exercise tones your body! And COLONAID exercises your colon to tone it against constipation overnight. So, for positive relief from constipation, get amazing, moisturizing new COLONAID today! INTRODUCTORY SIZE 43¢

A 14-year-old Novato girl, who disappeared Monday after being spanked for smoking, returned safely, her father reported to the sheriff's office last night.

William H. Cassidy of 1552 Buchanan Street, Novato, called the sheriff at 6:30 last night to report that Sharon, 14, was home. The sheriff called off the search bulletin which had been issued the previous night.

HE LOSES MARIN

First District Voters Re-Elect Rep. Miller

Clement W. Miller of Corte Madera has once more carried the First Congressional District with loss of only Marin County, defeating Fred G. Dupuis of Tiburon by a much smaller margin than two years ago.

Unofficial count in the seven counties of the district today, with five counties' tallies complete, gave Miller 110,356 votes to 101,696 for Dupuis, a majority of 8,660. Absentee ballots remain to be counted.

Marin County gave Dupuis 33,108 votes to 27,596 for Miller, a 5,512 advantage for Dupuis.

Victory this year was by slightly more than 4 per cent of the total vote of 212,052,

"I am delighted and thrilled by the results of the election," said Miller. "I wish to voice my keenest appreciation and regard for those who helped make this possible.

"What particularly interests me is that I am running about 22,000 ahead of the ticket in my district."

Miller said he would proceed immediately with plans for a tour of his whole district to discuss legislative objectives for the coming session of Congress.

"Anyone interested in discussing these things with me should make contact with our headquarters office in San Rafael," he said. "I'll be in Marin County tomorrow, Saturday and Nov. 17, operating out of my home." Miller lives at 433 Redwood Avenue, Corte Madera.

Dupuis issued a congratulatory statement today, saying:

"I'm surely appreciative of all the help I received in my campaign and want to thank my many adherents for their efforts in my behalf.

"I think the margin between my vote and that of Mr. Miller is small enough to give the incumbent some indication that there are many who disagree with certain of his policies, and trust it will result in his consideration during his next term of the standpoint of a very sizable majority.

"If he does so, the campaign thereby can prove helpful to the district as a whole."

The unofficial vote county by county follows:

Marin (complete except for 4,132 absentees) — Miller 27,596, Dupuis 33,108. Sonoma (complete except for 3,450 absentees)—Miller 31,777, Dupuis 28,839.

Mendocino (complete except for 1,122 absentees) — Miller 10,018, Dupuis 7,523.

Humboldt (complete except about 2,000 absentees)—Miller 20,513, Dupuis 15,392.

Lake (complete except absentees) — Miller 3,338, Dupuis 3,057.

Del Norte (29 precincts of 31, and not including 368 absentees) — Miller 3,351, Dupuis 2,518.

Novato 'Bash' Will Benefit Field Service

"Bagdad Bash," the combination of music, dances and comedy at the Novato Community Clubhouse, will go on stage tomorrow as a benefit for the Novato American Field Service group.

The "Bash," followed by a dance at the clubhouse, will be open to Novato High School students for less than the regular admission price.

Proceeds will go toward the school's American Field Service fund. A Novato High School student each year spends some time with a European family; a French exchange student currently is studying at the high school. The program, nationwide in scope, is sponsored by the American Field Service.

The "Bash," written by Novatoan Judy Gilbert, will go on Friday and Saturday for the public in its usual cabaret atmosphere, with beer available to spectators.

Nixon Tired But Smiling In Defeat, Wires Congratulations To Kennedy

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Vice President Richard M. Nixon conceded defeat to Sen. John F. Kennedy today — then left for the nation's capitol to assist in turning over the reins of government to the new administration in January.

All but conceding defeat last night, the vice president made his formal announcement this morning after studying latest voting trends from the key states of Michigan, Illinois and California.

Press secretary Herbert Klein said Nixon had clung to a hope that he might pick up strength in the three states.

But when Kennedy took Michigan, Nixon decided the fight was lost, Klein said.

California, political observers noted, has not voted on the losing side of an election in more than 40 years.

Klein appeared at election headquarters and read the vice president's formal statement of defeat sent to Kennedy.

"I want to repeat through this wire congratulations and best wishes I extended to you on television last night," the message stated. "I know that you have the united support of all Americans as you lead this nation in the cause of peace and freedom during the next four years."

President Eisenhower had announced earlier in Washington that he was preparing to send his congratulations to the Democratic standard-bearer.

Klein said Nixon had been pleased about two things in the election — that he received a huge popular vote and that Kennedy's margin was less than 1 per cent.

"We are not surprised at the closeness in California," the press secretary declared, adding that the closeness of the popular vote meant Nixon was still one of the great champions of the country.

Nixon, though bone-tired and sensing defeat, smiled and joked during his television appearance shortly after midnight when he told a crowd at election headquarters that Kennedy would be the next president "if this trend continues."

His wife, Pat, however, had tears in her eyes as did scores of others in the audience.

". . . I want all of you to know — that certainly if this trend continues, and he (Kennedy) does become our next president, he will have my wholehearted support — and yours too," he said.

Supporters jammed into the election headquarters shouted, "No! No!" at this, and then began chanting, "We want Nixon! We want the best man!"

But as soon as Nixon finished speaking, the rejected crowd filed out quickly, discarding Nixon-Lodge buttons and other emblems.

after eight Eisenhower years, also exulted at their renewed control of Congress. Speaker Sam Rayburn pledged to push through Kennedy's legislative program.

In a telephone interview from his Texas home, Rayburn promised early passage of a minimum wage increase, a school construction bill, relief for economically depressed areas and medical care for the aged.

He also forecast efforts to trim federal spending where consistent with national security interests. He ruled out for the time being any reduction or increase in taxes.

Democrats will control the new Senate 64-36 despite the loss of two seats in Wyoming and Delaware. The indicated line-up in the House, with a handful of races still undecided, was 259 Democrats to 178 Republicans.

Although Kennedy held his lead throughout the night, the results of the dramatic 1960 presidential election were not official until 12:45 p.m., EST., today when Nixon formally conceded.

Attorneys Named To Housing Unit

Three new attorneys have been named by commissioners of the Marin County Housing Authority and Redevelopment Agency.

Howard Morehouse was appointed to the housing authority to replace Guy Ciocca, who died recently. Morehouse had been associated with Ciocca's San Rafael law firm.

The redevelopment agency terminated its contract with Joseph G. Wilson and A. E. Bagshaw and entered into a new contract with Bagshaw and Leland H. Jordan. Wilson recently became municipal judge, leaving private practice, and Jordan resigned recently as county counsel to join the firm of Bagshaw, Schall, Martinelli and Weissich, with offices in San Rafael.

Finding the turpentine opened in the garage, she phoned police, who took Patrick to the hospital. He was given emergency treatment and released in good condition.

HUMAN ERRS, SO MACHINE ON DATA GOOFS

Early this morning, as a tired County Clerk George S. Jones was watching the last returns come through the electrical marvels, he asked:

"What's the total vote?"

"It can't be," moaned Jones, "we've only got 72,000 registered voters in the county."

Somebody had slipped the machine an extra 30,000 or so. The whole computation, a 25-minute job, had to be done over again.

Quentin Staff Votes 'No' On Prop. 8

San Quentin Prison staff members voted almost two-to-one against Proposition 8, which would have relaxed the rules governing eligibility of ex-convicts to vote, an unofficial tally revealed today.

The proposition was ahead in statewide balloting.

The prison precinct which is unusual in that neighboring residents must enter the prison to vote, went for Nixon, 117 to 90, with 214 of 261 registered there casting ballots. Most of the voters are employees of the prison.

and obviously addressing himself to the whole nation Kennedy said, "may I say to all the citizens of this country, Democrats, Republicans, and regardless of how you voted, that this is a satisfying moment to me."

He expressed thanks to those who had helped him. And he told the nation:

"The next four years will be difficult and challenging. There is general agreement by all our citizens that a supreme national effort is needed to move this country to safety through the 1960s.

"We need your help. All our energies will be devoted to the interests of the United States and the cause of freedom around the world."

He closed on a lighter note—"My wife and I now prepare for a new administration—and for a new baby."

His wife is expecting a child in about three weeks.

Kennedy said he would make no statements until after he had had a rest. As to the transition period prior to his inauguration, he said:

"I will be announcing within the next 24 hours the appointment of a liaison with the administration on the problems of the transition."

Board Of Design Approves Stores In Corte Madera

Plans for a new men's clothing store in the Corte Madera Chopping Center and a new supermarket in the Paradise Shopping Center have been approved by the Corte Madera Board of Design.

Tentative plans for a 24-unit addition to the Edgewater Inn Motel also were presented to the board Monday night, but action was postponed to a later meeting to give the designer an opportunity for further study.

The two approved items will go before the Corte Madera Planning Commission next Monday.

Smith's clothing store of Oakland plans a branch to be located alongside Montgomery-Ward. Embee's Market plans a 16,000 square foot market in the Paradise center.

Justices Win; No Speeches, No Opponents

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Twelve candidates, who made no campaign speeches and who had no opponents, won election today to well-paid jobs with long terms.

They were members of the state supreme and district courts of appeal. No appellate judge has been rejected by the electorate in recent history.

Three supreme court justices, appointed by Gov. Edmund G. Brown to their $26,000-a-year posts, were subject to a yes-or-no plebiscite for 12-year terms.

They were Maurice T. Dooling Jr., 71, Raymond E. Peters, 57, and Thomas F. White, 71. With 12,463 precincts reporting, Dooling polled 1,305,477 Yes to 189,843 No, Peters 1,230,701 Yes to 192,704 No, and White 1,241,100 Yes to 73,290.

District judges, who won by similar percentage margins, were Mathew O. Tobbiner and Daniel R. Shemaker of the first district, Parker Wood, Roy L. Hernron and John J. Ford, all of the second district, and Martin J. Coughlin and Arthur C. Shepard of the fourth.

They are paid $24,000 a year.

VOTING

trict: William T. Bagley 39,257, Everett A. Matzen 20,878. (Republican Bagley also carried Sonoma County to win by a wide margin.)

State Senate, 13th District: McCarthy 45,021, Geller 15,138.

The heavy vote made counting slow at the precincts, but the tabulations were run rapidly, using International Business Machines tabulating equipment, as the ballot envelopes were returned to the courthouse from the polling places.

Housewife Sues Car Club For Injuries

A Mill Valley housewife is suing the National Automobile Club and its agents for allegedly using abusive language and bruising her wrists when she called for a repair of a flat tire on her car last September.

Mrs. Ella May Davenport, who lives on Summit Drive, filed the suit in Marin Superior Court through her attorney Charles L. Convis. Named as defendants are the automobile club, Raymond Bennett of Ray's Shell Service in Mill Valley and Bennett's employee, Phillips Hale Pedlar.

According to her attorney, this is what happened:

She called the National Automobile Club on Sept. 13 to have the tire changed. After several calls and a long wait, Pedlar showed up in a truck. By then, Mrs. Davenport understood that another truck was coming to her aid, and so told Pedlar he was not needed.

Mrs. Davenport said Pedlar insisted she sign certain papers or he would tow her car away. When he began to lower the tow chain, she put her hand on the bumper of her car to prevent him from proceeding. Whereupon, he wrapped the chain around both the bumper and her hand. She screamed and passersby called police.

Mrs. Davenport seeks $10,000 damage for injury to her forearm and wrist and for mental anguish and $10,000 punitive damages.

Woman Smokes In Bed Mattress Destroyed

Smoking in bed ruined another mattress today. Helen Jacobsen, 137 Park Street, San Rafael, told firemen that she dozed off while smoking a cigarette at 1:30 this morning.

Firemen, arriving on the scene found her vainly trying to douse the blaze with water from a tap. They hauled the mattress outside and extinguished the fire. Damage was confined to the mattress, valued at about $100.

Commission Backs County Worker Job

County Building Inspector Harry Grieb, 61, who has worked 14 years for the county, should not be dismissed because of reduction in force, the Marin County Personnel Commission recommended today.

Grieb's position was terminated on Sept. 30 on grounds that he was specializing in electrical inspection, and the county already has an electrical inspector with more seniority. Grieb contended that he is also capable of doing structural inspection, and in this category, he has more seniority than Merl Mauroni, who passed an examination as structural inspector last April and subsequently got the job.

Grieb appealed the dismissal to the personnel commission. The commission, headed by Chairman Julius H. Selinger, announced its recommendation today.

The commission noted that Grieb had worked for the Department of Public Works as building inspector from 1946 until 1954 when the system of specialized inspections was instituted. "He performed all general inspections which included structural inspections," the personnel commission points out.

"Had Mrs. Grieb had a more limited or shorter experience in construction while in the employ of Marin County, the commission would not hesitate to find Mr. Grieb unqualified to perform the functions of a building inspector—construction. But the commission cannot accept the contention that his nine years of continuous experience as building inspector or construction, electrical, plumbing and in all other aspects, should go for naught.

"In view of the foregoing, it is the unanimous recommendation of the Personnel Commission that the termination of Mr. Harry Grieb from employment with the county as a consequence of a reduction of work for based upon 'less service with the county than the other electrical inspector' is improper."

If Grieb is rehired by the county supervisors, then the county will have more inspectors than provided in the budget. What, if anything, will happen to newly hired inspector Mauroni is not clear as yet, according to Public Works Supt. Marvin W. Brigham.

First Patient Due Feb. 1 For Novato

The first patient will move into the Novato General Hospital by next Feb. 1, Dr. John Siemens, executive director, reported today.

The one-story building at Hill and Canyon Streets is nearing completion. Backers of the $286,000 hospital soon will begin moving in some $50,000 worth of equipment, Siemens said.

The hospital was constructed with the financial backing of 11 Novato area doctors and of businessmen, plus a federal loan, after residents in the Novato area voted to break from the Marin County Hospital District last year. The new hospital district will coincide with the Novato Fire District—75 square miles.

Dr. Robert Patocchi is starting to organize the staff of about 15 nurses, plus food service workers, maintenance and janitorial staff needed to run the 30-bed hospital. The hospital will handle emergency, surgical and maternity cases and general hospital cases.

Three members will be elected to the hospital's board of directors Nov. 18 to replace three doctors who have moved from the area. Dr. Ralph Weseman is chairman of the board.

Teachers End Strike In N.Y.

Delegates of the striking United Federation of Teachers voted at a closed meeting to accept an offer from the board of education to return to work.

The board, with the backing of Mayor Robert F. Wagner, had guaranteed that no reprisals would be taken against striking teachers — if they returned to work today.

The union also agreed to meet with three top labor leaders acting as intermediaries in the dispute.

The walkout started Monday when the federation struck over demands for improved conditions and other issues. About 250 of the city's 837 schools had been picketed. Some of the city's one million students refused to cross picket lines and there were reports of minor vandalism.

The federation, which claims a membership of 10,000 among the city's 40,000 teachers, had asserted the strike was picking up momentum. But the board of education, while admitting disruptions in operations, said all the schools had remained open and would continue to do so. Supervisory personnel had been pressed into service and classes doubled up.

The schools were closed yesterday, election day.

Academy Hopefuls Due Screening

Candidates for Rep. Clement W. Miller's appointments to the national service academies will take an academic screening test at 8 a.m. Saturday at the San Rafael High School cafeteria.

The test will cover algebra, vocabulary and reading, with recognition of three-dimensional figures from flat drawings. It is to be given by the U.S. Civil Service Commission as a preliminary guide to evaluation.

Similar tests will be given at three other points in the district—Santa Rosa, Ukiah and Eureka. Board members include Superior Court Judge Richard M. Sims of San Rafael.

Sheriff Says Money Went To Palsy Fund

Sheriff Louis P. Mountanos declared today that there was no similarity between the splitting up of the San Rafael Policemen's Assn. fund and a testimonial dinner-dance given in his honor on Oct. 15.

The sheriff pointed out that the October affair was a testimonial to him, organized by a committee outside his department. He said the committee asked to donate the profits to the sheriff's 1962 campaign fund, but at his request the $500 raised was given to the cerebral palsy fund in Marin County.

The sheriff's statement was in reply to a quotation attributed in Monday's Independent-Journal to former San Rafael Police Chief Frank Kelly (now chief of Sonoma police). Kelly defended the dividing of $4,000 among 25 police officers when the San Rafael Policemen's Assn. disbanded in 1957.

Kelly claimed yesterday that he was misquoted in a statement that the fund "was for the benefit of the police themselves and was no different from when Sheriff Mountanos gave a dinner recently and the money was split up afterward."

VOTERS, WATCHERS AND SITTER

Jordan To Ask Compulsory Vote Machines

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Secretary of State Frank Jordan, obviously not completely satisfied at the speed of election returns in populous California, said today he would ask the 1961 legislature to make voting machines compulsory in all but three counties.

"If we had the machines," he said, "we could get these elections completed within a few hours."

GETS SUPPORT

Jordan said he has spoken with leading members of the state legislature about his plan and had received their wholehearted support.

"After all, the legislators are vitally interested in fast returns, too," he said.

Jordan already claimed support of one of the Senate's key members, Finance Committee Chairman James McBride (D-Ventura), who holds the purse-strings in the upper house.

"He's 100 per cent for it," said Jordan, "and he agrees that voting machines should be compulsory—not voluntary."

THREE EXCEPTIONS

There would be only three exceptions — Mono and Inyo and possibly Los Angeles counties. Jordan suggested a modified absentee ballot for the two small mountain counties and said Los Angeles County Registrar Ben Hite had come up with an electronic sampling for the state's largest county that showed signs of speeding up tabulations.

To emphasize his point, Jordan pointed out that San Francisco County with voting machines completed its tally shortly after midnight in yesterday's election while smaller counties still were not complete at midday today.

The deepest oil well drilled in 1959 was in Texas. It cost $3 million, went down almost five miles—and found nothing.

Strep Infections, Mumps Lead List

Mumps and strep infections led the list of communicable diseases reported in Marin County during the week ending last Saturday, according to report by Dr. Carolyn B. Albrecht, health officer.

There were eight cases apiece during the week. San Anselmo had six of the mumps cases, the largest number of ailments reported by any community.

There were three cases of measles, two of syphilis, and one each of tuberculosis and gonorrhea reported during the week.

Fire Wrecks Radiation Lab Experiment

A spokesman for the lab, operated by University of California, said there was no dangerous contamination.

There was no injury to technicians.

Watch Out! Speed Zone Extended

Watch it while you drive through Stinson Beach!

An already existing 25-mile-per-hour speed limit through the heart of the community is to be extended for .2 of a mile.

This cuts the pace from 35 miles an hour between Calle del Mar and Calle del Arroyo.

Revision was decided on as result of a State Division of Highways engineering - traffic study and was concurred in by the California Highway Patrol, with enforcement effective on posting of signs within two weeks.

Hub City Council Will Meet On Downtown Development

The San Anselmo City Council tonight is scheduled to decide what is going to be done about downtown development.

Will the Millbrae engineering and planning firm of Wilsey, Ham and Blair be hired to prepare a "precise" plan for $12,800 or will the planning phases of the new study be eliminated?

That's the question that the councilmen are scheduled to tackle when they meet at 8 p.m. in the downstairs children's room of the library.

The San Anselmo city planners argued with representatives of Wilsey, Ham and Blair on Oct. 25 that further planning would only be a duplication of the master plan already worked out by consultant James M. Campbell.

Also before the council tonight is a proposal to make Sequoia Drive a limited access road to the proposed new Cedars Development School site on a 20-acre sliver of unincorporated land bordered by Mount Tamalpais Cemetery and Sunny Hills Orphanage. Some 50 property owners along Sequoia Drive have petitioned the county board of supervisors against using the road.

The council is scheduled to appoint a fulltime mechanic to take charge of all machinery and supervise the new corporation yard at the end of San Francisco Boulevard. The job was created at the council meeting of Oct. 11 and will pay between $415 and $505 per month.

Fire Chief Given Increase Of $25

Tiburon Fire Protection District commissioners Monday gave Fire Chief Frank J. Buscher a $25 a month raise effective Dec. 1. His salary will be $550 per month.

Commissioners and Bert Klahn, executive directors of the Marin County Housing Authority discussed the new fire prevention regulations for the Hilarita housing project.

The district will join the National Fire Protection Assn., it was decided. Warrants were approved totaling $1,696.

Clara Bass Wins 1st Place At Exhibit

Winner in the craft division was Pauline Barken. Benjamin Borek took second in the painting Division. Choices were by popular vote.

WOMEN'S STYLE SHOP IN NEW QUARTERS

HAFB Plans Open House On Vets' Day

The gates of Hamilton Air Force Base will be opened Friday, veterans' day, to perhaps the largest number of visitors ever to see the installation at one time.

The emphasis will be on youth— 200 youth groups and 20 veterans organizations have been invited to participate. The traditional parade will be made up of youth groups and vets.

The open house will be from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m., with the parade beginning at 10:15 a.m. The youthful master of ceremonies for part of the ceremonies will be San Rafael Eagle Scout Ron Turner, son of KTIM manager Hugh Turner.

SPEAKERS NAMED

The moment of silence at 11 a.m. in commemoration of war dead, will be followed by speeches from Novato's Mayor Wayne Womach (the base is within the Novato city limits), Roy Ibich of Mill Valley, veteran and Boy Scout executive; and Maj. Gen. John Stevenson, commander of the 28th Air Division-SAGE at the base.

One of the "honored guests" during ceremonies on the flight line will be Vito Bertoldo of Ignacio, the only living Congressional Medal of Honor winner in Marin.

PLANES TO FLY

A formation of T-33 jet trainers will fly over the base at 11 a.m. followed by a three-plane formation from the 349th Troop Carrier Reserve Wing from the base. Reservists will fly C-119s, traversing Marin from Sausalito, North, returning to the base after 11 a.m.

At 1:15, the base's jet interceptor fighters will stage a flyby, at 2 p.m. They'll demonstrate a high speed takeoff and at 3 p.m. the takeoff of an F102 will signalize the close of base activities.

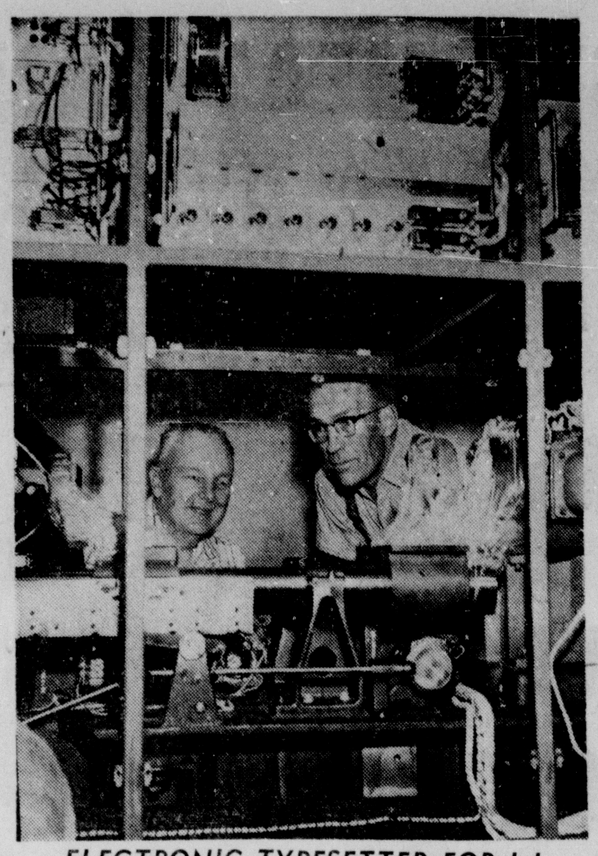
Displays on the ground will include the F-101, F-102, C-119 Flying Boxcar, helicopters, and a C-121 Constellation, modified for radar picket use far over the Pacific.

Jet engines, helicpoter engines and automatic weapons will be displayed in hangers.

GENIE DISPLAY

Models of the Genie missile, which can carry a nuclear warhead, the GAR and Falcon missiles, pilot equipment and rescue equipment will complete the displays.

For those tred of standing, they can sit and listen to the San Rafael Military Academy Band and the 573rd Air Force Band.



ELECTRONIC TYPESETTER FOR I-J

Inspecting the main unit of a massive electronic typesetting machine which produces advertising copy by a photographic process are Gordon Dixon, Independent-Journal plant superintendent (right) and Ernest Fingerlos, machinist. The complex machine arrived yesterday from Mergenthaler Linotype Co. and is expected to be in operation within a month. It will produce sharper and clearer letters from its 106 different type faces in half the time taken by a Linotype operator, Dixon said. Operators type display advertising copy on electric keyboards and the Linofilm photographic unit selects and photographs letters by means of a punched tape. Engravings are made from prints pasted on paper sheets. (Independent-Journal photo)

Hypnotism In Hands Of Amateurs Can Be Menace To Mental Health

Kathy is 15. Formerly she was very shy. She couldn't stand crowds. She was afraid most of the time. A boy in her neighborhood had taken lessons in hypnotism. He offered to "cure" her.

He said the "treatments" would be harmless. Kathy's folks consented and the girl had four sessions with him. She seemed much better and everyone was delighted when suddenly she cracked up. She's deeply insane now, with schizophrenia.

Bill was afraid of elevators. He got hysterical whenever he entered one. He also went to a hypnotist and his fear was removed. Then he erupted into a manic state, followed by an attempt at suicide. He almost succeeded.

Chuck wanted to overcome his fear of the water and an amateur hypnotist treated him. The result? Chuck can't eat or sleep. He doesn't even recognize his mother.

He'll be in a hospital for a long time.

Helen went to a hypnotist to reduce. She was 30 pounds overweight. After six sessions she cracked up. Now she lies motionless in bed and is fed intravenously.

These teen-agers are victims of the hypnotism fad. There are basic reasons for their fears, but the hypnotists didn't know it. They removed the symptoms and caused the breakdowns. I know several adults who are in trouble for the same reason.

READERS' FORUM

(Q) "A school psychologist wants to test my girl. He says it will help him learn why she can't read. Then he may be able to teach her. Will the tests hurt her?"—E. T.

(A) No, they will not. Such tests are the first step in special reading instruction. Be sure to give your consent.

Film On Novato Due Tomorrow

Novato history will come to life on the movie screen tomorrow.

The city's volunteer firemen are sponsoring a showing of a film produced by Alton Lerch of Novato showing the "colorful, romantic, cruel and wealthy past of North Marin," as posters for the show describe it. Donations from spectators will go toward the fund to fight muscular dystrophy.

Beginning at 8 p.m. at Novato High School, the film will move back to the early 1800s with still photos, and will come up to present-day history-making events. Lerch spent eight years in producing the film, which is accompanied by a taped sound track.

Holy Name Society Schedules Speaker

Rev. Mark Hurley, Marin Catholic High School principal, will speak Sunday morning at St. Anselm's Holy Name Society's semi-annual breakfast at the Mission Inn in San Rafael.

The breakfast will be preceded by a Mass at 8 a.m. which will be offered for deceased members of the society. David Del Tredici will be organist during the Mass.

San Rafael Planners Schedule Two Hearings

Two public hearings are scheduled for tonight's meeting of the San Rafael Planning Commission at 7:30 o'clock in the city hall.

The second hearing on a proposal to permit rubbish dumping in San Rafael's manufacturing-heavy commercial zone will be held. The planners may then take action and send their recommendation to the city council for another public hearing.

A hearing will also be held on a variance request by Melvin Marlowe of 50 Arguello Circle to enclose his tennis court with a 12-foot fence. Ordinance limits fences to six feet within any rear or side yard.

Planners will also consider renaming Rafael Street in East San Rafael. Postmaster Warren H. Williams asked for a name change because local postmen also serve a Rafael Drive, Rafael Way and San Rafael Avenue.

The planners will consider revoking a use permit granted to Spero P. Spiliotis and Co. for a skating rink between Rafael and Belvedere Street if the company won't improve one-half of Rafael Street along 130 feet of its property.

City Planner Donald Newmark will report on forming an architectural approval committee in San Rafael.

Newmark will also make his recommendations on rezoning the area around Chris-Craft Sales at 25 Third Street from duplex to commercial.

Signs are a big item on the agenda. Use permits will be considered for a 35-foot high illuminated sign advertising Northgate Shopping Center on Manuel Freitas Parkway in Terra Linda, and two temporary signs.

The planners will also consider architectural approval for a proposed 20-unit apartment house on the south side of Canal Street. The split level building—part two stories and part three stories high—was designed by Edward Hageman and Associates of San Rafael for Peter Larkins, also of San Rafael. Larkins is also seeking a sideyard setback variance.

Judge Sims Clears Prospective Juror

Dorothy S. Gester of 25 Fairway Drive, San Rafael, who was ordered to show why she did not appear for jury duty last month, has been released by the judge.

Judge Richard M. Sims of Marin Superior Court said he later learned that Mrs. Gester had appeared in the county clerk's office to explain she had an appointment for dental surgery that same afternoon.

John Harris, deputy sheriff who tried to serve Mrs. Gester on Oct. 25, said she pushed the summons back at him.

Officials at the county clerk's office said Mrs. Gester arrived at the office and was told to wait for the judge. She had the dental surgery appointment and could not wait.

The judge, after hearing the full story Monday, cleared Mrs. Gester.

C. Of C. Drops Parking Plan In Tiburon

The Tiburon Peninsula Chamber of Commerce yesterday dropped all efforts to establish a permanent, public parking facility in downtown Tiburon.

A letter to all property owners within the district had dropped no response. Member George Bitter moved that "since there is no possibility of having a district," the matter be dropped. The motion was seconded by Fred G. Zelinsky, who fought the district's establishment bitterly at the last four meetings of the chamber. It was passed 8-0 by the board of directors.

Parking committee chairman Felix M. Warburg, who spearheaded the movement, was not present.

Marin City Tenants Council Names Officers At Meeting

Daniel Hayden has been elected chairman of the Marin City Tenants Council along with the following other officers:

Benjamin Miles, vice chairman; Mrs. James Homer, secretary; James Quiett, treasurer; Hardy Westmore, public affairs chairman; Mrs. Rose Sweeney, recreation chairman, and Ollie Thompson, house chairman.

Also at the Monday meeting the council gave $25 to the sheriff's substation at Marin City toward organization of two boys' basketball teams under Sheriff's Sgt. Guy Gibbs.

Robert Klein of Klein TV in San Rafael told the council he could install the television hookup to each Marin City home for $3 per unit per month. The Marin County Housing Authority previously had arranged with another company to do the installations at $4.50. The council authorized a committee to meet with the housing authority to discuss the matter.

Unitarians Schedule Second Public Meeting

The second of three public meetings on "Developing Concepts of God With Children," sponsored by the Unitarian Church of Marin, will be held tomorrow night at 8 p.m., at the Tamalpais Woman's Club, Kentfield.

Discussion will focus on the child from 9 to 12, and will be preceeded by talks by Dr. Joseph Gutstadt and Mrs. Sanford Byers, of the church, on the needs and attitudes of children in this age group.

Dear Fellow Marinites,

To those who participated so generously in my campaign I extend a personal "thank you."

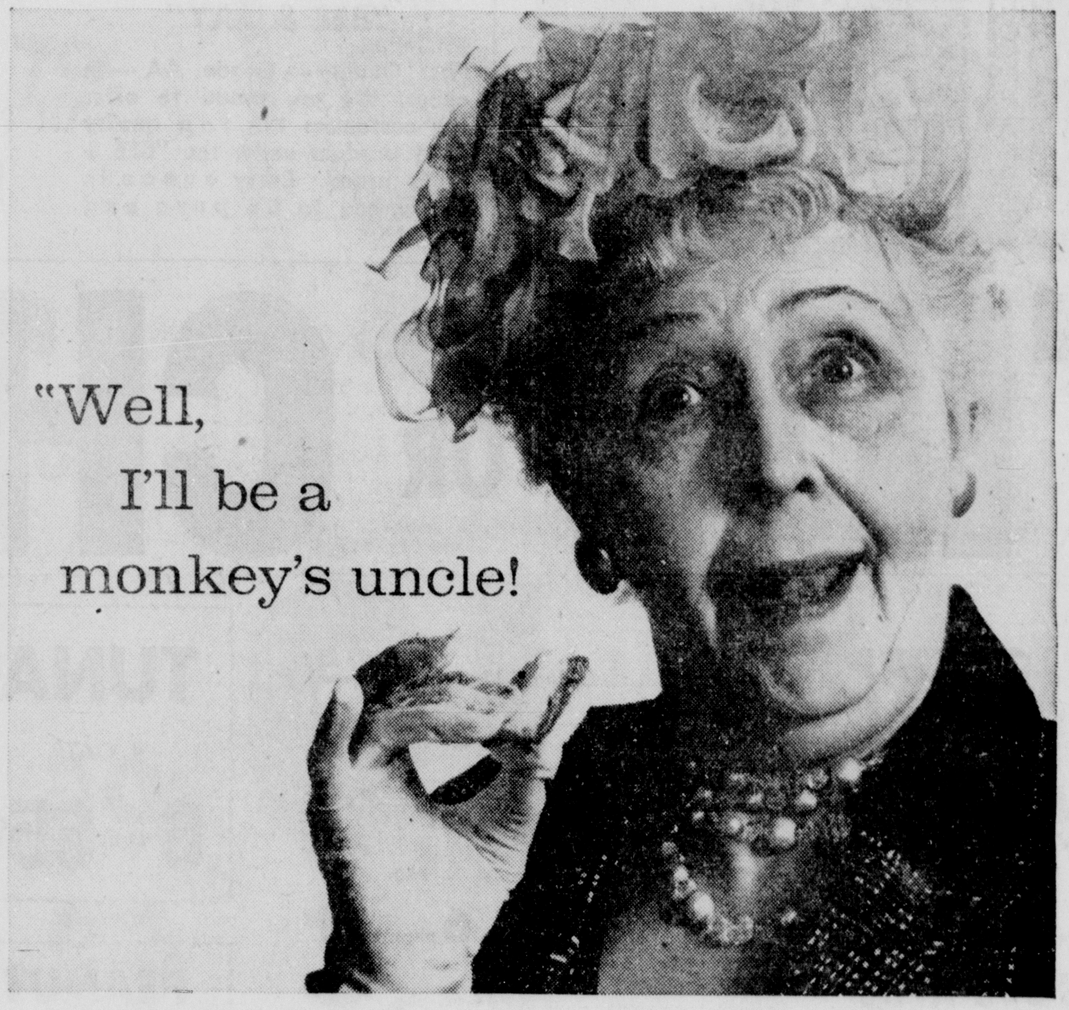
"Well, I'll be a monkey's uncle!



I've got to admit it...curling does make Blue Seal better!"

That's all it takes, ma'am...just one taste! How does a simple curl do it? Well, you see, the new TENDR-KURL* method adds an extra step in the kneading process. It actually curls the dough, stretches the bread-cells to make the bread more tender. Presses out tiny air bubbles, so the bread stays fresher. It's baked longer, too...and that improves the flavor. You say new Blue Seal's the kind of bread you'd bake yourself...if you had time? Well, thank you! What more could we say?

Now it's Tender-Curled

IGNORE BISHOPS

Puerto Ricans Back Governor

SAN JUAN, Puerto Rico (AP)—Puerto Rico's predominately Roman Catholic voters rejected the instructions of their bishops and re-elected Gov. Luis Munoz Marin by a landslide in final unofficial returns today.

Munoz Marin, himself a Catholic, captured 456,317 votes to 325,757 for his three opponents. He won his fourth term as head of this U.S. commonwealth island.

The results of the record poll were a sharp rebuff to the island's three Roman Catholic bishops, who in pastoral letters had warned that a vote for Munoz Marin's Popular Democrats would be a sin because the party did not oppose birth control.

By re-electing Munoz Marin, the voters also approved Puerto Rico's continuance as a commonwealth under the American flag.

Luis Ferre, the Republican candidate, who campaigned for Puerto Rican statehood, was outdistanced almost 2-1. Ferre received 250.633 votes.

Salvador Perea, the Christian Action party candidate backed by the Catholic hierarchy, and Julio Garcia Diaz of the Independence Party ran far behind.

Perea received 51,072 votes. Diaz, who campaigned for independence from the United States, got 24,047.

By failing to get 10 per cent of the vote, both the Christian Action and Independence parties lost their registration as political organizations and the right to proportional representation in the legislature. The Catholic party was making its first race.

Better than 83 per cent of the 937,531 registered voters turned out to choose the governor and legislature. The island is 90 per cent Catholic.

In a victory statement, the 64-year-old Munoz Marin, who has been governor since 1948, thanked the voters for their "generous expression of confidence in the face of such aggression."

In a pastoral letter on Oct. 20 Archbishop James P. Davis of San Juan, Bishop James E. McManus of Ponce and the titular Bishop of Lares, Luis Aponte Martinez, attacked the Popular Democrats for laws permitting sterilization of mental defectives and teaching of birth control in this densely populated island, for tolerating common law marriages and for refusing to sponsor legislation to give school children time off for religious instructions.

Finch Lawyer Examining Loophole

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Dr. R. Bernard Finch's attorney today examined a possible legal loophole through which the surgeon might be able to escape a third trial on charges of murdering his wife.

Attorney Grant B. Cooper said the technicality centers around possible double jeopardy as a result of Superior Court Judge Leroy Dawson's discharging of the second murder trial jury on Monday.

The 12 jurors were unanimous in believing that the 43-year-old Finch, was guilty of murdering his wife Barbara Jean, on July 18, 1959. But Dawson discharged them after more than 70 hours of deliberations when they were unable to agree whether Finch should be convicted of first or second degree murder.

Cooper said the possible loophole would not affect Finch's co-defendant, Carol Tregoff, 23, because the jurors were unable to agree on a verdict for her.

Cooper said section 1157 of the state Penal Code says that if jurors agree on a defendant's guilt but are unable to agree on the degree of his crime, the degree should be "deemed the lesser degree."

Under that section, Dawson should have ruled Finch guilty of second degree murder and sentenced him to a term of five years to life imprisonment, Cooper claimed.

Novato To Fly Flags Veterans' Day

Flags will be flying on Novato's business section Friday, veterans' day.

Under a program sponsored by the Novato Junior Chamber of Commerce, merchants can have flag standards installed in front of their businesses by the Jaycees. Members then will supply a flag and put it up on each of the 10 flag holidays a year. More than 30 merchants have signed up for the program.

U.S. May Give Up West Indies Bases

LONDON (UPI) — The United States plans to give up most of the territory in the West Indies leased by Britain to America in 1941 as military bases in exchange for 50 destroyers, it was announced today.

The U.S. holds the base sites under a 99-year lease granted by Britain 19 years ago. The West Indies is seeking to reclaim the territory.

A communique was issued by the U.S., Britain and the West Indies following the conclusion of the opening phase of their talks on the future of the bases.

The communique said that when the West Indies gains independence it will have the right to form its own alliances and to conclude any agreements it sees fit regarding military bases on its soil.

U.S. representatives are seeking to retain only those bases "which are essential to the discharge of their responsibilities in the field of worldwide and hemispheric defense," the communique said.

The negotiations were opened at the request of the West Indies primarily to determine the future of the Chaguaramas base on Trinidad Island which the West Indies wants as the site of its capital.

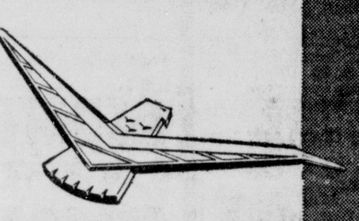
Presenting the 1961



Thunderbird

Changes in so unique and desirable a car have always been approached with restraint. Although unmistakably new, the Thunderbird for 1961 retains its classic lines, its ideally compact size and its 4-passenger luxury. But within those self-imposed limits now come major advancements to carry on the great Thunderbird tradition.

An engineering "first" has been achieved in a steering wheel* that literally moves — as much as ten inches to the right — when the transmission is set in the "PARK" position. This permits unbelievable ease in entering and leaving the driver's seat.

A trio of power assists has been made standard equipment this year — larger power brakes that now adjust themselves automatically, new power steering that reduces effort by 65% while providing even better road feel, and vacuum-controlled Cruise-O-Matic transmission.

In addition to many engineering miracles is a brilliant, new design concept that will appeal to the most discriminating tastes while actually contributing to passenger comfort and convenience.

This, then, is Thunderbird for '61, truly an ultimate car for those who demand simple elegance, superb craftsmanship and unmatched performance. The highest resale record for any luxury car attests to its value. Judge it on the road soon but see it now... at your nearby Ford dealer's.

Bank Branch Gets Go-Ahead

The First National Bank in San Rafael has been given the go-ahead to establish a branch in Terra Linda.

According to A. L. Nieri, first vice president, the controller of currency notified the bank the area was suitable for a branch. Permission from the federal agency is required before banks may establish branches, Nieri said.

The bank would be located in the new shopping center now under construction at the entrance to the subdivision. Application for the branch was made several years ago, Nieri said, but not until this time did the comptroller rule the area sufficiently developed to support a branch bank.

Nier said that it was impossible to determine what effect the proposed merger of the First National and Crocker Anglo National Banks might have on the planned branch.

MORE IN STATE, TOO

Upswing In Crime Reported In Marin

Seven Bay Area counties — Marin, Sonoma, Napa, Solano, Contra Costa, Santa Clara and San Mateo—kept abreast of the rest of California by reporting an upswing in crime during the first six months of 1960.

The state as a whole reported more crime during this period than in any six months since 1954, the year the State Bureau of Criminal Statistics began compiling detailed crime and conviction data.

Above the state average of a 17.3 per cent increase was the Sacramento Valley area which reported a 34.6 per cent upswing. Below the state average was the San Joaquin Valley area with only 10.2 per cent above last year.

The bureau's report did not indicate Marin's individual crime increase, but linked the county in the report with the six other Bay Area counties, excluding San Francisco and Alameda.

Felony crimes reported in the seven-county area increased from 6,721 during the first six months of 1959, to 8,478 for the same period this year. Last year's figure represents 355 felonies per 100,000 population. The 1960 figure indicates an increase to 427.2 per 100,000.

Adult felony arrests in the same counties during the 1959 period totaled 1,952 and increased to 2,243 during the first six months of this year.

Of these, 857 were convicted in superior court during the first half of 1959. For the same period this year, 851 convictions resulted.

(Commenting on the discrepancy between arrests and convictions, Sheriff Louis P. Mountanous said that a single arrest may clear up many reported crimes. "Take the case of the two 'pillowcase" burglars," Mountanous said. "With only two arrests, 28 separate crimes were solved.")

Juvenile delinquency arrests throughout the state during the first half of this year totaled 89,789. The seven Bay Area counties accounted for 13,009 of these, representing 679.1 juvenile arrests per 100,000 population. For the same period of 1959, there were only 11,009 juvenile arrests, or 581.6 per 100,000 population.

Marin County alone reported 465 felony crimes up until July 1 of this year. They included robbery, assault, burglary, theft, auto theft and forcible rape.

By departments, the totals were: Sheriff's office, 204; Belvedere, 4; Corte Madera, 5; Fairfax, 11; Larkspur, 23; Mill Valley, 34; San Anselmo, 20; San Rafael, 101; Sausalito, 63.

Listed separately were forgery, bad check and "all other" cases. The county total from January through June, 1960, was 287.

By department report, they were: Sheriff's office, 72; Belvedere, 1; Corte Madera, 35; Fairfax, 1; Larkspur, 11; Mill Valley, 33; San Anselmo, 17; San Rafael, 103; Sausalito, 14.

Novato cases were handled through the sheriff's office. Ross reported no felony cases.

HANLEY

Over-simplifications seldom solve complicated problems. It was easy to attribute the complete breakdown of the 49er offense against the Detroit Lions to failure of the offensive line to execute blocking assignments.

"When you are getting licked at the line of scrimmage it doesn't matter who is in the backfield," said Red Hickey.

It would be difficult to find fault with that statement, particularly as the 49er coach applied it to the Detroit game. But why was the 49er offensive forward wall licked at the line by Detroit when just a week earlier it was superb against the Bears?

The mental and emotional approach of a team to a particular game obviously plays an important part in its outcome. It is a proven physical fact that extra charges of adrenalin caused by emotional stress do enable individuals to perform seemingly super-human feats.

However, no team can go through an entire season riding on an emotional crest such as buoyed the 49ers in their flawless performance against the Bears. The stimulant in that instance was a pre-game dedication of a bench to the memory of the 49ers' founder, Tony Morabito, who had succumbed to a heart attack under dramatic circumstances three years ago during another Bear-49er game.

FOR ONE REASON or another all teams reach emotional peaks. The Lions last Sunday, for instance, were seething for revenge because they felt they had been jobbed out of their first meeting with the 49ers. To make sure his men were thoroughly angry, Detroit coach George Wilson showed them the film of that first game just before their second encounter with the 49ers.

What does all this mean? That the team that is emotionally highest will win? Nonsense. Actually it is easier to make a mistake when angry. A cool, determined approach to any job is much sounder than emotional rashness.

The reason Detroit's defensive line crushed every blocking effort of the 49ers is that the Lions stacked the middle—just as every team has been doing against the 49ers this season because the 49ers have no outside speed.

HICKEY HAS SAID he intended to use either Abe Woodson or Ray Norton to furnish the speed but thus far has been reluctant to do it because of lack of experience. Woodson can't get offensive experience playing on defense and Norton certainly can't get it sitting on the bench.

Norton now has been in for exactly two plays, the first against Green Bay, the second against Detroit last Sunday. The Green Bay game, already lost when Norton made his debut, seemed a perfect opportunity to give Norton needed experience. But Hickey pulled him after one pass incompletion.

Until the 49ers correct the basic flaw in their offense, all NFL teams are going to continue playing tight defenses to contain the 49ers' inside game. And the 49er offensive line is going to find its inside blocking assignments tougher and tougher.

SQUAW VALLEY TO GET POOL

This is a landscape drawing of how the tomahawk swimming pool and cabana under construction at Squaw Valley State Park will appear when completed. The pool will be heated for year-around use at the site of the 1960 Winter Olympic Games. The park's opening is scheduled for Dec. 1. (AP Wirephoto)

HICKEY LOOKS FORWARD TO NEXT SEASON

Hickey's crew met with personnel scout Pappy Waldorf yesterday to start analyzing college players in preparation for the National Football League's annual draft meeting in New York Dec. 27.

The coach said the whole 49er team left much to be desired, according to films of last week's 24-0 loss at the hands of Detroit. The defeat virtually dropped San Francisco out of the Western Division race, with a record of four losses and three wins.

Quarterback Y. A. Tittle was sidelined with a groin injury for the Detroit game, but Hickey said he would be ready for action against the Dallas Cowboys in Texas on Nov. 20.

Tam Cagers Win Marin League Championship

Coming frfom behind on 0-8 deficit early in the first quarter, Coach George Gustafson's Tamalpais Indians yesterday clinched the Class C basketball championship of the Marin County Athletic League with a 34-25 victory over Marin Catholic.

The game, played at Marin's gymnasium, was Tam's 11th victory against a single defeat. Defending champion San Rafael, with one game remaining, has a 9-2 record while Marin Catholic is 8-3.

After spotting Marin that 8-0 lead, Tam roared back to trim its deficit to 10-14 at the end of the first period and 16-19 at half. The Indians finally took the lead in the third period when James Bullock fired three quick field goals and it was 24-23 Tam at the end of that stanza. The Indians held Marin to two points in the final period while they pulled away for the big victory.

Fred Harris led Tam scorers with 11 points while Bullock came in with 10. Jim Langbehn totalled 11 for Marin.

Mrs. Apostoli Ties Novato Golf Record

Mrs. Fred Apostoli of Fairfax, wife of the former world middleweight boxing champion, yesterday tied the Indian Valley golf course record for women in leading her team to victory over another team led by national professional champion Betsy Rawles in an exhibition at the Novato links.

Mrs. Apostoli toured the front nine in 36 strokes to tie the record set previously by Melinda Magley and Carmen Waidmann, both of Sonoma. In firing even par Mrs. Apostoli had the best score of the day. Her teammates, Mrs. John Cann of the Meadow Club and Mrs. Waidmann scored 38 and 39 respectively and the team had a best ball score of 34—two under par.

Miss Rawls carded 41 and her teammates Mrs. Magley had 43 and Mrs. William May of Novato 40. Their best ball was 36.

Miss Rawls wowed a gallery of approximately 200 from tee to green, but had trouble on the Novato greens, three-putting four of them.

She also conducted a clinic free of charge which also attracted approximately 200.

In an "I Beat Betsy Rawls" contest 35 of 65 entrants beat Miss Rawls with the aid of their handicaps.

Humboldt State Ranked Third In Small Colleges

KANSAS CITY (AP)—The Lumberjacks of Humboldt State College were ranked third in the nation today by the National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics.

The Eureka football squad is 8-0 this season and has won 17 consecutive games in two seasons.

Ranked No. 1 was Lenoir Rhyne (8-0) of Hickory, N.C., and Florida A&M (6-0) was second.

The other California team in the rankings was Cal Poly of Pomona (5-2), which tied for 20th.

Also in the top 10 were, in order, Southern Illinois, Southeastern Louisiana, Whitworth (Wash.), Texas A&I, West Chester (Pa.), Langston (Okla.) and Williamette (Ore.).

Marin Grid League Ends This Weekend

Marin County Athletic League's 1960 football season comes to a close this weekend with three games on the schedule — starting tomorrow night with Marin Catholic opposing the San Rafael Bulldogs at San Rafael.

The big game of the week will take place Friday afternoon at Kentfield between Redwood, seeking its second straight title, and the Drake Pirates. Friday night the final game matches Tamalpais and Novato, currently tied for second place, at Kentfield.

Here are the standings:

	W	L
Redwood	4	0
Tamalpais	3	1
Novato	3	1
Drake	1	3
Marin Catholic	0	4

TITLE CHANCES

A Redwood victory Friday afternoon would give the Giants the league's undisputed championship. However, should Drake upset Redwood then the winner of the Tam-Novato contest would tie the Giants for the championship.

The San Rafael-Marin Catholic game was moved up from the customary Friday night game to Thursday night because of the Veterans Day holiday Friday.

Earlier in the season these same two rivals battled to a 12-12 tie in practice and another thriller is expected.

Ailing Raiders Expected To Play

OAKLAND (UPI) — The Oakland Raiders returned home from a three-game eastern swing with three ailing players—but all three are expected to see action against the Buffalo Bills at San Francisco's Kezar Stadium Sunday.

Five Homers Spark Giants

SHIMONOSEKI, Japan (AP) — San Francisco Giants walloped the Japan All-Stars 11-5 here today in the 13th game of their 16-game goodwill tour of Japan.

This gives the Giants a nine won, three loss, one tie record against teams selected from Japan's two professional baseball leagues.

The visitors scored most of their runs on five homers—two by Willie Mays and one each by Orlando Cepeda, Eddie Bressoud and Willie McCovey. They garnered 13 hits off five Japanese hurlers.

Giant pitchers Billy O'Dell and George Maranda limited Japanese batters to eight hits, including two home runs.

O'Dell, Maranda (7) and Landrith; Kajimoto, G. Shidama (5), Horimoto (6), Kaneda (8) and Nomura.

Home runs: Giants — Mays (2), Cepeda, Bressoud and McCovey. Japan—Toyoda and Nomura.

Kilmer Picked As National Back Of Week—Second Time

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

For the second time this season, Bill Kilmer, who plays tailback in UCLA's single-wing formation, has been named the Associated Press back of the week for doing everything a tailback is supposed to do.

Kilmer, who runs, passes, kicks and confuses the opposition by faking one of these maneuvers and performing another, was first named for his feats against Purdue in the second game of the season. He was named again today for an even more impressive performance in last Saturday's 28-0 victory over California.

Kilmer barely beat out Ed Dyas, Auburn's record-smashing place kicker, on the basis of recommendations of sports writers and broadcasters.

SET UP all four UCLA touchdowns, scoring two himself on short line smashes.

PASSED AND ran for 225 yards for a six-game average of 191 yards a game. Gained 109 yards on 16 running attempts and completed 8 of 11 passes for 116 yards.

Dyas broke one NCAA record and tied another when he kicked two field goals against Mississippi State and barely missed another when his 49-yard effort bounced off the crossbar. His nine field goals for the season established a record, and his career total of 13 tied the NCAA mark.

The Auburn fullback also scored two touchdowns on runs of 22 and 52 yards, set up another with a 25-yard run, caught a pass for 16 yards and kicked three extra points. That was a 21-point performance in a 27-12 victory.

Rams Put Shofner On Defensive '11'

MADISON, Wis. (AP)—The Los Angeles Rams may revert to Del Shofner and Olendon Thomas in the defensive backfield Sunday when they play the Lions in Detroit.

Shofner, normally an offensive end, and Thomas, offensive back, were used to bolster the Ram secondary when Los Angeles beat Detroit recently. They took over for Charlie Britt and Don Ellersick.

Coach Bob Waterfield is anxious to strengthen the defense as much as possible because of the shortage of linebackers. Bill Jobko, Jack Pardee and Les Richter are badly banged up, and Bob Long will not be able to play Sunday.

The Rams are training here but will fly to Detroit Friday. They will return here Monday to resume training for the Green Bay Packers at Milwaukee, Nov. 20.

Miss Thriftway Qualifies For Gold Cup Races

LAS VEGAS (AP)—The National champion unlimited speedboat, Miss Thriftway, of Seattle, has qualified for the Gold Cup Races on Lake Mead Saturday and Sunday.

Driven by Bill Muncey, Miss Thriftway averaged 112.34 miles an hour in three runs over the three-mile Gold Cup course yesterday.

Huskies Bearing Down For Bears

SEATTLE (AP) — Coach Jim Owens put his University of Washington charges through a 90-minute scrimmage yesterday and there was no indication the Huskies were letting up for California.

Saturday's game with the Golden Bears marks the end both of Washington's home games and end of its competition against Big Five Conference opponents.

The Huskies, apparently in awe of Cal quarterback Randy Gold's passing game, spent about a third of their time working on pass defense.

SPOT BOWLING

All-American Says Shoot, Don't Aim

By DICK WEBER

Although some bowling instructors insist that spot bowling is for the advanced bowler only, I don't hesitate to teach it to the inexperienced beginner.

I maintain it is easier to roll the ball consistently over a spot only 10 or 15 feet away from the foul line than it is to hit a target 60 feet distant as the pins are. This latter method of sighting in on the 1-3 pocket is called pin bowling.

Modern lanes are equipped with arrows and range finders inlaid right into the boards. I start my spot bowling instruction by asking the bowler to line up his right shoulder (assuming he is a righthander) with the second arrow from the right-hand edge of the lane. If the bowling lane does not have arrows, I ask them to select a particular board that is shaded lighter or darker than the rest.

The ball, which is directly under the shoulder, should be rolled over that second arrow from the right with a standard hook ball delivery. If the ball goes to the right of the 1-3 pocket, when it contacts the pins, simply roll the ball the next time, one or two boards to the left of the arrow. Conversely, if the ball crosses over to the "Brooklyn" side, roll it a couple of boards to the right of the marker.

Using this spot method, you actually try to reach out with your hand at the end of the delivery and point to the spot about 10 feet down the lane. It's almost impossible to aim this accurately at a distant target.

Your local bowling proprietor has spent good money having the range finders installed on his lanes. Take advantage of this convenience and develop the most important factor in bowling—accuracy.

Tomorrow: Curve vs. Hook.

By FOREST EVASHEVSKI
Iowa Football Coach
Written for Associated Press

Don't believe some of the critics who are long on lungs and short on knowledge: College football in 1960 does not need to apologize for any aspect of it.

It is well-regulated and administered, a healthy rallying point for students, a tie between the alumni and their alma mater and a Saturday afternoon outlet for the public.

Because a young man is a good football player he can earn a scholarship which might not otherwise be available to him. Football, therefore, provides his means of securing a college education.

Eligibility regulations are a motivating factor in causing the player to improve his grade-point average. If he wants to play, of course, he must achieve the necessary standards and so he must exert himself mentally more than the average student.

The approach to the game is more thorough and scientific than ever before. Our coaching staffs are meticulous in preparation of the players. The game has become so complex that a player must keep mentally alert if he is to master the various situations.

Because of the impact of television and radio, more people than ever before are college football conscious. Seeing it or listening to it, they become attracted and the next move is to be present at the game itself.

Sometimes it seems strange that it has become fashionable to criticize football. Unfortunately, most of these critics do not bother to recognize the true facts. There are many cases where the critic actually has an ax to grind, makes no pretense of being fair and is against football on general principles.

Cleveland's Plum Top NFL Passer

NEW YORK (AP) — Milt Plum of the Cleveland Browns threw his 99th pass of the season without an interception last Sunday and held his place as No. 1 passer in the National Football League. But teammate Jimmy Brown bounced back off the New York Giants defensive platoon too often and dropped from first to third in rushing.

Plum, the Browns' quarterback, held the top spot for the third straight week. He has completed 68 out of 99 attempts, and has gained a total of 1,075 yards and passed for eight touchdowns.

When Cleveland was limited to six yards net on the ground by the Giants, Brown was passed by Jim Taylor of Green Bay and John Crow of St. Louis. Taylor has gained 540 yards on 128 attempts, Crow 524 yards and Brown 521. Brown has the best average of the three, 5.5 yards a carry.

The BULLPEN

CONNOLLY

In the bygone days, when Eddie Maier owned the Vernon Tigers in the Coast League and "Hap" Hogan, one of baseball's immortal funnymen managed the club, they had a young fellow named Gene Doyle who gave up baseball writing because it lacked action. He became the promotional manager for the Vernon Club and to this day has left a mark for others to shoot at but never to equal.

Now in his 70s, Doyle is the dean of sports observers in Los Angeles. He relates vividly his experiences with Barney Oldfield, Jim Jeffries, Frank Chance, Will Rogers and, later, Gene Autrey.

Today one of his closest friends and always his admirer is Fred Haney, former Milwaukee Brave manager. The two had a huddle in L.A. recently and some of their comments are good hot stove league gossip at this time of the year.

"Until baseball gives the signing of ball players back to the managers of major league clubs, it is going to be in trouble," Doyle was telling Haney.

LOGAN HIT for an average of .290 one year while Haney was bossing the club. He wanted a raise in salary. Haney vetoed the raise on the grounds that Logan would purposely foul off pitches he was supposed to bunt.

But Logan went to the Braves' business manager and got his raise over the head of Haney. So that is one of the leading points in today's winter league sermon.

"If he does," Haney says, "he has to call the player aside and speak to him privately.

"You know," says Haney, "each club has a player representative and if the manager wants to criticize, he must first get permission from the players' representative."

Stengel never wanted Martin to leave the Yanks and said so. He also vetoed the trading of Hank Bauer, but the Yanks' front office thought otherwise and that, as much as Casey's age and pension rights, had as much to do with his replacement as anything else.

DOYLE, WHO first promoted Babe Ruth on his barnstorming tours of California, believes that ownership wants more publicity than it is getting.

It was Doyle who raised midget racing to its present high level. He took Gene Autrey and Will Rogers and other cowboy actors along the golden path that led them to fame and fortune. And now in his evening of life's span Doyle goes back to his first love—baseball.

This Season Has Put Foot Into Football

By JACK CLARY
Associated Press

If the 1960 college football season accomplishes little else, it will be known for returning, in a big way, the foot to football. And at the same time it may be bidding farewell to the "workhorse" back who has dominated many backfields.

The return of the foot is emphasized, not only in the continuing trend toward the successful use of the field goal, but in the diminishing use of the 2-point conversion try, now in its third season.

Danny Hill, of the National Collegiate Athletic Bureau, comes up with some interesting statistics as the season passed the two-thirds mark.

The 2-point play was used 51.4 per cent of the time the first year it was on the books. Then came the widening of the goal posts, and its usage dropped to 40 per cent in 1959 while this season has seen a further decline to only 29.5 per cent.

At the same time, the accuracy of the place kickers in this period has risen from 68.6 to 79.7 per cent, again getting a boost from the widened goal posts.

The field goal pace is slightly ahead of last year's pace when a record 195 were kicked in major college games. So far 168 have been made.

The disappearance of the "workhorse" is not a sudden thing but there have never been fewer than this season. UCLA's Bill Kilmer, who has played only six games, has handled the ball 321 times for an average of 91 yards per game. In eight games, quarterback Howard Dyer of Virginia Military has averaged 29 attempts per game and has been among the total offense leaders for the season. Terry Baker of Oregon State has averaged 172 yards per game.

Monroe Kayoes Valdez

When Bally Ache was retired to the farm this fall his earnings for two seasons of racing was $758,022.

Frost Only Marinite To Come Home With A 'First' Trophy

Ken Frost, Marin Pirates' star breast stroker, was the lone swimmer of three Marin clubs to come home with a first place from the annual mid-winter championship of the San Francisco Park and Recreation Department last weekend.

Frost turned in a fast 1:09.5 performance in the 15-16 boys' 100-yard breast stroke at San Francisco's Hamilton Plunge Sunday.

Dick Chambers was second in the senior 400-yard freestyle, Bob Girvin second in the 10-and-under boys 50 back and third in the 50 free, George Girvin third in the 13-14 boys 100 butterfly, and Terry Politi third in the 13-14 boys' 100 back.

The Ann Curtis Swim Club was second in the 10-and-under boys' 133⅓-yard freestyle relay, with the team of J. Thompson, M. Thompson, Wilhelm and Cuneo; and third in the same event for 10-and-under girls, with Morris, Cuneo, Guthrie and Thompson competing.

Tamalpais Swim Club's girls 10-and-under free relay, composed of Bright, Krieger, Krieger and Kopan, was fifth in the finals.

Individuals from Marin (all with the Pirates) to reach the finals of the big meet, were: Jeff McCreary, fourth, senior men's back; Gerry Keeler, fifth, 10 and under boys' 50 back; Lynne Keeler, fifth, 13-14 girls' 100 free; Bob Scott, fifth, 15-16 boys' 100 breast; Candy Beeler, sixth, 11-12 girls' 50 breast; Denny Arms, sixth, 11-12 boys' free.

Ron Attwell made an auspicious debut with the Cleveland Barons in the American Hockey League. He scored the winning goals in the team's first two games this season.

When shades of harvest gold tinge the countryside, pumpkin pie comes to the dessert fore with its own winning color and flavor A menu treat at dinner parties and afternoon and evening dessert socials, this golden pie will also climax many a Thanksgiving feast.

Now, as in Pilgrim days, the "fixins'" boost pumpkin pie to dessert fame. Eggs and evaporated milk give the filling a smooth custard texture. Ginger and other spices give it distinctiveness of flavor. When the pie is made the modern chiffon way with unflavored gelatine, the filling has a lightness of texture pleasing at the end of a meal.

The easily assembled chiffon filling calls for such modern convenience foods as canned ready-to-use pumpkin and smooth, blendable evaporated milk. Unflavored gelatine, by capturing the air beaten into the egg whites used, gives the filling the fluffiness and dramatic height characteristic of chiffons.

The pumpkin mixture, chilled in a baked pastry crust or in a graham cracker or cooky crumb crust, is trimmed with a low calorie pressurized topping.

PUMPKIN CHIFFON PIE

1 envelope unflavored gelatine
¾ cup sugar, divided
1 teaspoon cinnamon
½ teaspoon each salt, nutmeg and ginger
⅛ teaspoon cloves
⅔ cup evaporated milk
3 eggs, separated
1¼ cups canned pumpkin
1 9-inch baked pastry pie shell

Mix together gelatine, ½ cup of the sugar, salt and spices in medium saucepan. Stir in evaporated milk and egg yolks; blend well. Place over low heat and cook, stirring constantly, until gelatine dissolves and mixture thickens slightly (about 3 minutes). Remove from heat; stir in pumpkin Chill, stirring occasionally, until mixture mounds when dropped from a spoon (about 1 hour). Beat egg whites until stiff, but not dry. Gradually add remaining ¼ cup of sugar and beat until very stiff. Fold in pumpkin mixture. Turn into pie shell; chill until firm. (2 hours or overnight)
YIELD: One 9-inch. pie.

Sumptuous Thanksgiving Feast Insured With Nutritious Menu

A butter baked turkey with all the trimmings is truly a sumptuous Thanksgiving feast. Flavorsome butter adds its own goodness to the fowl, but it also prevents the meaty juices from drying out.

For a decorative and tasty touch, just before serving your golden browned bird, place a large pat of butter on the breast. As the butter melts, it will leave a lustrous glaze down the sides.

You'll want a zesty stuffing for your turkey and Nippy Sour Cream Stuffing fits the bill. Prepared bread stuffing is given your personal touch with tangy dairy sour cream and robust Parmesan cheese.

We find dairy eggnog such a versatile dairy food to use. It's particularly wonderful in dishes calling for a blend of whole sweet milk and eggs. Velvety smooth and creamy, seasoned with just a modicum of spices, you'll find it the perfect ingredient for this delicate chiffon pie that's based on a crust of buttery vanilla wafers.

BUTTER BAKED TURKEY

Shallow roasting pan and rack
1 10-12 lb. turkey

Soften ½ cup (1 stick) butter, spread over entire turkey covering breast, drumsticks and wings well. Melt remaining butter for basting. Roast, brushing occasionally with melted butter and drippings. Roast 6 to 8-pound bird 3½-4 hours, 8 to 12-pound bird 4-4½ hours and 12 to 16-pound bird 4½-5½ hours. Fish And Vegetables Keep Calories Low

Women with trim figures often use neat kitchen tricks to keep calories low and yet produce delicious food.

One piece of strategy folks usually approve, whether or not they are weight watchers: baked fish stuffed with a savory low-calorie vegetable concoction.

Perhaps this combination tastes so good because it was not evolved for dieters. European cooks have used this method for ages. Recently our Italian-American fish dealer, who knows good food and enjoys giving a little culinary advice, reminded us of it.

He advised us to wilt the vegetables in a little butter before using them to stuff the fish. We have experimented and find that if you like vegetables crisp and want to use very little butter, you may omit this first cooking. However, we have to admit that the classic method of cooking the vegetables first, as directed in the following recipe, produces an extra-delicious stuffing and a small amount of delectable pan sauce.

When it comes to dessert, cooks with low calories on their minds often add a surprise to a simple fruit offering. We like to mix slivers of preserved or candied ginger with orange sections or pineapple chunks. Makes you think you are eating something exotic, especially if the fruit and ginger are served in Oriental-type rice bowls.

VEGETABLE-STUFFED FISH

4½ or 5 pound whole fish
¼ cup butter
1 clove garlic
½ cup diced onion
¼ cup diced celery
½ cup diced green pepper
2 medium or large tomatoes (peeled or chopped)
¼ cup minced parsley
1 teaspoon salt
Pepper to taste

Have fish scaled, fins trimmed, split, cleaned and backbone removed; tail and head should be left on during baking; if desired head may be cut off just before serving. Wipe fish with damp cloth and place in buttered baking pan (about 12 by 8 by 3 inches). Halve and slightly crush garlic; simmer in butter in 8-inch skillet about 5 minutes; discard garlic. Add onion, celery and green pepper to butter in skillet; cook over moderate heat, stirring several times, until wilted — about 5 minutes. Add tomatoes (including any juice), parsley, salt and pepper; stir and heat about 1 minute. Fill fish with most of stuffing; put remainder (including liquid in skillet) over and around fish. Bake in hot (425 degrees) oven until fish flakes easily when tested with a fork—about 45 to 50 minutes. Serve with pan sauce over each portion. Makes 4 to 6 servings.

Picnic Salad

Combine drained canned garbanzo beans, instant minced onion, chopped pimiento, green pepper and Italian salad dressing and chill for several hours. Serve over slices of tomato, avocado and cucumber for a hearty picnic salad.

Frankfurter Supper

Cut 6 frankfurters into ½-inch pieces. Brown frankfurters, 2 tablspoons chopped onion and ¼ cup chopped green pepper in 1 tablespoon lard or drippings. Pour off drippings, add 1 can (16 ounces) cream-style corn and heat through. 3 to 4 servings.

Easy Meal Features Liver, Rice

Bright days find the youngsters outdoors working up keen appetites just at the time when Mother, indoors, is deep in housecleaning with less than usual time for cooking. Sand lot and sand box stars need fuel for energy, and Mom needs something quick and easy to "fill 'em up."

It is a casserole of liver, rice and vegetables, almost a meal in itself. It is very nutritious for liver is a fine source of iron, which helps build good, red blood.

This hearty dish need not take long to prepare. The rice is cooked ahead of time. The vegetables—green pepper, celery and onion—can be cut up quickly and the cooking started as the liver is lightly browned in lard or drippings. Then all ingredients, including a can of tomatoes, go into a casserole which is popped into the oven for 20 to 30 minutes.

LIVER AND RICE CASSEROLE

1 pound sliced beef or pork liver, cut in 1-inch squares
¼ cup chopped green pepper
½ cup chopped celery
1 medium onion, diced
2 tablespoons lard or drippings
1 can (8 ounces) tomato sauce
1 can (16 ounces) tomatoes
1½ teaspoons salt
½ teaspoon pepper
⅛ teaspoon thyme
½ cup grated sharp cheddar cheese

Cook liver, green pepper, celery and onion in lard or drippings until liver is very lightly browned and vegetables are tender. Pour off drippings. Educator Says The Youngsters Reading More Than Before

By GAY PAULEY

NEW YORK (UPI)—Some educators charge that Johnnie can't read. Others reply that Johnnie can read, his reading diet is more varied than ever before, and he is better informed than his counterpart of a few years back.

Among this latter group you'll have to count Mrs. Martha Shapp, a woman who has spent 25 years in child education and has written several books for children.

"The youngsters are reading more than ever before," said Mrs. Shapp, in an interview. "But I'm not sure they're reading all the same things we did."

Mrs. Shapp, a blonde, brown-eyed mother of two teenagers, said that many of today's parents and teachers fret that the children aren't absorbing the classics they grew up on.

"I don't think this is what matters so much," said Mrs. Shapp. "I do think the thing that counts is having the books available for the children and letting them choose what they want.

"After all, times keep changing. I for one never had a horror of children reading the comics or what's on the label of the ketchup bottle."

Mrs. Shapp, who is editor of the children's encyclopedia, "The Book of Knowledge," made her observations on the eve of the annual National Children's Book Week, Nov. 13-19.

"We know from research," she said, "that children have a much better background today than they did 25 years ago. The Book of Knowledge still answers a child's question on why a fly can walk on the ceiling. But today, the encyclopedia has to have a whole section devoted to aviation and another to the atom.

"I could read a whole article on the principles of nuclear fission and still not know what it's all about," she smiled. "Today's child reading the same thing is completely aware . . . he's grown up in the atom age."

"He is more exposed to knowledge than ever before . . . in the newspapers, on radio or television, in the movies. No wonder the kids are sharper."

To parents worried about the children's hours in front of a television set, she would say, don't worry. Television is one of the media which broadens their knowledge. But make sure there are plenty of books in reach so that a child has "a chance to learn the pure joy of reading."

AAUW Sections Meet Tomorrow

Members of the Decorative Arts section and both Gourmet sections, American Association of University Women, Marin Branch, will combine forces at 8 p.m. tomorrow when they meet for a special pre-holiday program at the Arthur Murray Dance Studio, 2130 Fourth Street, San Rafael.

"Holiday Table Settings and Decorations" will be the topic to be discussed by Mrs. Robert Tuckey, member of the Marin Art and Garden Center Decorations Guild and the Marin Society of Artists.

Those on the planning committee for the meeting include the Mesdames William Weeks, William D. Epstein, Harold Gerdes, V. H. Wheeler, Krieg Vezie, Lewis Perry, and Milton Clark.

Tam Valley WSCS Will Hold Luncheon

The Woman's Society of the Tamalpais Valley Community Church will sponsor a luncheon on Nov. 15 between 12 and 1 p.m., followed by a silent auction.

Michael Smith Weds In Sacramento Rites

Married recently at the Wedding Chapel in Sacramento were Michael Bruce Smith and Glenda Loye Compton. For the ceremony the bride, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Loy C. Compton of Orangevale, Calif., wore a full length gown of white Chantilly lace and tulle. The fitted bodice was designed with a sweetheart neckline trimmed with pearls and sequins. The sleeves were long and tapered over the wrists. The bouffant skirt had a lace apron effect and tiers of lace and tulle were alternated on the bottom and back of the skirt. A coronet of lace, pearls and sequins held the fingertip veil. Stephanotis and white orchids were in the bridal bouquet.

Bonnie Stark of Fair Oaks, Calif., maid of honor, wore a romance blue taffeta sheath gown with fitted bodice. Sabrina neckline and a three-quarter length peplum. White carnations backed with white velvet leaves were in her crescent shaped bouquet.

The bridesmaids, Carla Jean Compton, sister of the bride, and Marcia Vander Powert, who lives in Citrus Heights, were gowned like the maid of honor. The three year old flower girl, Karen Knudsen of Orangevale, wore a full skirted frock of romance blue. She carried a bouquet which was a miniature of the maid of honor's. The ring bearer, Rickey Miranda of Fair Oaks, is a cousin of the bride.

Best man for the bridegroom, who is the son of Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Smith of San Rafael, long time residents of Marin, was Ralph Cechettini of San Rafael and ushers were Michael Cohen and Robert Goddini of San Anselmo.

For the wedding the bride's mother wore a lilac peau de soie gown with purple accessories. Her flowers were pale lilac tinted stephanotis. The bridegroom's mother wore a rose beige satin brocade sheath with otter colored accessories. Green cymbidium were her flowers.

After a honeymoon in Southern California, the newlyweds will reside in San Rafael where the bridegroom is associated in business with the L. C. Smith's Building Supplies, Inc. He has one sister, Mrs. H. J. Dauphinee of Los Ranchitos, and is the grandson of the late Mr. and Mrs. Alfred C. Smith of San Francisco and the late Mr. and Mrs. Ludwig Trager of Redwood City.

The bride is the granddaughter of Mrs. Wilma Compton of Sacramento and the late Robert E. Compton, and of Roy C. Fletcher of Pollock Pines, Calif. and the late Mrs. Fletcher.

Local Author Speaker At Radcliffe Meet

The first fall meeting of the Radcliffe Club of San Francisco was held at the home of the new president, Mrs. Esther C. Whitman of Belvedere, on Saturday. Co-hostesses for the luncheon event were Mrs. Joseph Marshall and Mrs. Robert Sheeks.

Program director, Mrs. Ira Markwett, who recently moved to Belvedere from San Francisco, introduced the guest speaker, Mrs. Sandol Stoddard Warburg, author of "The Thinking Book." Mrs. Warburg autographed copies of her book for club members Mrs. Cayford Burrell of Beach Road, Mrs. John Bolles and Miss Eleanor Kent of San Francisco, and others from the East Bay, the Peninsula and San Jose.

In the question and answer period following Mrs. Warburg's talk, she expressed her underlying theme and philosophy as "the truth of imagination." It is her feeling that there are too many factual books written for children today that aim to teach rather than encourage the child "to thinks, enjoy and imagine." Mrs. Warburg hopes that her works capture the original essence of a child's thoughts expressed in his own inventive vocabulary. She writes with the adult in mind, as well, hoping they will enjoy reading and re-reading her story.

Dominican Student Will Serve On S-CTA Committee

Patricia Slayton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wendell D. Slayton of San Rafael, and a senior at Dominican College, has received an appointment from the State Executive Board of the Student California Teachers Association to serve as head of the Teacher Education and Professional Standards State Committee for the year 1960-61.

"Her appointment to this state leadership position was made as a result of her outstanding work on the S-CTA's credentials committee, through which she was responsible for the S-CTA's recent recommendations on the reform of the California credentialing system and licensure of teachers in California," said Robert S. Hurst, state president of S-CTA.

Patricia will officially assume her newly-appointed position early next month when she flies to Los Angeles for the State Executive Council meeting and convention at which 60 universities and colleges will be represented.

Panel Program Set Tomorrow By Cook P-TA

"What do teachers expect of us?" is a question which often arises in a group of parents and is the provocative title of a panel discussion to be presented at tomorrow's meeting of the Cook P-TA.

The 8 o'clock meeting in the multi-purpose room will feature a panel composed of two teachers and two parents. Mrs. Wesley Martin and David Raffo, who will be moderator, will represent the teacher's views and the parents' side of the problem will be discussed by Mrs. H. F. Girvin and Dr. S. Singh.

A question and answer period will follow the panel. This promises to be a most interesting meeting and all parents are urged to attend.

Azarians Style Show Set Sunday

"Togs for Teens" is the theme for the third show of fashions for high school boys and girls to be presented by The Azarians, St. Raphael's parish high school club. So successful has this activity been the past two years that it now appears destined to be an annual event of The Azarians.

This year's program will be presented Sunday evening, Nov. 13, beginnig at 7 o'clock in the auditorium of St. Raphael's School. Twenty-four boys and girls, all members of The Azarians, will model teen-age fashions from San Rafael stores, the ensembles being described to the audience by club members Sue Denman and Ernie Carlson.

While "Togs for Teens" is a show of high school fashions, committee members for the program make it clear that admission is open to all, regardless of age. They add, however, that a special invitation is extended to all high school students to remain after the fashion show for dancing until 10:30 p.m.

Arrangements have been made for tickets to be available through any member of The Azarians as well as at the door Sunday evening.

Joint Meeting Of Jr. Theater Groups Held

Attending the coffee meeting were the Mesdames Walter Haas, president, James Maillard, A. E. Peterson, Harold Brown, Charles Lebo, B. B. Vincent Lyon, and William Stephens, Jr., from San Francisco.

Marin County Junior Theater members present were Mrs. Heynemann, president, Mrs. Charles D. McPherson, program chairman, and Mrs. Wallace Painter.

The San Francisco group also outlined procedures of operation that were of interest to the newer Marin County organization.

Marin County Junior Theater's first presentation will be "Cinderella," scheduled for Jan. 7 at San Rafael High School, and produced by Martha Bigelow Eliot.

Women Who Dye Don't Ask Hubby For Permission

CHICAGO (UPI) — Gentlemen may prefer blondes, but this axiom has nothing to do with why women tint hair, says one expert.

Thelma Henderson, who teaches hair-coloring techniques (for Clairol) finds that most women tint to be in style. "Or else they're talked into it by other women," she said. "Once a woman decides to change her hair color, she generally does it, whether her husband likes the results or not."

Husbands who don't approve beforehand usually get used to the new color in time, Miss Henderson said. "So it really isn't too important to get their approval."

Miss Henderson estimated that three of 10 women now use some kind of permanent hair-coloring. Another two of 10 use rinses and "as far as the other 50 per cent are concerned, it's only a matter of time," she said.

Boston 'U' Dean Of Women Gives Opening Jubilee Address

NEW YORK CITY, CONVENTION HOTEL—More than 2600 adults and 600 Horizon Club Girls — representatives from the 10 Camp Fire Regions in the United States—were welcomed by Elsbeth Elwell, Dean of Women of Boston University, at the opening session of the Golden Jubilee Convention here in New York.

As she received the first issue of the Camp Fire Commemorative stamp from Franklin R. Participating as guest speaker, Miss Martha Allen, national director of Camp Fire Girls, spoke on "Imperishable Values." Our objectives, she said, are to provide meaningful experiences to the growth and development of the individual girl and her community, experiences which make possible the encouragement and strengthening of those qualities and characteristics to the building of an enriched life as a person living and working with others, fulfilling her role as a woman, citizen with a sense of dedication and high purposes."

Ten Girl Scout Troops Have Campout At Sky Oaks

At the request of many fifth grade Girl Scout troop leaders, the Troop Camp Committee of the Marin Girl Scout Council originated a plan whereby two weekends were reserved for fifth grade troops at Girl Scout Camp Sky Oaks in Fairfax. Weekend plans were made by each troop with the Troop Camp Committee assisting leaders when needed. Mrs. Robert E. Jones, San Anselmo, are Mrs. James Raby, Santa Venetia, acted as coordinators for the weekends.

This was the first overnight troop camping experience for most of the girls and leaders, and both weekends proved a happy experience for the 10 participating troops. The girls laid trails, learned tree and bird identification, had a compass hike, cooked their own meals, and slept under the stars.

The troops also had the advantage of having Senior Scouts Kathy Yates of Larkspur, Susan Klarkowski of Santa Venetia, Beth Jones, Nicky Marculescu and Lynda Touatt, Fairfax; Nancy Sparks, Maribeth Shouinard, Caroline Schendel, all of San Anselmo, assisting in their weekend programs.

Taking advantage of the weekends were: Troop 17 with Mesdames Alden Stock, Barbara Casey, Leon Bennett and Thomas Carson of Kentfield; Troop 158 with Mrs. Karl Treffinger and Mrs. Albert Haas of Sausalito; Troop 93 with Mr. and Mrs. Walter Johnson of Mill Valley; Troop 28 with Mrs. George Anastasi and Mrs. Lawrence Giorgi of Fairfax; Troop 212 with Mesdames Robert Morse, Leonder Heibel, Henry Wallendorf and Roland Vetter of Novato; Troop 253 with Mesdames Robert Burns, Kenneth Brown, Wesley Page and James Raby of Santa Venetia; Troop 270 with Mesdames Marshall Perham, Donald Ham, and Charles Friend of Terra Linda; Troop 154 with Mrs. Ralph Heggelund and Mrs. David O'Neil of Corte Madera; Troop 26 with Mrs. Carl Lischeske and Mrs. Frank Helmer of Strawberry; and Troop 31 with Mesdames Roy Deitter, Kenneth Norberg, John Moore and James Contos of Belvedere-Tiburon.

Baptist Theological Seminary Rents Whole Apartment House

Faced with the problem of assuring additional housing facilities for some new 182 students a year, the Golden Gate Baptist Theological Seminary on Strawberry Point has leased an entire apartment house outright.

Premises contracted for are the 42-unit Merrydale Apartments on Merrydale Road, San Rafael on a three-year lease with an additional three-year renewal option. Present tenants will not be evicted but as vacancies occur they will be held as accommodations for students and their families.

The Merrydale Apartments are owned by San Rafael Associates, Inc. The transaction was handled through the office of San Rafael real estate broker John Zunich.

OUT TO MAKE HIS MARK. Young man on the rise in Marin is Jan Mark, 49 Valencia Street, San Rafael, who has been made manager of Walter Blair's chain, Laundromatic Co. of Larkspur.

Mark is only three years removed from Sweden whence he started in business as a grocery clerk, became a "dackbefalselev" on the Johnson Steamship Lines, then served a spell in clerical work in Corte Madera.

His management of the Laundromatic Co. takes in the firm's eight establishments in Marin: San Rafael Launderette, the Washomat and Bret Harte Washette and Dry Cleaners in San Rafael; Self Service Laundry and Hurricane Gulch Laundromat in Sausalito, and the San Anselmo, Fairfax and Larkspur Launderettes.

MOTORCRAFT. Although 14-inch tires have been in use for the past four years, the 6.70-15 size is still the biggest retail seller, says B. F. Goodrich Co. It accounted for 35 per cent of all replacements last year. The 14-inch tire will eventually lead the field . . . Oldsmobile reports a 24 per cent increase in sales during the second 10 days of October over the same period a year ago . . . DON'T LOOK for any radical change in the course of the stock market as a result of the election, says Investors Research Co.

Elections can have a vital influence over a period of time but the immediate impact is rarely great, it declares. A president can shape the course of the nation but he must do it slowly.

The reporting service adds that the stock market is just beginning to recover from a sharply oversold position. The main trend may remain level or down, but recovery efforts should proceed into December.

County Might Get Schools Science Fair

Tamalpais Union High School District will discontinue sponsorship of the annual Marin County science fair — if the county schools office will assume responsibility for a county wide fair.

District trustees made that decision Monday night after noting that the Tamalpais event had become so big it was considered the official Marin elimination event for the Bay Area Science Fair.

Supt. Chester G. Carlisle said county school officials were receptive to the idea of sponsoring the fair. He indicated Tamalpais facilities would be available for use by the county.

Trustees awarded two contracts for work that will make possible the final paving of Lucky Drive at Redwood high. Duncanson-Harrelson Co. of Oakland, which submitted a low bid of $8,572, was awarded the contract for structural piling to support the Redwood high sewer line. A contract for the drainage culvert and tide gate at the lucky drive crossing of the Redwood Property was awarded to McClure Construction Co. of Oakland, on a low bid of $5,216.

Albert Seimer was appointed inspector for both jobs. Work will begin immediately, and take about a month to complete.

The board also authorized the architectural firm of Gromme and Priestley to prepare working drawings to extend Doherty Drive to the Redwood parking lot. When the street is completed, it will extend from Henry C. Hall school to Redwood. The city of Larkspur and the district are sharing the cost.

Robert Rogers of Sausalito commended Redwood students for their conduct and spirit at football games. Board members agreed that all principals, vice principals and coaches should be complimented, too.

The board adjourned to 8 p.m. today. Items to be discussed then include the bond election and improvement of the Miller avenue intersection in front of Tamalpais high.

Corte Madera Council Relaxes On Size Of Signs

Corte Madera relaxed a bit Monday night on its stringent law controlling the size of signs.

An amendment to the sign ordinance, passed unanimously, applies only to signs in highway commercial zones, however, affecting only the area occupied by the Edgewater Inn and an uninproved area in Fifer Industrial Park.

The new law increases the maximum size of allowable signs in those zones from 200 to 300 square feet. It also allows elevations of buildings not facing streets to be figured in sign area permits but reduces the allowable sign size for "tiny" buildings—those with less than 20 feet of frontage. Prior to the amendment, such business were allowed 50 square feet of sign area. They are now allowed only one square foot for each foot of frontage.

All-Star Honors Go To Two In Marin 4-H

Sue Fitzharris of San Rafael and Loren Youngclaus of Fairfax walked away with 1960 all-star honors at the annual 4-H achievement awards Saturday night in Novato.

Also honored were Mr. and Mrs. Warren Kingsley of Novato who were selected as 4-H leaders who have given outstanding service. A perpetual trophy in the form of a silver tray was awarded the Kingsleys which they will hold for one year.

Miss Fitzharris, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Fitzharris, 1235 Grand Avenue, San Rafael is a senior at the University of California at Davis majoring in home economics. She has been a 4-H Club member for 10 years and has had projects in clothing, food preparation, food preservation, home furnishing and junior leader.

Youngclaus, son of Mr. and Mrs Bryan Youngclaus, 10 Court Lane, Fairfax, is a student at Fresno State College majoring in agriculture. He has been a member of the Ross Valley 4-H Club for nine years and has carried projects in home grounds beautification, rabbits, poultry, sheep and junior leader. He was a national winner in Citizenship in the National 4-H Club Awards Program in 1959.

More than 150 awards were made during the evening to leaders in various fields of 4-H activity.

Education Board To Meet Twice Monthly

Marin County Board of Education has decided to start next January holding two meetings per month instead of one.

On suggestion of member Theodore V. Cole, the board voted 6 to 0 Monday night, with Harry Press absent, to schedule two meetings each month, on the first and third Mondays. The second meeting will be subject to cancellation by the president on a week's notice if not enough business is on the agenda.

Cole said he hopes that by holding two meetings, the sessions will not last so long.

Cost to the taxpayers will be just about double. Members of the board get $10 plus mileage for each meeting. Members of the staff, usually at least five in number, who attend the meetings do not get overtime for being present, except for the recording secretary. An attempt is made, however, to give them compensatory time off.

In other actions, the board of education:

1. Set its next meeting for Dec. 12 at 8 p.m. instead of Dec. 5, because of a scheduling conflict.
2. Had as guests members of the county office's nursing and special education staff.
3. Gave approval to drawing plans for ultimate expansion of the Marinwood School for handicapped children to five classrooms to accommodate 30 to 50 children depending on the type of classes retained there.
4. Received a report from John J. Gallas, chairman of the Marin County Library Advisory Committee, on its first year's activities. The committee has reviewed 316 books, accepted 228 for use as supplemental textbooks in county schools, and rejected 88 others. The board voted a resolution of appreciation for activities of the committee.
5. Set Friday, Dec. 23, as a legal holiday for county school office employees.

Policeman Forming New Corporation

Inspector Nick P. Giampoli of San Rafael Police Department is forming a corporation in San Rafael to give information, telephone answering, investigation and other services to merchants and citizens of Marin.

The firm, called Specialized Services Inc., has filed articles of incorporation with Secretary of State Frank M. Jordan in Sacramento. Listed as directors are Giampoli and his wife, Kathryn, of 92 Louise Street, San Rafael, and attorney P. Roy Vallarino of San Rafael.

Giampoli said officers of the corporation have not been selected as yet. Vallarino is the legal adviser.

Giampoli will continue to work as inspector for the police department. He said his connection with the new firm will be only as one of the directors, and the actual work will be done by other employees of the firm. The personal services firm will be located at 1850 Fourth Street.

County School Heads Harm Their Plan—Or Did They?

At their recent convention in' Sacramento, the Association of California County School Superintendents did serious damage to their efforts to make the job of county superintendent appointive.

We, for example, have been leaning toward the idea. But the actions of the association made us wonder more than a little bit.

In an amazing resolution, they struck out at everyone and everything that apparently has been bothering them. They called for less "childish, irresponsible, unscientific, prejudiced and inaccurate criticism of public education."

They urged "responsible, constructive and accurate criticism" but only "within the framework of the accepted purposes of public education." Accepted by them, obviously.

They resolved that the association "take all positive steps within its means to combat the tendency of all too many of our news media to emphasize only the negative aspects of our educational programs while astutely ignoring the many positive aspects to be found in every community."

This same resolution called for their jobs to be appointive, all but four in the state are now elective. It also urged that they receive "a salary commensurate with the educational leadership and administrative responsibilities inherent in the position with only minimum salary limits set by law.

Isn't this the same organization which just three years ago pushed through the legislature a law which tied the county superintendent's salary to the average daily attendance in his district? And didn't that new law actually cause a reduction in the Marin County superintendent's salary? It sure did.

The resolution still wasn't complete. It called for county boards of education to be "fiscally independent" as school districts are. We assume they mean by that, that a county board should have the right to set its own tax rate, float bonds, etc.

In our time we've seen some all-encompassing resolutions. But for jamming so many specifics into one package that the convention had to swallow, this about takes the cake.

It must have been difficult for the Marin superintendent, Virgil Hollis, to take a position. He opposes appointment of county superintendents, but we're sure he'd like a raise as much as anyone would. We hope he doesn't feel the I-J is "astutely ignoring the many positive aspects" of education in Marin.

On second thought, that "childish, irresponsible, unscientific and prejudiced" resolution might make us back appointive superintendents. If the present elective method puts in educators who will vote a resolution like that, maybe we better make the jobs appointive, throw out those who are in, and appoint some new and better superintendents, responsive to the public instead of insulting.

LINCOLN GAVE A WARNING

The government "is your business" was the point hammered home by President-elect Abraham Lincoln in a speech at Indianapolis, February 11, 1861. He was enroute to Washington to take his oath of office. Here is a portion of that famous talk:

"I wish you to remember, now and forever, that it is your business, and not mine; that if the union of these States and the liberties of these people shall be lost, it is but little to any one man of fifty-two years of age, but a great deal to the thirty millions of people who inhabit these United States, and to their posterity in all coming time.

"It is your business to rise up and preserve the Union and liberty for yourselves, and not for me. I appeal to you again to constantly bear in mind that not with politicians, not with Presidents, not with office-seekers, but with you, is the question: Shall the Union and shall the liberties of this country be preserved to the latest generations?"

God expects you to make government "your business."

"You have been called to liberty, brethren; only do not make liberty an occasion for sensuality." (Galatians 5:13)

Keep me mindful of the responsibilities that accompany the blessings of freedom, O Lord.

This Is Day Losing Candidates Should Put Cotton In Their Ears

"Well, at least your mother stayed in your corner all the way."

"We just found 50,000 of your campaign leaflets that somebody forgot to distribute. Would you like them for souvenirs?"

"Naturally the party is proud of the constructive fight you waged, and of course we'd like your advice on whom to run the next time, but—"

"Of course, you could always try again. But if you ask my opinion, I'd suggest you find yourself a less expensive hobby."

"Our preliminary check shows that the only precincts you carried were those in which you never made a speech."

"The telephone company just called up and asked when you are going to take your picture off its poles."

"Let's put it this way: The voters know what you were talking about — but you didn't."

"The smartest thing you did was to send the winner a congratulatory telegram collect."

"The caterer called to say that if you still want that caviar for the victory dinner you can now have it at half price."

"Is it true that you plan to open a law office—that is, if you can find a partner?"

"The party chairman sent in a final name. He wants to know where to address your mail in the event someone wants to get in touch with you."

"Is it okay if I borrow a couple of boxes of this unused confetti? I can take them home for my kid's next birthday party."

"As I see it, the election boiled down simply to this: You wound up with the principles — and your opponent wound up with the votes."

"Your ghost writers have all gone back to their regular jobs. So I guess you'll have to sit down and draft the letter of appreciation to the faithful party workers."

"Gee, dad, you still have my vote. I thought you did real swell."

"Now about those unpaid campaign bills—"

WHAT OUR READERS SAY

College Proud Of Football Team

EDITOR,
Independent-Journal:

I read your interesting and informative articles in the Nov. 4 edition of the I-J concerning the future of football at the College of Marin.

First of all, as vice president of the student body and sports editor of the College of Marin newspaper, I was appalled by the statement of a school trustee that, "the students (at Marin) are ashamed of their football team." There are on every college campus a few budding pseudo-intellectuals who, under any circumstances take advantage of opportunities to criticize the athletic program, just as a matter of principal.

Working on the campus newspaper, in student government, and as president of the Inter-Club Council, I come in contact with a real cross-section of our student body.

The students of College of Marin are proud of their football team. We have lost every game this season, and, yet, after our last game we carried Coach Harry Pieper off the field! Why? Because we had only 17 men on our ball club, many of whom have little or no previous football experience, and they still played a tremendous game, and we ARE proud of them.

For a time earlier in the season, some students were critical of the football team. Soon, however, they realized why we weren't winning every game. They realized that the Tars were playing against teams that had three times as many men on them, teams that were composed of men who had played a great deal of football, and still our boys were never letting up.

The Yuba game is an illustration of the real Marin spirit. The Tars, who were behind 28-0, with only eight minutes left in the contest, came back with such an effort as to punch over two touchdowns and nearly a third, and keep the fans on their feet for most of the second half.

Then we played Napa College in our traditional homecoming game. Powerful Napa, who sported a huge 46-man squad with a good record, was outplayed and outfought, as we were edged 14-12 in one of the most exciting contests I have ever witnessed. Not only were College of Marin's rooters proud of our team, but as I walked off the field several students shouted, "What college has the spirit in Northern California?" And in reply they yelled, "Marin!" And, an adult Napa rooter standing nearby chimed in, "That's for sure!"

Discontinue football at College of Marin? Why? Because our rooters are on their feet cheering the team for their great fighting spirit — even though it's our 13th straight loss—and then run out and carry Coach Pieper off the field?

Yes, we want a football team at College of Marin, and, what's more, we ARE proud of the one we have!

The Fable Of The Red Squirrel

Independent-Journal:

I suggest this fable should be dedicated to the gentleman named Kephart who had much to say on your editorial page concerning nature, inhuman court orders, and housing equality.

Once there was a little red squirrel who was born in a nest in a tree in a forest. When he was old enough to fend for himself his mother failed one day to return, and the little red squirrel left the nest to find his way in the world. He was a happy and loyal little god-fearing squirrel, and he set out to discover a pleasant new home.

Shortly he came upon a lovely glen where there was water, plenty of nuts, and an unoccupied hollow log. Just as he began to build a bed, five large and angry squirrels descended upon him from nearby trees and demanded that he find another place to live. They told him they had decided before he was born that they would not share their nut supply with any newcomers; so the little red squirrel moved on.

He walked and walked to another part of the forest, and being a smart little fellow he gathered all the nuts he could carry along the way. When he found another pleasant spot he felt very good, because this time he had all the food any squirrel could want. But once again a group of squirrels appeared. They told him he could not live there because they had all agreed to reserve that part of the woods, and it didn't matter how many nuts he had. They were much more courteous than the first squirrels had been because they were good God-fearing squirrels. They told him so. And they also said there was nothing personal in their actions. But the little red squirrel had to move on.

The third place he found also had squirrels nearby who told the tired little squirrel he could not stay. He could not understand. In this spot there was an abundance of room. But the others just laughed and pointed at him and asked if he could not see that they were all gray and he was not.

So the little red squirrel moved on again. And the farther he went, the more he wondered:

What is it in the Laws of Nature or in the Justice of God that makes it right to deny one little red squirrel the chance to prove that he would be a good neighbor?

I-J REPORTER'S NOTEBOOK

By RANDALL GOULD

Maybe GL 3-0185 Has Special Class For Potential Dog Owners

Dear GL 3-0185:

Thank you for that interesting sheet headed "Important Information For Dog Owners" delivered to my home in Mill Valley and signed Marin County Court House, San Rafael.

You ask me to phone, but you raise such complicated matters that I feel I should write instead.

Probably you will see this somehow because everybody reads the I-J. I meant to deliver by hand at the court house when I went over to report the Marin County Board of Supervisors, but a hitch developed.

WHEN I TRIED to check your phone number on the county list, I just couldn't locate it. So I called you and find you are at 402 Third Street, San Rafael, well off my beat. And it made me just a mite suspicious for if you don't give your true address, how can you be trusted with intimate information about dogs?

As a matter fo fact, I feel pretty generally confused.

In the first place, your info sheet was specifically addressed to "Dog Owners" and as it happens, I am not a dog owner just now. I don't own a cat either which is also regrettable. Do you care much, or any?

The sheet says "If you DO NOT own a dog, kindly phone GL 3-0185."

What kind of thing is this? Here I am being addressed as what I am not, being asked to report what I don't own, to somebody unknown, who is not even at the court house as he claims to be!

NATURALLY I FEEL reluctant as well as sort of mixed up. And you may consider it just your dumb luck that I didn't wad that sheet up and throw it into my home fireplace without even reading it, since it was addressed to dog owners and, as I was saying, I don't now own any dog.

But actually I used not long ago to own a dog, a fine big black standard poodle named Lucifer. Does that have some bearing?

Of course there is the factor that Lucifer and I lived together in Colorado, not California. If you don't think I miss Lucifer, and sometimes Colorado as well, you are mighty wrong. Lucifer was about the smartest dog you ever saw and Colorado is a mighty fine state.

Lucifer was well trained before I met him. He was one of the few dogs you ever saw that wouldn't jump up on people. That was lucky because he was one of the biggest poodles that ever happened!

I suppose if he had jumped up against the average person, taken by surprise, he'd have just knocked that person down. But he never tried.

What's more, Lucifer would not scratch our front door. He would just sit there and look hopefully till somebody let him in.

KEPT US RIGHT on the alert because we loved Lucifer and didn't want to make him wait. Our house was on Lookout Mountain west of Denver, 7,600 feet altitude. Gets pretty nippy there, not meaning to joke—Lucifer never nipped anybody but he did all right on the other dogs.

Lucifer didn't beg at table. But he had a terrific appetite. I suppose you hear a lot about that from dog owners you get calls from.

Don't give my name to anybody with a spare poodle because I just shoudn't be tempted. The I-J keeps me humping and my wife has to make trips to see her mother in Berkeley and really, we couldn't right now give a good poodle the company he'd crave.

MAYBE WE'RE BEST off just cultivating the neighbors' dogs and cats that come around. Once in a while we see a deer. But no raccoons; funny.

On the whole I would like to keep up a good contact with you for after all, it is kind of you to take an interest. And I suppose I am what you might call a potential dog owner.

Maybe you have a special class for me on your records. Think it over.

Must We Limit Campaign Oratory To Curb Soviet Propaganda?

WASHINGTON — The purpose of this column is to examine how the Soviet propogandists have used the controversies of our presidential campaign to their propaganda advantage.

I do not criticize John Kennedy for expressing his views on "declining U. S. prestige." It is proper to argue about it and to do so is clearly within the American political tradition.

Thus the problem we face is whether in todays' world we can safely afford the excesses of "campaign oratory."

A U. S. PRESIDENTIAL campaigner is no longer conducted in national privacy. The whole world was listening. More than that, the Soviets were grabbing at every usable statement and beaming it to Asia, Africa, Latin America and to their own people.

Quoting from Kennedy and Adlai Stevenson, whose statements are being used as were the Republican statements about "Truman's war" in 1952, the Soviet propaganda concentrates on these main themes:

That Americans are accepting as fact "the rise of authority of the Soviet Union and the whole socialistic camp."

That the United States has "lost the peaceful initiative" which is now in the hands of the Communists.

INEVITABLY THE Soviet radio and press use a good deal of Kennedy's campaign statements to persuade the world that the wave of the future is Communistic.

Over and over again, in first one language and then another, they quote Kennedy on the "rise of Soviet influence" and invite their listeners to note this rise.

The next most quoted campaigner is Stevenson. The Communists used nearly the full text of his Denver speech of Oct. 3; and the editorial board of the Union of Soviet Journalists announced that "it shared his criticism of the present policy of the U. S. A." Of course, the Soviets never use Kennedy's statements on how he aims to make America stronger and increase its influence.

The question I raise is based on both the 1952 and the 1960 campaigns:

In the kind of survival struggle in which we are now engaged with the Communists, should the candidates accept some voluntary discipline so that our "campaign oratory" does not become a ready-made tool thrust into the hands of the Communists to be effectively turned against us.

I AM NOT PROPOSING that we pass a law about this. I am not suggesting that the party out of power should refrain from criticising.

I am simply suggesting that when another campaign comes around the candidates might give a little extra attention to the excesses of "campaign oratory." But I would favor bold criticism rather than let the Communist propagandists undercut the free give-and-take of our elections.

Mill Valleyan Heads Marin Shrine Club

Harry Underwood of 8 Terrace Avenue, Mill Valley, has been elected president of the Marin County Shrine Club, it was announced today.

Named to serve with him for 1961 were C. R. DeWitt, San Anselmo, first vice president: Marvin E. Lechner, San Rafael, second vice president; Harold G. Sellers, San Rafael, secretary-treasurer, and John J. Wollak, San Anselmo, executive officer.

Owl Doesn't Give Hoot About House

A "burglar" reported "trying windows and doors" in a San Rafael home about 4:40 a.m. yesterday turned out to be an owl flapping about helplessly, trying to get out.

Kirk Hendrick Laferte of 345 Paloma Street called police when he heard noises downstairs. Officer Charles Hickey found the owl making himself comfortable on the fireplace mantel.

Laferte and police opened windows and doors and shooed the owl, but it kept flying from room to room. Hickey got a large grocery bag, captured the owl and released it outside.

Driver Escapes Injuries As Car Blaze Starts

The car of Donald Eberhardt of San Francisco burst into flames at 11:47 p.m. Monday as Eberhardt drove off Bridgeway at Gate 3 on his way to work at Lando Products Inc. in Marinship.

Eberhardt told firemen he noticed smoke coming from the back seat when he turned in to Gate 3, then as he drove down the ramp, the car "exploded," he said. He escaped unharmed. The 1954 hardtop was gutted. Cause of fire was unknown.

THERE OUGHTA BE A LAW

ALMANAC

Today is Wednesday, Nov. 9, the 314th day of the year with 52 more in 1960.

The moon is approaching its last quarter.

The morning star is Mars.

The evening stars are Jupiter, Venus and Saturn.

On this day in history:

In 1918, Kaiser Wilhelm II of Germany announced that he had agreed to abdicate his throne.

In 1933, President Franklin Roosevelt created the civil works administration to provide jobs for more than 4 million unemployed persons.

In 1935, led by John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers, a group of labor leaders affiliated with the American Federation of Labor held a meeting to organize a committee for industrial organization within the framework of the parent organization.

In 1953, the Supreme Court ruled that big-league baseball did not come within the scope of the federal anti-trust laws.

A thought for today: German philosopher Emanuel Kant said: "Act as though thy rule of conduct could be adopted as a universal law."

TIME AND TIDE

Department of Commerce United States Coast and Geodetic Survey, Western District headquarters, Times and heights of tides at San Francisco (Golden) Gate):

110—New Imported and Sports Cars for Sale

NEW
STATION WAGON

This is the last brand new 1960 Opel that we have left. The new '61 Opel will have practically no change at all following the normal foreign car pattern of keeping the same style for five or six years.

The normal retail price on this Opel is $2441, but we'll sell it for $1995 to move it.

That's a discount of $446, which cuts the price on this wagon down to our actual cost. It's the best buy we've had in years.

Pact Is Near On Land Sale In Marin City

Commissioners of the Marin County Housing Authority have authorized agreement for sale of 167 acres of ridgeland property above Marin City to New York Developer James Scheuer at $2,600 per acre for a total price of $441,900.

Scheuer, who is also doing the development of Marin City, will use the land for private development, according to executive director Bert Klahn. He has plans to construct single family dwellings, garden apartments and high rise apartments. Work will not commence until the relocation work in Marin City is completed by Scheuer.

The contract on the ridgeland property is expected to be signed Dec. 1, Klahn said.

The commission, meeting Monday, also authorized calling bids for demolition of more than 100 remaining temporary war housing structures on the hill at Marin City.

It announced it will dispose of excess vehicles and equipment no longer needed by the authority, including several pickup trucks, dump trucks and a steam roller.

Loma Verda Seeks Site For Community Center

The center would serve the approximately 325 families in the area and the approximately 500 families expected when it is completely built up. Loma Verde is off Highway 101, east of and adjacent to the Marin Golf and Country Club.

The association has begun to price lots in Loma Verde and look into the possibilities of obtaining land from the Trousdale Construction Co., developer of the area.

The idea still is in the "planning stage," Harland Clare, president, of the group, reported today. A clubhouse, swimming pool and tennis courts tentatively are planned for the project, he said. They probably would be constructed in stages as funds were available.

There are approximately 250 families represented in the association. Construction of the center may be financed through a non-profit corporation selling memberships to the center, Clare suggested.

Audubon Speaker

Eugene Kridler, refugee biologist, will speak at the November field trip of the Marin Audubon Society to the Willows and Gridley Refuges Saturday, meeting at the College of Marin Circle at 7:30 a.m. or the Sacramento Wild Life Refuge south of Willows on Route 99W at 10 a.m.

Tiburon Church Granted Sign

Advertising is valuable even for a church, the Marin County Planning Commission has decided.

It accordingly granted two-year approval for a 50-square foot sign for Westminster United Presbyterian Church, facing Tiburon Boulevard, despite planning staff disapproval.

"That would be too large for a church though appropriate for a business activity," said Sidney Shaw for the planning staff.
